Panther Pride

goes behind the scenes

in a special look at UT

Through combining students from East Moline and surrounding cities, United Township High School has become unique from the two campuses to the quality of the students.

Even though the freshmen and sophomores were at North Campus, they had the opportunity to take courses at South Campus, with the juniors and seniors, but juniors and seniors also had to transfer to North Campus. This process was done by shuttle busses, but these busses were a very costly operation with wages, bus maintenance, and insurance.

By having students from different communities all in one school district, students from all areas of the district became involved during the tax referendum in November. The referendum was defeated by a vote of 3805 faced the possibility of being cut.

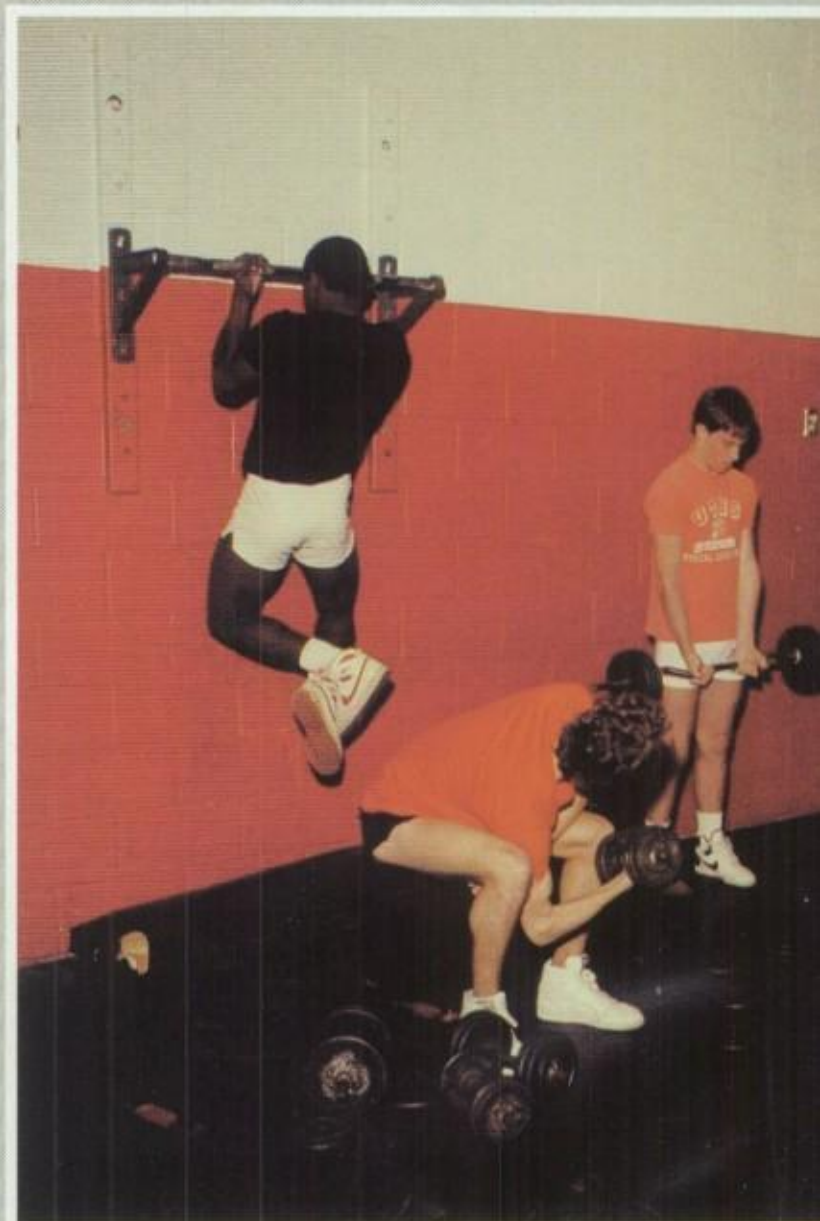

United Township had many fringe benefits for its students. There was the Area Vocational Center, which is located at UT. The students had their choice of many courses to take and they didn't have to take them at a different school or during summer school.

Students of UT had one benefit that many students at other schools may not have. It's open lunches. The students were free to leave campus and eat at the place of their choice. But this made some teachers very strict on being tardy.

United Township had pride in their Panthers. The students supported the athletes and encouraged them by cheering and gave them confidence from the games to the tournaments. Big turn-outs at games also helped to encourage the Panthers. During the days of the games, students and teachers joined together by wearing orange and black and showed as much school spirit as possible. The community also showed "Panther Pride" by attending the games and supporting the athletes.

One can hear the sounds of music coming from the band room.

After hours, Mr. Lee took time out working on papers and planning work for the following week.

The halls of UT filled with the leaders, doctors, and scientists of the future.

years service to UTHS!

Another beautiful sunrise over North Campus starts the beginning of another day.

Every day students pass by the trophy case at South Campus. The trophy case represents a peice of history.

In 1916 East Moline High School was established. The first classes were held in Lincoln School, which is now Deere Harvester Credit Union. The school started out with four pupils, but only one actually was graduated.

What is now North Campus was built around 1917 or 1918 and was added onto in the 1930's and again in the 1950's.

In 1960 what is now South Campus was opened. The class of 1961 was the first class to be graduated from this campus.

In the early 1970's, ground was bought from Carbon Cliff to build an East Campus, but the referendum to authorize building this new campus failed to pass.

The idea of school being what it is, along with the learning, students have come to expect some sort of entertainment. UT students began some of their traditions long ago. In fact, in the late 1950's the freshmen provided it with what was known as "freshmen hell week." It served as an initiation of sorts to incoming freshmen. Approximately six weeks after entering school they were, upon senior request, able to push peanuts and get into a straight line with the greatest of ease and in no amount of time at all.

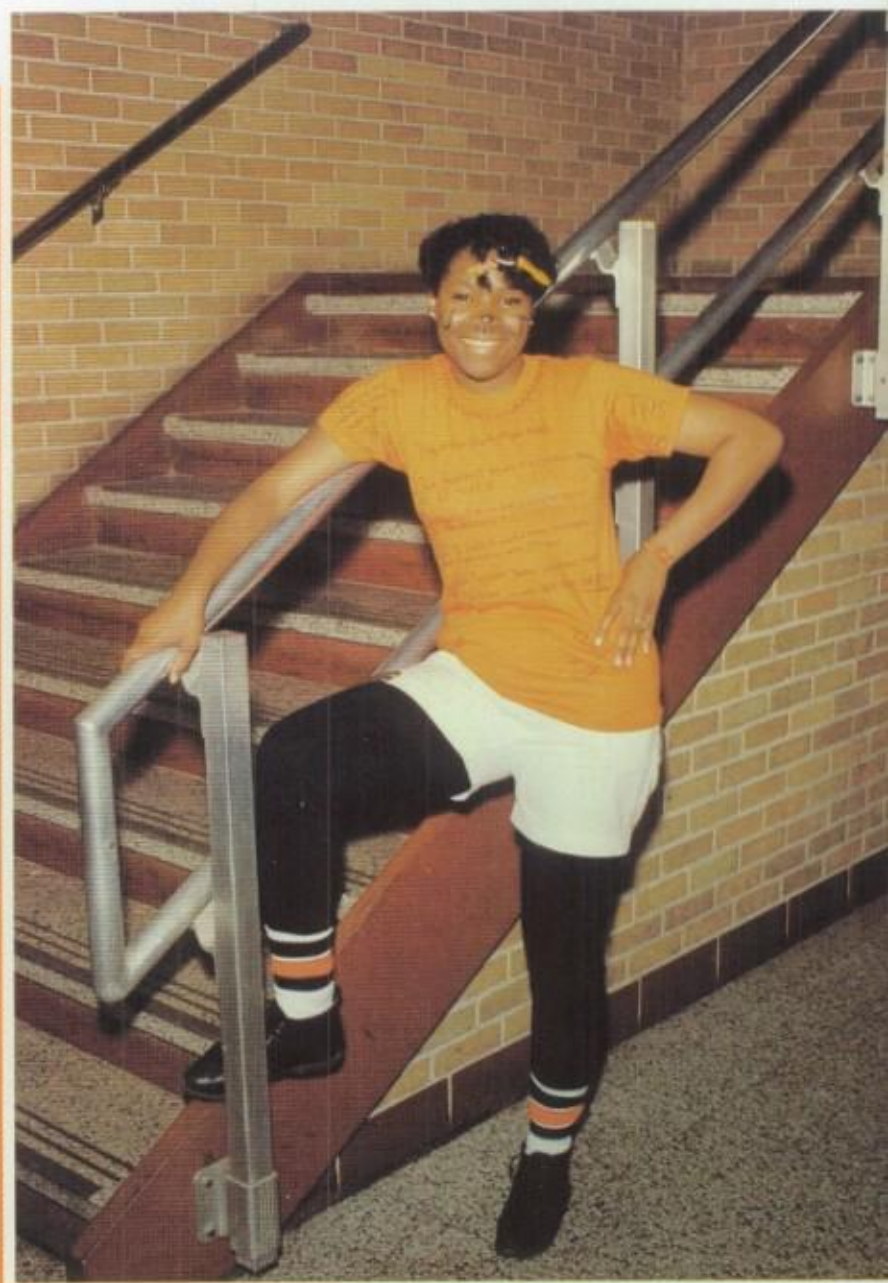

There were also after-school activities such as the Sweetheart dance, every February, the Girls Athletic Association, before school sports, dances in which the girls made the guys a boutonniere with each girl trying to outdo the other as to who could turn out the zaniest and the most absurd. The boutonnieres resulted in something similar to a salad bar with items such as carrots and cabbages.

Things were different then, in that there was self- scheduling. There were alternating lunches of a half hour long and no one could leave the building and grab a bite at McDonald's.

Though the buildings have changed, the people who have roamed the halls have remained basically the same throughout the years. And after all, the people have been and continue to be an the most important aspect of UT. That's what made up the United Township High School of today.

Shoma Lidell displays her Panther spirit by dressing in orange and black for the playoffs. Shoma also printed an original poem about the team on her shirt.

Many staff members wore orange and black to show their Panther pride. Pictured here are Mrs. Paasch, Ms. O'Connor, Mr. Dergo, Mrs. Roman, Mrs. Duffy, Mrs. Sodeman. (in back) Mrs. Peterson, Mr. Belan, Mrs. Cady, Mrs. Meyers, and Mr. Schmidt.

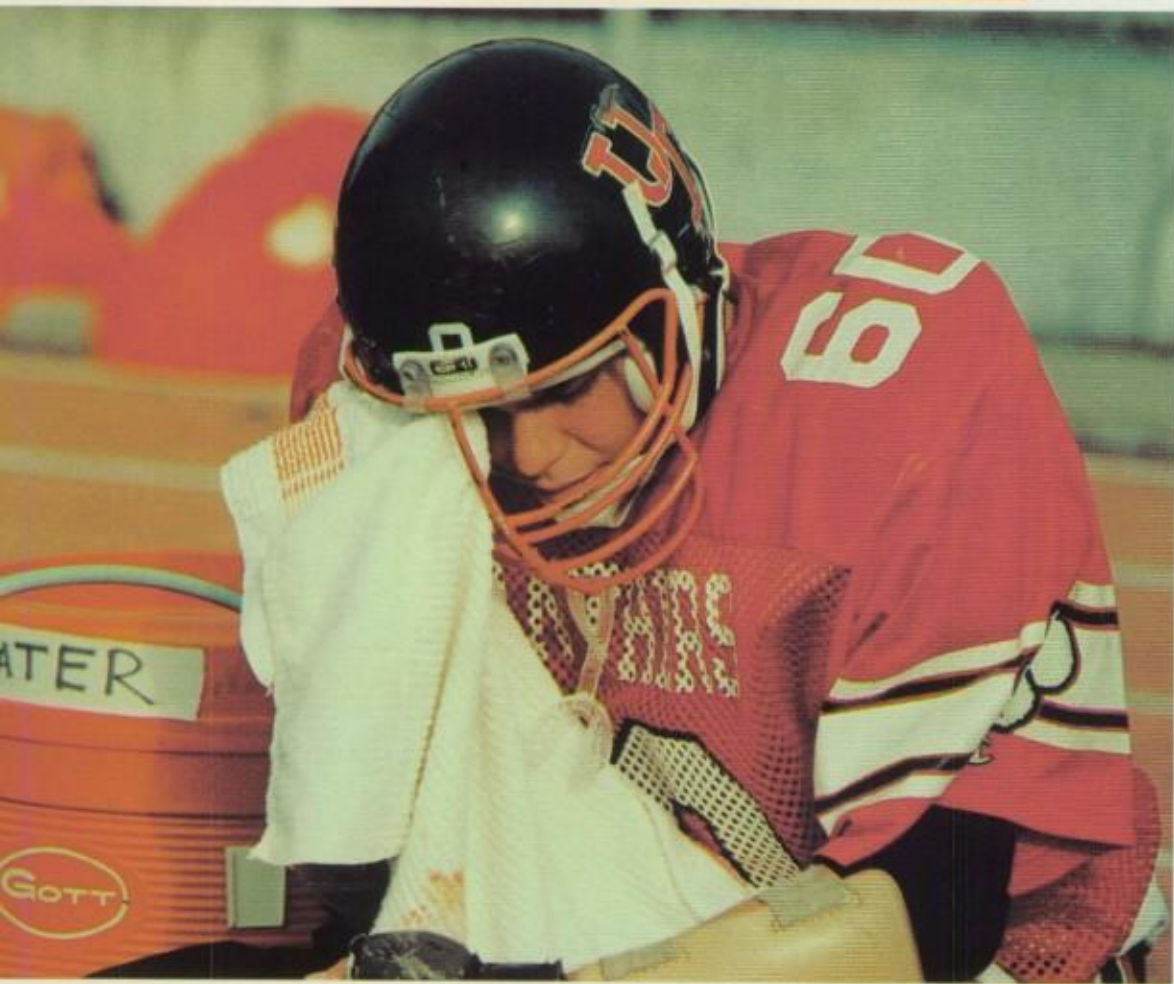

This sign was displayed at North Campus, giving good luck wishes to the football team against East St. Louis.

Students at UT showed their Panther pride by wearing sweatshirts which were sold for the game for $12.

Playoff mania

*Behind this great year
was a great football team*

1

Playoff mania really hit United Township this year. When the football team has made it to the playoffs in previous years, the school has been happy and complimentary, but this year the students really went overboard with Panther pride.

Many students took the opportunity to purchase an orange or black playoff sweatshirt. These sweatshirts were in very high demand in the athletic director's office. Usually, the shirts were sold out by the end of the lunch hours. There were so many requests for the sweatshirts that the school had to re-order to meet the orders.

Even though the team lost to the favored, East St. Louis team, the Panther fans knew that the team had played really well, and the Panther Pride remained.

Another aspect of the Panther mania that was a change was the emotional spirit that was carried throughout the entire school. The talk in the halls wasn't the usual gossip - it was about the football team. Almost every student and teacher had on orange and black, which they wore to show their Panther spirit.

As for the spirit at the game, the crowd was behind the team 100 percent. They were in a total uproar but in a good way because they were backing the team.

All in all, the thrill of being in the play-offs was a highlight of the UT year.

Senior Kurt Zimmerman shows his anguish over the outcome of the playoff game.

Homecoming '87

a festive weekend at UT

for those who took part

The 1987-88 Homecoming assembly was held in the school gym, on October 2. It turned out to be full of surprises for everyone.

There were many festivities in the 1987-88 Homecoming assembly. A group of students dressed as nerds and danced the crowd into laughter. These students were: John Lawry, Jeff Terronez, Neal Williams, Joey Verlinden, Eric Johnson, and Tim Swinehart.

The next source of entertainment was a group of rappers and mixers. This group really had the crowd in a uproar. This group consisted of Jason Branch, Merlin Flowers, Joey Royal, Oscar Scott, Darrel Harris, and their scratcher, Robert Taylor. After the performance the crowd turned their attention to the David Reynolds Band with lead singer, Chris Bernat. Then, of course, our crazy teaching staff took over as the end of the entertainment section of the 1987-88 Homecoming assembly.

Along with all of the singing, dancing, and laughing, there was royalty. This year's royalty was full of "class." The 1987-88 Homecoming king was Kent Bates, queen was Debbie Hernandez, prince was David Toliver, and the princess was Diane Faramelli.

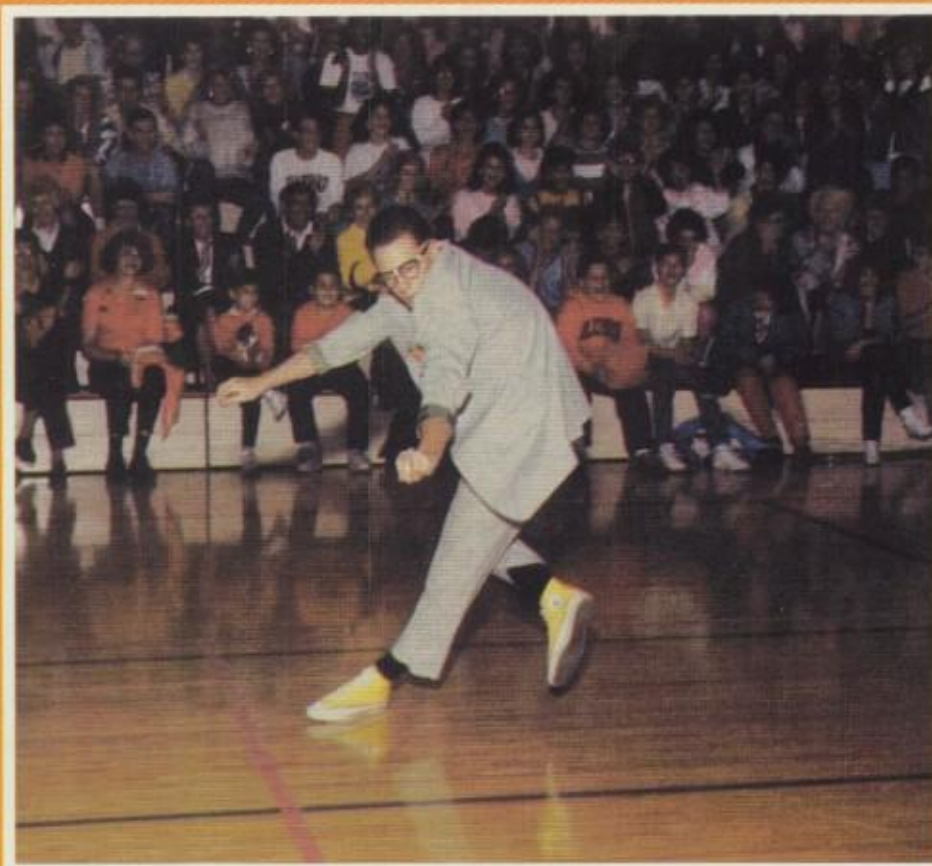

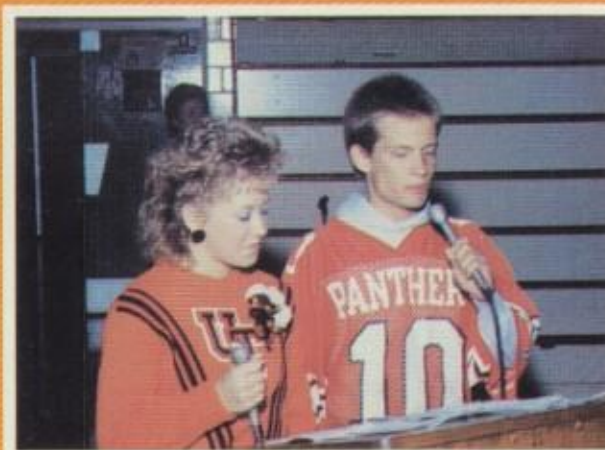

The homecoming assembly ended with a lot of warm embraces from friends, knowing that this might have been the last homecoming assembly which they celebrated together at United Township High School.

Sean Mizlo and Brad McCorkle contributed to the big 35-14 win at Soule Bowl Friday night.

Everyone had a great time at the assembly Friday morning.

Balloons filled the gym after the announcement of the king and queen.

Homecoming was full of great memories,

Debbie and Kent crowned

Homecoming week was one of the best weeks of the 1987-88 school year. During this special week every student had a chance to participate in the festivities. Among them were float building, pep-rally, voting for royalty, football game, and dance. All these festivities helped make the week memorable for everyone.

Float building was one event that almost every student was involved in. At UT great pride was taken in every class float. There were also a few floats prepared by special groups in the school. Students worked until the very last moment on the floats for their glorious trot down the parade route. Then, they met death in the south campus parking lot.

Everyone got a break from class to vote for royalty. After this memorable day the suspense filled the air. But the awaiting students of UT would have to wait until the assembly for the final results.

The pep-rally was a starter for the exciting weekend to come. UT had their burning of the "A." The football players had the crowd really going.

The football game really showed the Panther spirit with the exciting 35-14 win over Alleman. The crowd was in a frenzy and Soule Bowl was packed. That night absolutely nothing could dent the mood of everyone there.

The dance was held on Saturday night in the spruced up south campus cafeteria. Many students attended this dance. Photos were taken to help keep the night's memories.

The 1987-88 homecoming week was a total success for the students, teachers, and the football team. All who took part in any of these events will surely remember them for the rest of their lives.

Royalty for UT were Ehab Siam, Jana Liedtke, Albert Isaïs, Kelly Colgan, Pat Wendt, Lori Fournier, Kurt Zimmerman, and Kathy Truelsen.

Crown bearers for the prince and princess were Tom Pyevich and Tricia Russell.

Exciting week!

Bon-fire Thursday night

Football game a victory

The homecoming weekend started with a bon-fire Thursday night at Soule Bowl. This event had the UT students in a wild and crazy mood.

Some of the speakers that night were Brad McCorkle, Kathy Truelsen, David Toliver, Kent Bates, Pat Wendt, Doug Damhorst, and Coach Sanders.

David Toliver next drew the winning ticket that was sold to the students during the week for the lighting of the "A." After the tickets were chosen and no one would come down, Tom Sawyer made his way to the field. Tom lit the "A" and it was soon engulfed in flames. This brought an end to the bon-fire.

Friday night the Panther football team ran all over the Alleman Pioneers with an easy victory of 35-14.

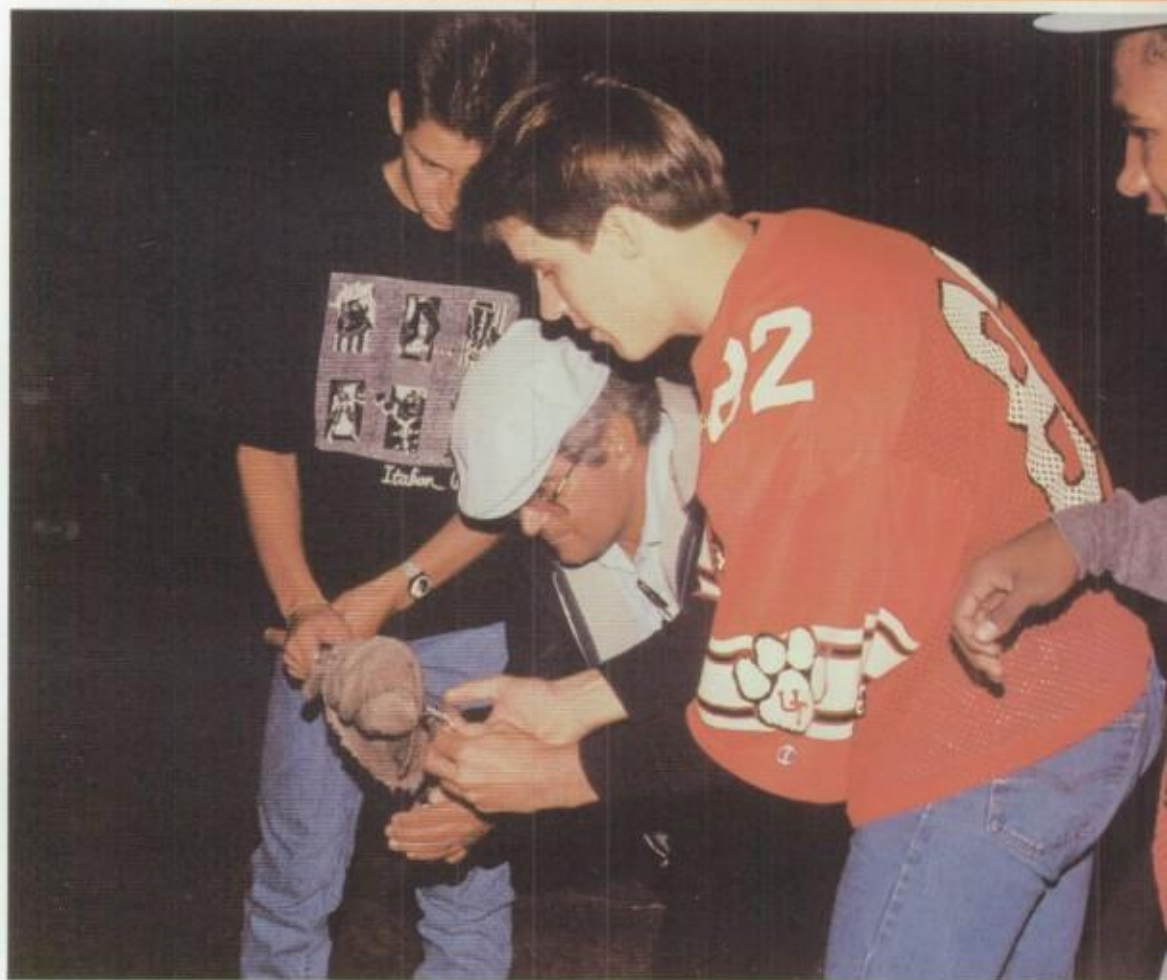

The Panthers were led by Justin Martel, who had 59 yards on 9 carries, Sean Mizlo's 183 yards on 16 carries, Kent Bates 108 on 13, and Chris Palmer's 69 on 8. The team had 446 total yards rushing.

Justin Martel had two TD runs of 21 and 27, Sean Mizlo runs of 45 and 1, and Kent Bates a long run of 56 yards.

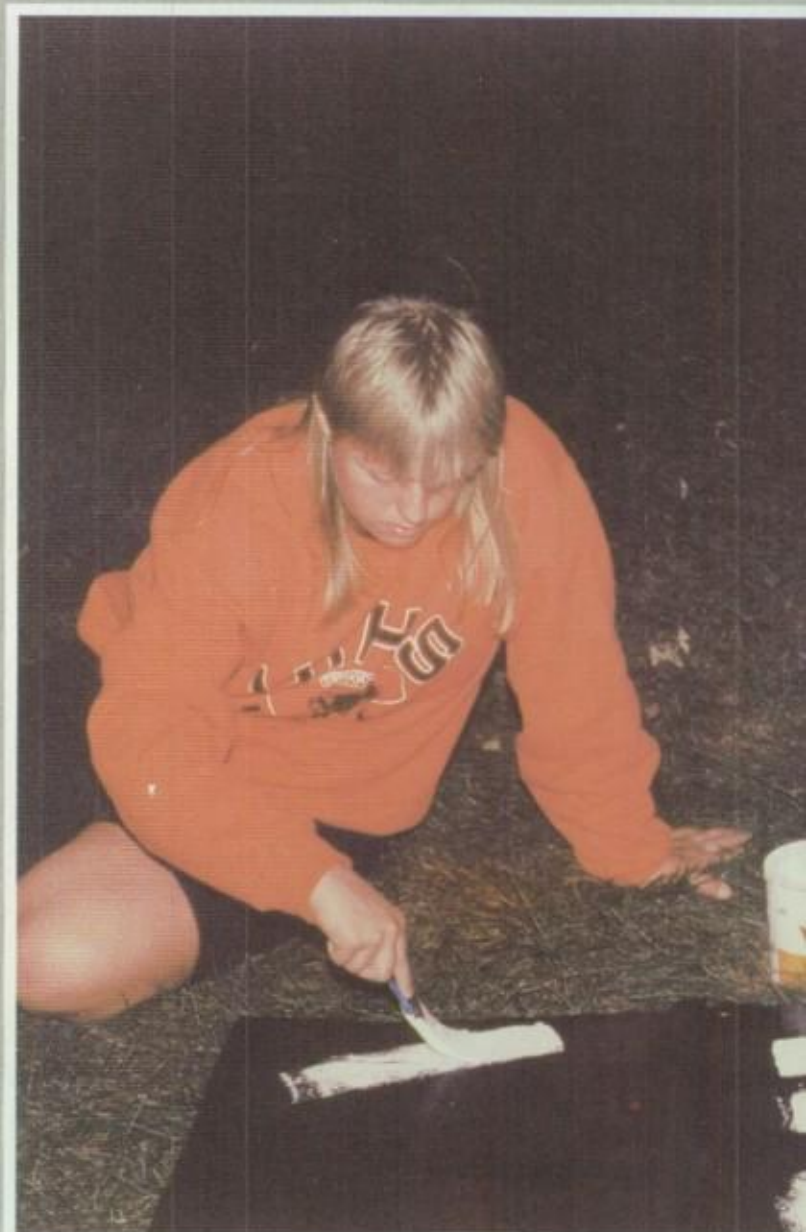

The game started on a good note when Alleman failed to pick up the opening kickoff and UT recovered the ball for an early score only two plays later. This set the tempo for the whole game.

The next UT possession ended with a touchdown, his time by Kent Bates on a 59 yard run.

Another score came after a Pioneer fumble. Two plays later, Justin Martel ran the ball in for the score. With most of the UT scoring done, the defense held the Pioneers to just one more scoring drive.

Tom Sawyer, Mr. Diaz, and Doyle Stewart light the bon-fire at the homecoming pep rally at Soule Bowl.

Shelly Longstad and Shelly Ronnebeck work on the Senior float for the parade.

Doug Damhorst sells homecoming dance tickets to Craig Gelande, Nikki Olvera, and Jennifer Edwards. The tickets sold for $5 for singles and $8 for couples.

Mrs. Sanders sells a homecoming button to Cindy Columbia for $1.

The homecoming "A" was engulfed in flames for the cheering crowd at the pep rally Thursday night at Soule Bowl.

Beth Hunter, Jeff Goering, and Tony Gletty displayed the typical attire that non-conformists wear. They added a touch of style at UT.

Footloose offered live bands such as Naked Ragon and Arious. Also featured was "The Pit."

Brent Pregracke, a skater, does a hand plant with his skateboard as Holland Sullivan looks on. Skateboarding was a past time for some UT students.

Many current trends were set among the halls of U.T. Some of the vogue styles are shown by Christine Moore, Janene Standaert, David Toliver, Michelle Mulcahey, and Mike Spencer.

Non-conformists

express individuality in various fashions and fads

Pat Wendt, Craig Gelande, Kurt Zimmerman, and Brian Schneider advertise their favorite heavy metal groups on their concert t-shirts.

Throughout the year, United Township students predominately showed current trends and styles. They varied from the way they dressed, weekend activities, to the music they listened to.

Weekend activities varied from movies to Stage II. Footloose, an area disco spot for teens, offered live bands for the progressive, new wave, punk. The bands varied from Naked Ragon to Meat Wagon. They held special dances for the non-conformists called "The Pit." Which featured slam dancing and thrashing. At Stage II they offered skanking, a progressive type of dancing. There were some students who didn't get into that scene, found enjoyment getting together with friends and having a small party. But on a boring Friday or Saturday night one could find students at the dollar movies at the Super Savers.

The music varied a great deal and most often it was expressed in the way UT students dressed. People who liked to listen to Iron Maiden, Motley Crue, and Bon Jovi often wore concert t-shirts and jeans. Students who listened to The Cure, Ramones, Smiths, and Circle Jerks often wore hair spiked and clothes from the Salvation Army. They were known as punks, non-conformists, and progressives. The yuppies or people who were into fashion wore clothes that were tailored and classic, such as tailored baggies, pouf mini skirts, and cropped sweaters. They liked to listen to top forty music like Prince, INXS, and Debbie Gibson.

It didn't matter what UT students liked, they found their own place at UT. To allow for every student's different tastes, individualism was the key.

Best Friends

Behind the scenes are together forever and . . .

Monique Morris and Shoma Lidell hug each other over the excitement of receiving a card from the other.

Jesse Pena and Alfredo Lopez leave school excited for the upcoming weekend.

What do you look for in a best friend? Many said someone who would be there through thick and thin.

Many people may have already found a best friend to go through life with, but others were still looking for that one person who will be there and one that will care.

Everyone had friends that they could talk to, but those friends weren't always the one special person with whom they would like to share secrets and dreams.

Freshman Cheryl Welg said, "I tell my best friend things like what happens to me during the day or my feelings about a guy I like." Patricia Stilwell commented, "I tell him my problems, and what things to change, or not to change."

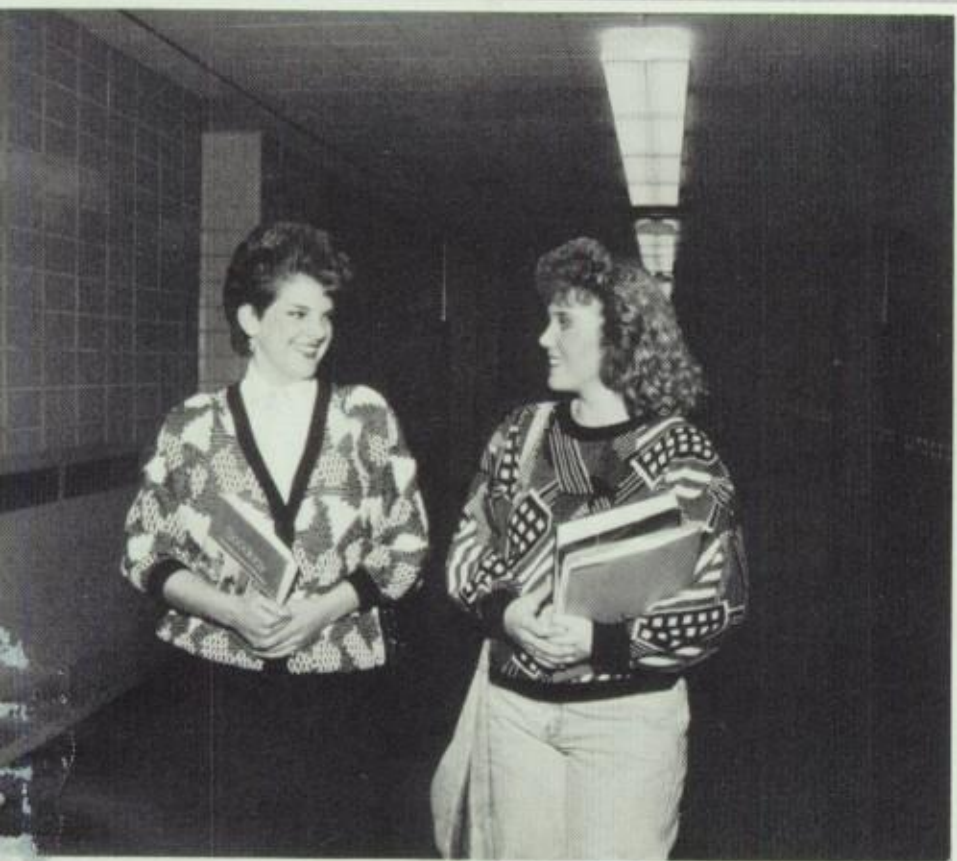

Usually, a best friend is someone to go places with. Sophomore Missy Bystry said, "My best friend and I like to go shopping or go to the movies together."

Things that really scared some were the fights special friends sometimes have. These fights were sometimes little, but there were those that could call a friendship off. They may be caused by a boy or girl, jealousy, or simply a misunderstanding. Many tried talking it out, while others just dropped the friendship that was strong and secure before the fight occurred.

Times like that may hurt, but if they were true friends they would have settled things and stood by each in all they did.

If you walked around the school and looked carefully, you would find those that were best friends simply by the way they acted around each other or that they were always together.

Friendship will always be around - just as best friends will be best friends forever! True friends were real and no matter what happened, they were always there.

Hangouts bring relief during long days

for many students at UT

Paul Swinburn and Gary Swift take time out of their day to chat on the phone in the main hall at South Campus.

UT students found school hangouts at both North and South Campus. A lot of free time was spent at the steps leading down to the girls locker room or by the wall at North. At South there was the parking lot and the area just when a student entered the doors getting off the shuttle busses.

"I sat and joked around with my friends," was the response between freshmen Shelly Green, sophomore Becky Sheldon, and junior Tina Baugher when asked what they did at their "special" school hangout.

A lot of people would probably agree that their school hangout has the time to have a break from school and the homework involved. Freshman Jason Shinn said, "Sometimes we go to get our minds straight so that we can concentrate on the classes that follow lunch."

Students also found a chance to get together with friends for jokes, stories, serious talks, and for couples to be together and plan their next date. It is also a time to have a little fun. Mostly though, it's for time away from school.

When asked how they'd react if the school wouldn't allow them to leave school grounds and they had to stay in the lunch room for the whole hour, Mike True and Brian Schneider confessed, "I would rebel and the school would be sorry."

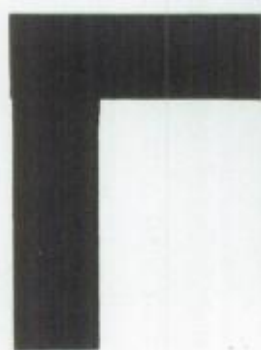

For True and Schneider, the reasons why they go to Hardees (their school hangout) was for them to talk and to "meet some good lookin' girls!"

So for many people school hangouts are highlight of the day and without them, students would be too tense to concentrate on school.

UT weeknights

to some it means study

or spending it with friends

What do UT students do on weeknights? When asked this question, students gave varying answers, ranging from hard work to simply having fun.

Those who held jobs often spent the evening bagging groceries or working in fast-food restaurants. Teens who were not yet sixteen often babysat. Bill Stotts, who worked at Jewel, said he put in around 35 hours per week.

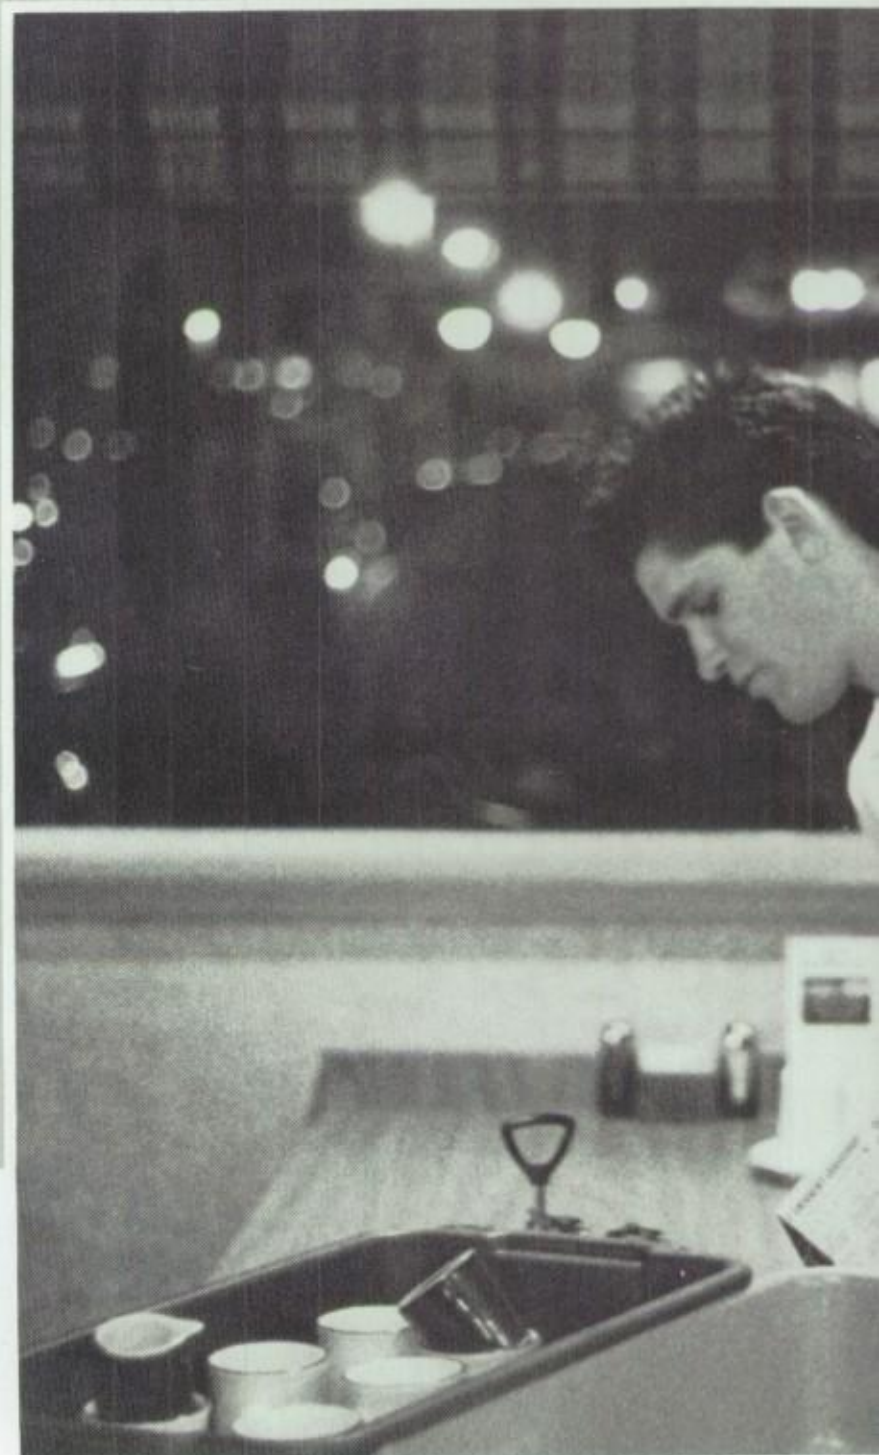

"I come home, do homework, go to basketball, and use the telephone," said Jason Knott. This was typical of students that participated in sports, who could be found either in the gym or on the fields of UT for daily practices. Maggie Woods reflected an almost identical view. "After I drive home and change, I come back to school for two to three hours of practice. Then I go back home, do homework, and talk on the phone until 11:00 or 11:30."

Many looked for ways to entertain themselves. They spent time with friends, either on the phone or in person, ranked high on the list of the average UT student. "I shop until I drop!" laughed Lisa Dumolien, who said she spent her evenings at the mall or otherwise just "hanging out" at friends' houses. Amber Wheeler replied, "I go home and raid the fridge, jump on the couch and watch t.v., or else I talk on the phone to my friends."

Not one of the favorite activities, studying, was sandwiched in anywhere students could find time for it. Ian King, however, stated, "After I got home from doing things with my friends, I debated whether or not to do my homework."

Amy Plavak spends her weeknights working at Target. Many UT students found employment there.

David Bost, busy at work bussing tables at the Village Inn during the week.

Lisa Demolien spends her weeknights at Southpark buying clothes, shoes, and whatnot.

Denny Fisher and Lane Saywer pick out a movie to watch.

Maria Ponousas and Matt Hakeman take a romantic stroll by the river.

Mike Camp and Gia Maffie have a fun date at U.T. games.

Erin Seibel and Heather Southwick enjoy a date of watching T.V.

First date usually the worst; but they get better as you gain confidence and etiquette

Jaci Terhune and Matt Kershaw are a couple that are always seen together.

Most United Township students witnessed their first date sometime in their high school career.

Usually the first date was the worst. Students spent hours getting ready, and inevitably something about them still didn't look just right. Then, for the you're a girls, when their dates did show up they sat in their rooms, wondering why they said "yes." Guys, didn't find the first date that easy either. First of all, the boys felt they had to have their license, so that parents didn't have to drag them around. After the first major disaster, dates usually got better. On the second date the girls were more confident, and the guys knew how to greet parents, what to bring, and when to call for their dates. Both were relaxed somewhat.

Dating at U.T. had different categories. First of all, you were "talking" to someone. "Talking to someone is fun because you still see other people," said Jennifer Hutten.

Another term was "seeing each other" or "going out." During this stage, teens were to write notes, and continually talk on the phone.

The next phase of dating at United Township were the couples that were always seen together. Donna Wishemeyer said, "Going with someone who goes to U.T. is fun because you get to walk in the halls and you're always together." Other couples were steady, even one though one of them didn't go to school at U.T. were also familiar. These couples often went out to lunch together and also on weekends. Tracy Vaughn said, "Going out with someone that doesn't go to U.T. can make school lonely, but it's worth it, especially when you go out for a long time and become best friends."

Dances were "just for fun"

Dances big hit with students

All waited for prom as highlight

Dances were to provoke school spirit. They were to bring together both campuses in a friendly sort of social atmosphere. In other words dances were just for fun.

This years dances started out after football games. Some were held in North Campus gym; those were sock hops. While most were held on the South Campus cafeteria.

Homecoming is the big dance of the fall. This year the dance was held on October 3rd. in the South Campus cafeteria. Homecoming was a memorable event. Shelly Werner started, "the night was fun because I was with special friends and dates."

When basketball season started so did more dances. After basketball games students walked down the south campus hall to the South Campus cafeteria for some dancing after the game. Live disc-jockeys were featured. Brenda Brobston said, "dances are a lot of fun because everybody was real excited and ready to party."

Sadies Hawkins Dance was held on Saturday February 20th after it had been postponed due to a snow storm.

Sadies was a dance for the tides to change. The girls went asking the guys. Most students liked this change. Shawn Vanhollebeke said, "Sadies was fun because it was good to ask a guy out for a change."

As spring crept up on United Township so did the most awaited event for seniors and juniors-prom. The guys asked the girl they had been dying to go out with, their steady girlfriend or just a friend. Prom was a night for the upper classmen, juniors and seniors, to show off their prom outfits. Prom was a very memorable night for everyone that attended.

Students voice opinions

Teachers add to list

What drove them nuts

What drove you crazy? Everyone had that one particular thing that drove him absolutely nuts. When UT students were asked what really bothered them, we got many different reactions.

One of the first reactions we obtained from the students of United Township High School was that "false rumors," really drove Lora Sletten and many others crazy.

Along with "false rumors and people who were nosey was one of Rachel Jimenez's biggest pet peeves. Another thing that really got Rachel was people who lie and get caught but still try and get their way out of their lies.

According to Lisa Durry what drives her crazy was "people who think they're better than others." This was a common response to the question.

As expected, problems with the opposite sex were some of the most reported problems that drove UT students crazy. Paula Garrison said, "People who interfere in other people's relationships" really drove her crazy. According to Leesa Smith what drove her crazy was, "When people think that you liked their boyfriends, when you actually didn't."

Teachers were people, too. Teachers had things that drove them crazy, also. When asked the question Mrs. Peterson said, "not getting yearbook pages done when they were supposed to be done."

The thing that drove everyone crazy, including Angie Raymond was getting a speeding ticket.

Change of pace

Cast produces "Godspell"

A musical with a meaning

F "Godspell," this year's musical, was presented in the South Campus auditorium on December 3, 4, and 5. Originally written and directed by John - Michael Tebelok, "Godspell" is a musical based on the Gospel according to St. Matthew. The problems, or stories, Jesus related to his disciples are shared in a very human way. Act I is a fast-paced, fun-loving section of the musical. Act II is more serious as the audience views changes in the characters and their feelings toward Jesus. He is tempted by the Devil, jeered at by the Pharisees and eventually says goodbye to his friends. The production began with an amusing pre-show that was presented to help the audience better understand the action as it developed in the musical.

The cast began their preparation in October, and each rehearsal lasted between one and one-half and two hours. Once they were into the final week before the actual performance, rehearsal time was extended, often over two hours.

"Godspell" had its differences from previous performances. The subject matter was entirely different from the precedent set by "Grease," presented the previous year. Also, the cast, as a whole, remained on stage throughout the whole play.

All considered, "Godspell" was a success. The crew performed on Thursday for St. Mary's school. On Friday, the cast performed to a sold-out student audience. After its presentation on Saturday, they received a standing ovation. Jason Gray, who played the lead as Jesus, commented of the audience of Saturdays performance, "They loved Act I and cried at the end of Act II." When asked what the high point of the musical was, Jason replied, "The final scene, because of the emotion. On Saturday, the final scene was real. The tears were real. The cast was so drawn into the emotion at the crucifixion that their reaction was realistic."

The musical was directed by Mrs. Kay O'Brien, and the position of students director was filled by Julie Tyler.

1987 was an outstanding year for the Panther football team who finished with a 9-2 record. With 17 returning lettermen and strong performances from many of the juniors, the team was favored to beat most of their opponents and receive a bid for the playoffs. The Panthers held a Class 6A ranking throughout the season. At one time they were rated as high as #2 by one of the polls.

This year the Panthers had three major goals. Coach Sanders stated that these goals were, "to win the WB6 Conference without a loss and to be in the playoffs and to advance further than last year."

A strong offensive ground game was responsible for many of the Panther wins. They had a total of 2,451 yards rushing in only 5 Conference games. The Panthers dominated their opponents by outscoring them 283 points to 133.

The defense held their opponents to small yardage gains and few touchdowns. They only allowed an average of 12 points per game. One of the highlights for the defensive unit came in the game against Moline. The Panthers held them to -35 yards.

Attitude was an important element to the winning season. The Panthers were a very emotional team that had the drive to win.

After the Panthers dominated the WB6, they advanced to the playoffs. In the first game, they were on the road against Romeoville. Kent Bates did an outstanding job with 248 yards and 4 touchdowns setting an IHSA record. The entire team played well and contributed to the 20-3 win.

The next step for the team was against #1 rated East St. Louis at Soule Bowl. UT kept the score close throughout the game.

and outplayed the Flyers both offensively and defensively. Unfortunately, the season ended with a 20-13 loss.

Many players were recognized for their outstanding play on the field. These players were Pat Wendt, Mike Strickland, Jim Fotos, Wayne Vittori, Chris Palmer, Kent Bates, Justin Martel, Kurt Zimmerman, Ehab Siam, Doyle Stewart, Sean Mizlo and Brad McCorkle. Pat Wendt received All-State honors and was the WB6 Player of the Year. The leading rusher and scorer in the Conference was Kent Bates. Chris Palmer was named as "Dispatch Pacesetter" for his performance early in this season.

"The biggest thrill for the football team was being in the playoffs."

Sophs undefeated: 1st time ever

The 1987-88 Sophomore Panther Football team started the season with an exciting 18-8 victory over St. Rita and finished the season with an undefeated record of 8-0 and a Western Big 6 Conference championship.

Coach Bollaert stated that the goals of the season were "to win the Conference, finish the season unbeaten, and to prepare the players for their Varsity career." The Panthers worked long, hard hours during practice to achieve all of these goals.

Many talented players contributed to the success of the sophomore season. Outstanding offensive players for the Panthers were Brian Gruenhagen, Kevin Skillett, and Chad Schuldt. These three, along with the rest of the offensive unit, scored a total of 168 points in the Western Big 6 Conference games.

The defense held their opponents to only 49 points in the five conference games. Players that contributed the most to the defensive unit were Aaron Polite, Rick Tapia, and D.J. Mumma. The improving skills of the defense were important in many of the Panther wins.

The 1987-88 Freshmen Panther Football team finished the season with a 1-4-1 record. The Panthers practiced after school at South Campus. These practices helped the players work together to perfect their game and develop a strong team concept.

Although winning only a few of their conference games, the Freshmen panthers worked hard and were rewarded with the satisfaction of knowing that they had tried to do the very best that they could.

Outstanding offensive players for the freshmen squad were Bret Tweed, at halfback, Kyle Vallejo, fullback, and Tony Trulson, playing right tackle.

The defense had talented players.

Those contributing the most were Todd

Arvanis, who was the defensive tackle, and Rudy Lopez, the "monster".

"It was an excellent season in which the team developed in the areas of discipline and attitude that will prepare us for our Varsity years." -D.J. Mumma and Brian Gruenhagen

The freshmen football team still has a lot to learn in order to be successful. The squad should improve each season as they gain the confidence and experience needed to prosper in the future years. They will help keep the football team here at UT in strong contention for the Western Big 6 conference crown for many years to come.

Believe in themselves

The 1987-88 boys cross country team had a "great season, better than expected," according to Coach Phillips. At practice the twenty-two runners averaged six miles each at Butterworth Park, they also lifted weights, and circuit trained.

This year was better than expected because of four returning Varsity members: Chris Bernat, Craig Gelande, David Toliver, and Mike Gelande. They also had two new additions to the Varsity squad - Tony Gonzales and Joe Verlinden. The promising underclassmen were John White, T.J. Zaragoza, and Jim Murphy.

"The team got stronger as the year went on.

The team had a better attitude this year, they really believed in themselves," stated Coach Phillips. With this extra push U.T. challenged their toughest competition, Moline. David Toliver also commented on the season, "This season was not one of our best. What started out as an impossible winning season, made a drastic turnabout. We regained confidence in ourselves, as well as in our abilities. We put together a team that was worthy enough to be called the Panthers."

The highlight of this year's season was when the Panthers crushed ten teams in the Monmouth Invitational. This put the boys cross country team off to a good start. But, David Toliver was quoted as saying, "The team's most upsetting moment was our shocking defeat at regional."

Coach Phillips stated cross country is "both a group and individual sport at once; one person can't win." During the summer the United Township cross country team ran three days a week for an hour.

Todd Patterson stated, "Cross Country was one of the hardest sports at UT, but if you're dedicated it can be worth it. This year was the first year I ran cross country and it helped me get ready for track. Like me, many of the guys that ran cross country were running to get in shape for another sport. Cross country was a gaining experience for me and can be for any who wanted to get in shape."

Craig Gelande commented, "I feel that running with my brother (Mike Gelande) creates a good atmosphere. We both try to outdo each other, so we are constantly pushing ourselves to the limits. A mistake people made was that they thought we were the same. But we are two totally different people, especially in running. People think that just because I'm good in cross country, my brother should be the same. They also assumed since I'm older, I should be able to beat him. Actually, Mike is a better distance (three miles and up) runner than I am, but I'm a better middle distance (800 m. to 1000 m) runner. Mike is more serious about running. At the meets, I believe we both do better than we would without each other."

"Pretty good season-came out with a winning record. Surprised a lot of teams. But we lacked the depth to be a really good team." -Craig Gelande

The 1987-88 girls cross country season turned out to be another great cross country season! With a team of about 18, Coach Steinmetz had to overcome two obstacles: injuries and training new freshmen.

Coach Steinmetz said, "The team started out slowly but improved throughout the season." The runners who improved the most were Kris Hunter, Amber Turf, and Darlene Davis according to the coach.

He also indicated that a good team must be comfortable working together and know what it wants to accomplish. The team must also have its share of good luck!

Also needed for a good team are a front runner, someone to be in the top 5 percent. Then the second through fifth runners "I always tell them to relax the arms and have a good foot plant and don't land flat-footed."

Using this advice were the top runners: Gail Conley, Kris Hunter, Amber Turf, and Darlene Davis.

This year the girls practice Monday - Friday from 3-5 and also on Saturday mornings. In practice they usually ran 4 miles on the road and occasionally they did some trackouts.

Outside cross country, Coach Steinmetz encourages his runners to participate in local runs throughout the Quad Cities and when given the chance, to run on Sundays.

To describe this girls cross country season, Coach Steinmetz used these words, "Young and rapidly improving. The future is going to be very tough."

Along with running, the girls occasionally do swimming and bike riding. They also greatly emphasized stretching and weightlifting.

"Although cross country was a lot of work, it's more than made up by the fact that we have a lot of fun and you really feel accomplished, as well as tired, when you finish a race. The thing that was special about cross country was that it was not necessary to be a superstar runner - the team needed all of its runners to score well, so everyone counted. We really supported each other and worked together.

"The team was very young this year - having only two seniors, a few juniors, but several sophomores and freshmen. Freshmen Chris Lammers, Amber Turf, and Kris Hunter were consistently in the top five positions - often running number one for the team. Junior Darlene Davis had a very successful season as well.

"This team had great young potential - look for bigger and better things from this team in the future!" commented Julie Tyler, senior member of the cross country team.

"I think our team did very well in cross country this year. What we had this year was a group of girls that were willing to work hard and stay together." - Gail Conley

Top runner Gail Conley strives hard as she heads toward the finish line. Gail did not get to run in Sectionals due to an injury.

Dorene Mohr gave an odd expression as she started up the hill, with a close runner only few paces behind.

Julie Giers, with complete concentration, continues to strive for the finish line.

Amber Nichols just crosses the finish line after a long difficult run.

The 1987-88 boys swimming team finished with another great year.

The swim team had regular practices from 3:15 to 5:15 Monday through Friday. They also worked-out in the weight room every morning, 5:30 to 7:00 a.m. The only day that the swimmers didn't practice was on Wednesday. The team swam between 3,800 to 5,000 yards in an afternoon practice, while the divers dove around 50 times per practice. It took a lot of hard work to be a competitive swimmer in the conference. Doug Damhorst held the position of team captain. He was responsible for keeping his team motivated at the meets and many practices. He also helped solve internal team problems which sometimes might occur.

Coach Busch reported, "This was my ninth year coaching. I coached because it was very satisfying for me to see the smile on the kids faces after they have just completed their best swim ever and they know that all their hard work had just paid off. Swimming was a sport where you could be a winner without winning the race." Having this attitude kept many of the swimmers in high spirits throughout the swimming season.

The team this year worked hard on strokes and techniques to improve their skills. "If you swim hard and have a lot of intensity in your races, only good things could happen to you," said Coach Busch.

The swimmers who showed the most improvement this season were Keith Gunderson, Corey Hansen, Jason Vogler, Dennis Webb, Doug Damhorst, Rick Mauritzson, and Jason Pettit. The improvement of these swimmers helped the team win the close meets.

In a meet, swimmers may participate in any event such as sprint freestyle, distance freestyle, backstroke, butterfly, and breaststroke.

Mr. Busch felt the team would be competitive in any meet they participated in. Even though Rock Island was the toughest team in the area, he said UT could give them a good fight.

He remarked, "It will be a close fight between UT and Moline for the second spot for the conference and at the sectionals."

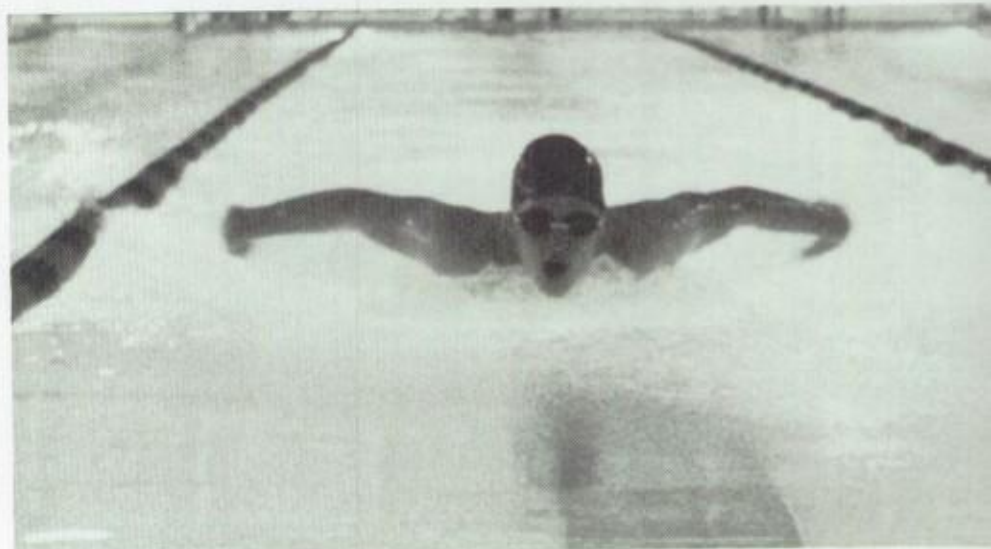

Swimming was a sport which took many hours of practice and swimming laps. A swimmer must be very disciplined and dedicated to the sport to make the season successful for everyone. Many UT's swimmers were disciplined and dedicated.

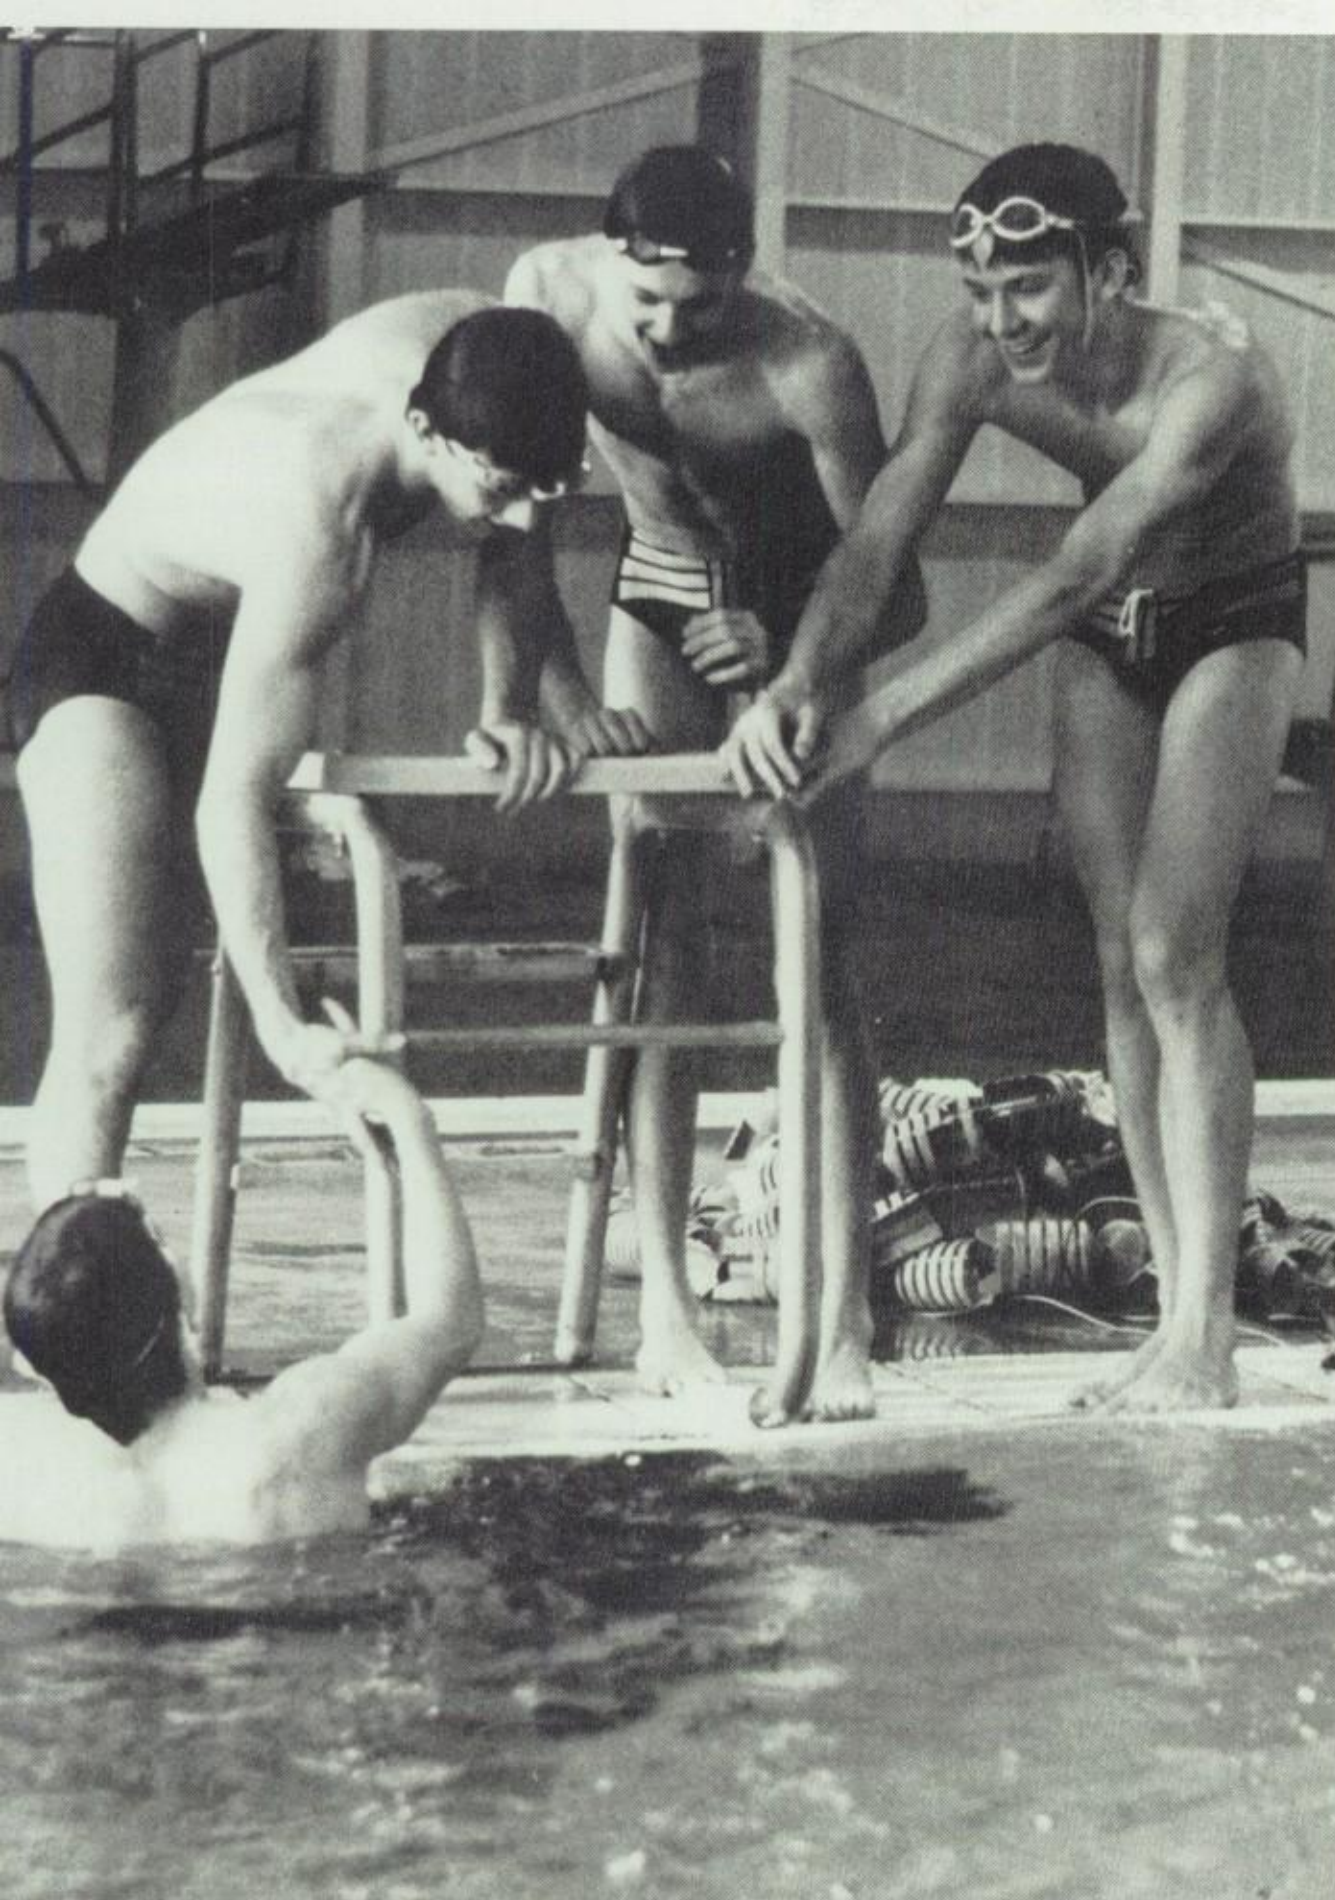

"This year the boy's swim team handed head coach Dave Busch his 100th career win. Although the team will lose its six seniors next year, upcoming juniors, and incoming freshmen are predicted to fill their shoes."

This year's 1987-1988 Girls Swim Team had a "pretty good outlook," stated coach Busch. They swam a lot better than expected. Coach Dave Busch stated, "This year we had to basically rely more on everyone doing their own job because we didn't have any superstars."

This year's Girls Swim Team consisted of 18 varsity swimmers and 13 junior varsity swimmers. The team was led by senior captain Kelly Soots. She kept the team's attitude and spirit high throughout the year.

The team practiced after school Monday through Friday from 3:15 p.m. until 5:15 p.m. They also swam before school on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 5:30 a.m. On Mondays and Fridays they lifted weights for half an hour before school. The team's motto about the practices was no pain - no gain!

This motto helped the hard working Lady Panthers to achieve their 9-1 record. This is the same record as last year's team.

The team's strongest events for this year's swim season were the 100 yard freestyle and the 50 yard freestyle. Also the I.M. (individual medley) was another strong event for the team. The team's line-up was basically solid throughout.

The team's one loss this year was caused by the close rival Moline. The Lady Panthers put up a good fight throughout the meet, but lost it in the end with a score of 78-94.

The last meet of the season was swum against Clinton. The Panthers came out the victors with a score of 99-73. This was also senior night, in which the seniors on the team were recognized.

The team's goals were to place second on conference, second in Western Big Six, and to place in the top five at sectionals along with an all around improvement of individual times.

The team had a "very good attitude," remarked Coach Busch. They carried their attitude with them to every meet and it helped them to succeed, which contributes to the make-up of an all around good team."

Hard work, experience pay off

UT gets the goals

New program improves

UT's 1987-88 soccer team, after four years of building, were finally able to give other area teams a glimpse of what the Panthers were made of.

Although still a young program, the team had begun to tighten their strategies and strengthen their skills. Many of the members had played for the full four years. The experience they had gained gave the team more versatility than those of years past.

Chris Ellis, lettering senior, who has been with the team for its four years, expressed high hopes for the future of the team. "We had a great year this year, but with the kids coming up next year it should be even better." Chris and Brian Williams, also a lettering senior, were the captains of this year's soccer team and were named as all-conference players.

Found practicing Monday through Friday from 3:15 until 5:00, the team attempted every facet of the game under the coaching of Mr. Diaz. During the summer Coach Diaz held a soccer camp for the players; however, attendance was not mandatory.

Although soccer is not generally a high-scoring sport, UT played the game as if it were otherwise. Mr. Diaz commented his favorite aspect of this year's team was that they had been scoring a lot of goals.

During the course of the season, many injuries occurred. Steve Phillips was temporarily unable to play, as was Jason Lee. "This was a major loss for us," said Mr. Diaz. Rico Diaz received a concussion before the season was over. These were only a few of the acquired injuries.

This year's conference was fairly competitive with Quincy and Moline being the teams to beat.

Returning letterman Chip Ketelaar, junior, summed the year up. "We put together our first winning season this year. The seniors are first to play four years on the program and they gave us our best year ever. We put the ball in the net this year, and showed as we finished third in conference. We look forward to next year and hope to improve over this one."

"The season started out strong in the beginning, then we ran into some problems. Overall as a team we accomplished a lot." -Brian Williams

Strong blockers help Vball team

"My varsity team was a very scrappy team," reported Coach Calvert, "They tried very hard to win."

At the beginning of the season all members of the varsity team were played.

Out of eighteen members of the varsity team six of them were seniors four were sophomores, and the rest juniors. The sophomores on the team were put on the varsity team because they had a strong skill that the varsity had not yet mastered. They were also put there to gain experience playing varsity ball, according to Coach Calvert.

Coach Calvert said that her team has strong blockers and were pretty well averaged at all skills.

The first time in a long time the varsity team was allowed to practice at South Campus. The advantages were that they had better nets, more space, and a much better gym. Coach Calvert said to practice and play their games at South Campus was an advantage because most of all the varsity members go to South Campus.

Being able to play many positions, having good attitude, and having self-discipline were some of the ingredients of good players, commented Coach Calvert. She also felt that her girls had a mental block against Moline. Coach Calvert felt Moline could be beaten!

This year three volleyball teams had only two coaches. Both coaches said that it was very difficult. Coach Calvert said it was hard for her to be at two places at once. Coach Marriott proclaimed that she felt the sophomores were cheated out of a hard practice.

The freshmen, though, had a good chance to watch the sophomore's practice. The freshmen and sophomores practiced together at North Campus with their coach, Mrs. Marriott.

The freshmen played a 4-2 set-up. This is where they had four hitters and two setters, which never hit. On the freshmen level everyone got equal playing time. The sophomores also got equal playing time.

Senior Krista Brodersen was the only volleyball player this year who made All Conference.

This year volleyball team worked hard to win. They practiced every night after school. Some went to volleyball camp and worked five hours a day. At camp the girls had a chance to get to know each other and the new coach. The freshmen girls learned the rules and what was expected from them while they were on the court.

"Volleyball has been a lot of hard work mixed in with a little fun and I enjoyed every minute of it." - Candi Owens.

Boys golf first undefeated season

The 1987-88 United Township boys golf team had an outstanding 12-0 season. This is the first season the golf team has been undefeated, "A lot better than I ever dreamed," commented Coach Dergo. Practice at Golf-mohr after school, weather permitting. Each player practiced on his own.

With all this help, the boys golf team tackled their roughest teams, Galesburg and Quincy.

The difference this year from last was more improvement from each individual and collectively as a team. "To be a good player, you have to have lots, lots, and lots of practice. It's all in the individual," stated Coach Dergo.

Over the summer golfers often go to camps at different universities. Some are Iowa, Iowa State, and Northern. Bill Rosborough stated, "Camps help with your mental game. They teach you how to use correct club selection and how to hit the impossible shot."

The most improved issue about winning in gold is "shooting a low score, winning the match, and getting to be a medalist," stated Todd Rosenthal.

The 1987 - 88 UT girls golf team held practice Monday - Thursday at 3:00 in Golf-mohr in Hampton. At practice the team often practiced putting and playing. A new addition to practice was going to the golfing range.

The outlook for the year was a building year. This year was a building year because the team lost six players to graduation.

Other differences from last year were the team was "starting over." We had six beginners on the team," commented Coach Laud.

Although the team lost four to graduation there were four returning varsity members: Shawna Gerstner, Mindy Shin, Jan Kippes, and Jackie Swanson.

The highlight of the season was beating Rock Island by nineteen strokes. "To be a good golfer you must practice four to five times a week all year," coach Laud stated.

"It was the best season ever! Everyone played up to their potential when they needed to, and coach Dergo did a great job. We really came through with strong team effort." - Bill Rosborough

UT girls tie for 4th in Big Six

The 1987-88 United Township girls tennis team ended the season with a six and five record. Fourth year tennis coach Sue Rosenthal stated that the team had a "pretty good season".

The team tied for sixth at the Pekin Invitational and tied for third at the Galesburg Invitational. In an important match, the Rockford Invitational, the team took fourth place. They also tied for fourth place in the Western Big Six.

Twenty two was an unusual number for the team. Last year the team was cut to eighteen. Coach Rosenthal, who played tennis herself in college, decided not to cut since it was only four people.

The top two members of the team were, last year's most improved member, senior Jaci Terhune, and junior Cathy Duncan. Only one freshman made the varsity team, Katie Smith. The top two junior varsity players were both seniors, Abby Burke and Amy Gremontprez.

The team held practice everyday, when there was not a meet, from 3:15 to 5:00 at South Campus. Top varsity player, Jaci Terhune, had this to say about their winning season, "This year we did pretty good and we played a lot of tough teams, but we stuck with it and I think we played tough against them."

Coach Rosenthal reflecting on the spirit of the team stated that "The team seemed to be closer this year, so everyone seemed to get along with everybody and that made it more fun."

The tennis team was going to lose some of its top players to graduation. A couple of those seniors looked back and remembered what it was like to be a beginner and how they got started playing tennis. Denny Fisher remembered back to eighth grade year. "I started on my own, it was something to do. Chad Vinzant was my favorite player. I have my own style and don't copy it from anyone. I like to keep in shape for the season by doing aerobics and run." Denny also analyzed herself by stating that her backhand was better than her forehand and that this was also her best season.

Kelly Colgan's favorite professional players were Pat Cash and Chris Everett Loyd. She ran and did drills to stay in shape and she would like to improve on her speed. This was Kelly's first year on the varsity team. "For some people it came naturally but one can never learn enough."

"All in all we had a good season, the best part was the closeness that developed these past four years." - Denny Fisher

Boys Tennis Team sets goals

Has tournament hopes,

wants conference place

The 1987-1988 United Township High School boys' tennis team was under the direction of second year coach Mr. Bill Blomgren. Mr. Blomgren was a former assistant coach.

Coach Blomgren stated that the team had fourteen members which was down from last year. "The nice thing is the guys that come out want to improve their tennis and not just have a good time."

The tennis team held practice from three-thirty until five-fifteen. The goal was to make the five-hundred record. The team is usually one and ten and did "pretty well" last year.

A returning veteran who has held the top spot for three years in a row was senior Dan Thompson. Dan stated that he "hoped the team would do really well and win their matches." "My personal goals," Dan stated, "are to beat Moline and to go on to the State Tournament."

When asked to compare himself to a favorite player, Dan said it would have to be John McEnroe. If there was anything he would improve it would be his temper on the tennis court. "If I'm not in perfect form, I'm extremely upset," Dan acknowledged.

Dan started playing tennis when he was twelve years old and has been on the team since his freshman year. Dan has been the team's top player since his sophomore year. He feels he has improved immensely and keeps in shape by playing basketball.

The team consisted of had three seniors, five juniors, four sophomores and two freshmen. Three of the team's players were returning lettermen, Dan Thompson and Jeff Batten and James Beals, who have a good chance to go to state.

"It probably would have been nice to have more freshmen. It's tough to build a program if you only have two freshmen a year to build a team.

It also makes us kind of weak only having three varsity players," stated Coach Blomgren.

James Beals, a returning letterman, stated that he thought they would greatly improve in the coming years and to watch out for the United Township tennis team.

Coach Blomgren stated that although they weren't going to overpower anybody it was a fight for respectability. With the tennis team's new hopefuls and returning members it should put itself together for yet another seasons' worth of enjoyable tennis.

"Most of the kids on the team I had last year and I really enjoyed working with them last year so I think it makes it easier for me to look forward to this season. Though all we really hope to be is a five-hundred team." Coach Blomgren

The 1987-88 Varsity Boys Basketball team, "had a very good year that got better as the year progressed," according to Coach Mike Gillespie. The team consisted of twelve varsity members.

The most improved player this year was Brad Schwartz, "by far," said Coach Gillespie. Brad was out last year due to an injury to his knee, but came back strong this his senior year. Brad commented, "It was really good coming off my basketball injury. My knee was feeling better now. I will always have to wear a knee brace every-time I play. It was very nice to be playing basketball for Coach Gillespie again."

Practice was held in the South Campus gym after school on weekdays, and nights on weekends for two and a half hours; the only day of rest for the Panthers was Sunday. Practices consisted of running and shooting exercises.

After losing seven seniors and four starters to graduation, differences this year came from inexperience. "We played many juniors and sophomores on the Varsity squad," commented Coach Gillespie. Sophomore Diallo Samuels said, "Playing for Varsity has made this the most exciting year of my life. It matured me and made me a better individual. I learned to believe in myself, to never give up, self discipline, and motivation."

Team strength lay this year in Eric Knott playing in the center position and Justin Martel racking up the points in the guard position. Eric and Justin both commented that the season was exceptionally fun because of the team that they were on and the coach that they played for. Justin said, "We had many talented players. We just couldn't get it together sometimes. That was why we lost so many games in overtime."

The United Township Varsity Basketball Team had five returning lettermen: Brad Schwartz, Eric Knott, Justin Martel, and Dan Weir, and Darrin Ackers.

The team's toughest competition in the Western Big Six was Moline and Rock Island.

Mike Dergo, back from Rock Island, commented that "Coming to UT was a major change, and I was unsure of what to expect. However it was a change for the better, and I'm very proud to be at UTHS." Goals this year included winning more than seventeen games and the regional championship. Coach Mike Gillespie also commented, "Basketball is a team sport-the team must work as a unit and unless the entire unit is at its best, the fault shows in the whole unit."

"The Rock Island game was a good game for us. We had them beat but blew it in the end. We played well. Coach Gillespie was very pleased with how we played but wished we could have won." - Justin Martel

Sophs exhibit strong skills

The 1987-88 United Township sophomore and freshman basketball teams met the challenge of another year with much hard work to meet the expectations of their coaches — to play to the best of their abilities and to give the game their all.

Of his sophomore team, Coach Leo Johnson said, "The greatest strength of this year's team is their overall winning attitude toward the game and each other. It is nice to coach a team that not only likes to play but likes each other, also." Johnson had a generous amount of praise for the sophomore hoopsters as he added, "This team is a more balanced team than many of the past. Five players on the court all having the ability to score is rare at this age." Johnson spotted lack of height as the team's point of weakness.

Freshman boys' coach of one year, Al VanHecke, also found his team at a height disadvantage and commented upon the boys' speed as something to be improved upon, as well. Vanhecke discovered the strength of the team in players such as Joe Teague, Chris Roberson, Jeff Cornelius, Dave DeCapp, and team captain, Kyle Vallejo. Teague and Roberson were named as the team's high scorers.

Averaging in double figures for the sophomore Panthers were Mike Gelande, Marc Deleare, Aaron Polite, and Mike Gillespie. Two sophomores, Kevin Skillett and Diallo Samuels, showed they possessed the needed edge to dress for Varsity.

Both teams kept a rigorous practice schedule developing and polishing their skills nearly every day during the season.

The two teams had their differences in the way they played the game. Whereas the sophomores hit a delicate balance between defensive and offensive play, the freshman squad played a more offensive game.

Coach Johnson saw in his players the ability to finish first in the conference. When Coach VanHecke compared the freshman boys to other area teams, he indicated they might possibly be ranked third in the Big 6. Rocky was noted by both coaches as the ball club to beat, and VanHecke added Alleman's Pioneers to the list of top competitors, as well. He contended that it was likely for the sophomore's season to come to a close with nearly twenty wins behind them.

"We had a good season and a great team. We had some really bad games that cost us, but we worked hard and had a lot of talented players. We should make UT a team to reckon with." Pat Daniels and Jason Knott

With quickness and endurance

U.T. girls became stronger than ever

United Township was very proud of their 1987-88 girls varsity basketball players. They were coached by first year varsity coach Gary Martin. He helped the girls strive for perfection, team spirit, and the art of competition.

Schedules were tough for the Lady Panthers. Practice was held after school from 6:30 to 8, and they were vigorous! Workouts included such strenuous activities as free throws, and basket shooting. This schedule sounds easy, but 50 to 100 shots along with 25 free throws, plus game situations, conditioning drills, and offensive and defensive formations would make for a long and tough hour and a half. For those players with after school jobs and homework, dedication was a must!

Practice made perfect, so they say. Just ask Shase Lacey and Liz Cosgrave, the team's strongest shooters. Liz's shooting average of 6.0/game combined with Shase's shooting average of 10.4/game proved the old adage is true. Practice does make perfect.

With Carla Sletten's persistence and diligence, she became the teams most improved player this basketball season. Her average went from 5.0/game in 86-87 to 13.5/game in 87-88.

One of the main factors in becoming a winning team was to develop an on court, off court relationship. To quote Coach Gary Martin, "The team was like family. They get along great with each other and work well together." The Lady Panthers were not just teammates, they were friends. They help each other out by cheering each other up when times get tough, or just being there when they were needed. The team possessed an inner friendship of warmth and companionship that exceeded even the best of teams. These qualities made them unique and very special in their own way.

"The main reason I liked basketball was because I've been playing with this group of for some time. We have great times on and off the court and Coach Martin just added to our fun." -Shase Lacey

"We've had an exceptionally good season," stated Lisa Reynolds. "Everyone worked really hard to make it a great team. We interacted well with one another on and off the court. I think the way a team gets along has a very big effect on the way they play. The experience the juniors were getting will be a big help next year."

Another reason for such a successful season was the return of Shase Lacey, Carla Sletten, Beth Cornelius, Liz Cosgrave, and Theresa DeHamer. These five lettering seniors were the "core" of the team and played to their lettermen expectations. Their experience and expertise proved to be very effective and valuable to other team members.

The best players show effort

"Skills can be learned, but one needs to show some effort of wanting to learn," commented Mrs. Sue Wesselmann in what she looked for in a person who wanted to join the basketball team. Mrs. Wesselmann, the sophomore girls basketball coach, has been coaching basketball for eight years and once considered coaching a hobby. Mrs. Wesselmann stated that she liked being with the girls.

When Coach Wesselmann picked girls for the basketball team, she looked for how hard they worked and their understanding of the game. "I feel that a good basketball player plays more than just basketball," Coach Wesselmann stated.

Coach Wesselmann felt her team was the shortest team to play, with their tallest player reaching five feet seven inches. The team also experienced a small problem with their passing, but Coach Wesselmann felt that her girls played as well as they could.

When asked who was the toughest competition for the team, sophomore players

Becky Dean and Ann Barham, and Coach Wesselmann agreed that it was Galesburg. "They can really score. They had good outside shooters and a good press," all three explained.

The sophomore girls practiced at North Campus from 5 to 6:30 p.m. week nights. At practice the sophomore team worked hard at all their drills to perfect themselves for a game. Before practice officially started, Coach Wesselmann had a group talk session. Warm-up usually consisted of stretching out and running a few laps around the gym.

The girls freshmen team practiced every day after school until 5. Saturday mornings they were found in the gym from 8 until 9:30. At the beginning of practice they worked on simple drills to warm up. After that they worked on drills to strengthen their team work and coordination.

"Although we only won half of our games, the squad gained the experience needed to be successful at the varsity level next year."

The long standing winning tradition continued throughout the 1987-88 year for the Varsity Wrestling squad. Coach Arvanis, who entered his 7th season as the head coach, blended a group of experienced varsity players and underclassmen into a fine team. The wrestlers ended the year with many dual meet wins and several individuals had excellent records.

This was a rebuilding year for the Panthers. Many weight classes were left vacant by last year's wrestlers who graduated. The underclassmen had to come up to the varsity level to fill these empty spots.

Wrestlers contributing the most to the squad this season were Brian Williams (Sr), Jake Fuller (Sr), Andy Larson (Jr), Joe Verlinden (Jr), Ruben Sandoval (Jr), and Kelcey Tingle (Soph). All of these wrestlers were in the lower to middle weight classes, leaving inexperience in the upper classes. These classes improved steadily as the season progressed.

Returning lettermen for the wrestling squad were Brad Dzekunskas, Andy Larson, Jamie Neff, Ruben Sandoval, Joe Verlinden, Brian Williams, Dominic Chavez, and Jake Fuller.

The 1987-88 Junior Varsity wrestling squad had an outstanding season. They placed first at the Cambridge Tournament and third at Pekin. Many wrestlers placed high in their weight classes, giving the team these excellent finishes at these tournaments. The team also had an excellent dual meet record.

Coach McNinch, the head JV coach, stated that the outlook for the Junior Varsity wrestling team who will move up to the Varsity level next year was positive.

Wrestlers who placed in the top three at the Pekin Tournament were Jamie Neff (2nd), Shay Cordes (3rd), Brad Dzekunskas (2nd), Eric Larson (1st), Matt Hart (3rd), Bob Chavez (1st), and Jason Olson (3rd).

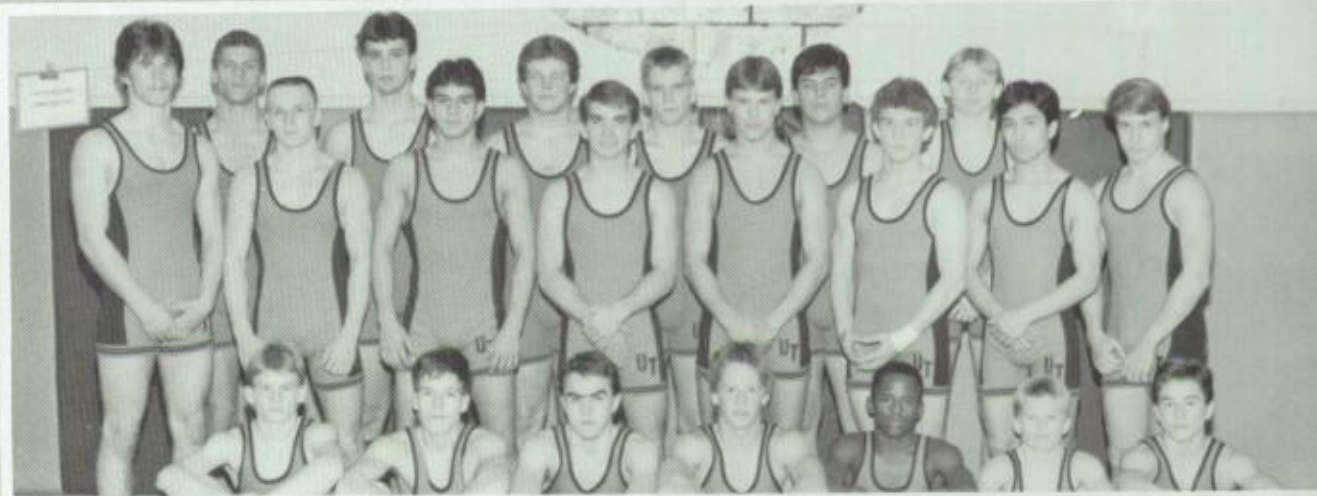

Coach McNinch stated that Eric Larson, Jamie Neff, and Brad Dzekunskas were the most valuable wrestlers to the Junior Varsity squad.

The Junior Varsity wrestling squad should be a big part of the Varsity squad next season and help the team again be important contenders in the Western Conference 6 during the 1988-89 season.

"The UT wrestling team has come a long way this year. The wrestlers that pushed the team along were Brian, Ruben, Andy, and Jake. Next year with the upcoming juniors, UT should have a strong team." -Jake Fuller

The freshmen and sophomores learned various techniques this year.

Younger wrestlers found out

The 1987-88 sophomore and freshmen wrestling squads finished their seasons with impressive records. The sophomore squad ended the year with several dual meet wins. The freshmen squad also had a great dual meet record in their first year of competition at the high school level.

The two teams practiced many long and hard hours after school to improve their wrestling techniques and to work on the basic fundamentals. They jumped rope and wrestled each other to improve their strength and flexibility.

The hard work gradually payed off as the season progressed. The freshmen and sophomore wrestling squads continued to get stronger and the wrestlers gained the confidence that was necessary to win. The team kept a positive attitude and worked with intensity and enthusiasm throughout the year. They realized that when they went to practice everyday and worked very hard they would improve and become very successful in their future years as part of the United Township wrestling program.

Although wrestling was based on individual effort most of the time, the wrestlers still needed a great deal of support and encouragement from their teammates. When they were out on the mat wrestling, they had greater success when they got advice from the coaches and from their fellow wrestlers.

The freshmen wrestling squad had many opportunities to wrestle various opponents throughout the wrestling season. They participated in the Bettendorf Invitational and also in the Wood Invitational. Along with several dual meets, these tournaments helped the wrestlers to experience different types of wrestling and different programs due to the variety of opponents from different schools.

The sophomore wrestlers also had many opportunities to wrestle various opponents throughout the season.

Several of the wrestlers participated in the Exchange Club Sophomore Tournament that was held here at UT. Outstanding sophomore wrestlers for the team were

Brad Dzekunskas, Jamie Neff and Kelcey Tingle. These

four wrestled at the varsity level throughout the season and were strong competitors.

Freshman Shay Cordes also wrestled successfully in the upper levels of the program for most of the year.

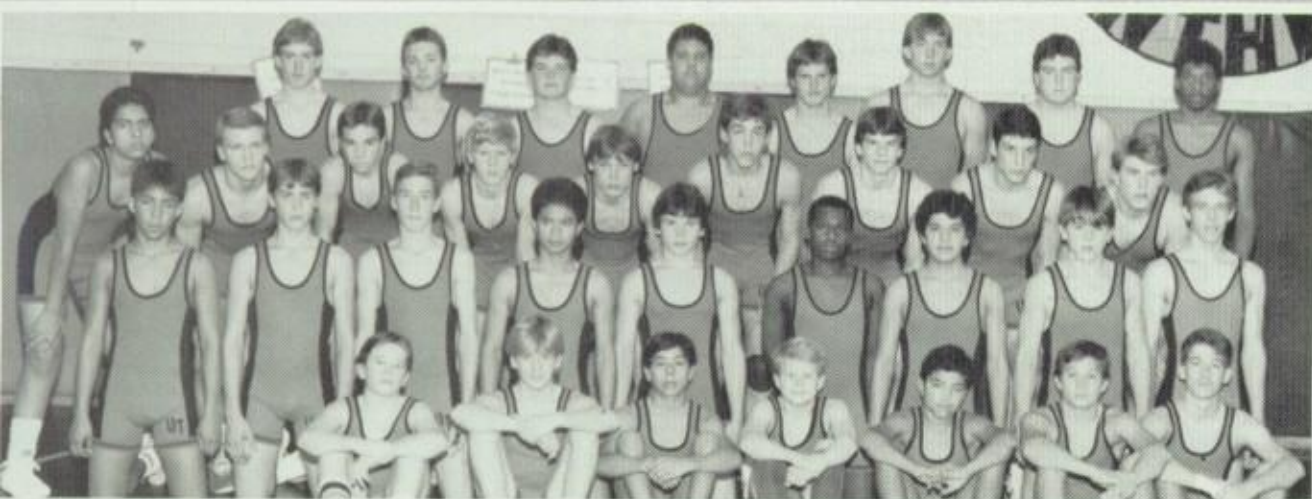

Coach McNinch stated that sophomores Jason Oliva and Tom Widger were the most improved wrestlers.

"This season has been very rewarding for the UT wrestling program. The sophomore and freshmen wrestlers have been steadily improving and several should be ready to compete successfully at the varsity level next year and continue the winning tradition." -Kelcey Tingle

Boys Track hoped to qualify

The 1987-88 United Township Boys Track team was looking forward to a better than average season this year, according to Coach Jim Wesselmann. The team practiced at south campus, after school, in the spring.

During practices the team lifted weights, ran, and swam. Each activity had a specific purpose.

The track team had 17 returning lettermen.

These lettermen were: Brad McCorkle, David Toliver, Todd Patterson, Chris Palmer, Art Fallon, Darrin Akers, Jason Branch, Oscar Scott, Chris Bernat, Craig Gelande, Tony Gonzales, Albert Isais, Pat Wendt, Lane Sawyer, Mike Barnett, Ross Jackson, Bob Chavez.

The team ended last years season with a record of 6 and 2 in dual meets. The team finished in the top three in all big meets. The team even finished first in two of those meets.

This years team was expected to do well in invitionals and was hoping to qualify in eight to ten events for the state meet.

Track is a sport with many different events. These events included: sprinting, hurdling distance, weights and, jumping.

Coach Wesselmann's outlook on this years team was, "We were a good dual meet team this year. We had good or excellent performers in almost all 18 events. We had a lot of depth in most events and a good blend of juniors and seniors. The team was extremely large team with over 70 members. This year we were working hard on the freshmen coming up.

Top underclassmen coming up this year included: David Sprouse, Mike Gelande, DJ Mumma, Rich Moore, Aaron Polite.

State performer Chris Palmer commented on going to state at such an early point in his track career, "Since it was my first time going down to state, I believe it was an learning experience.

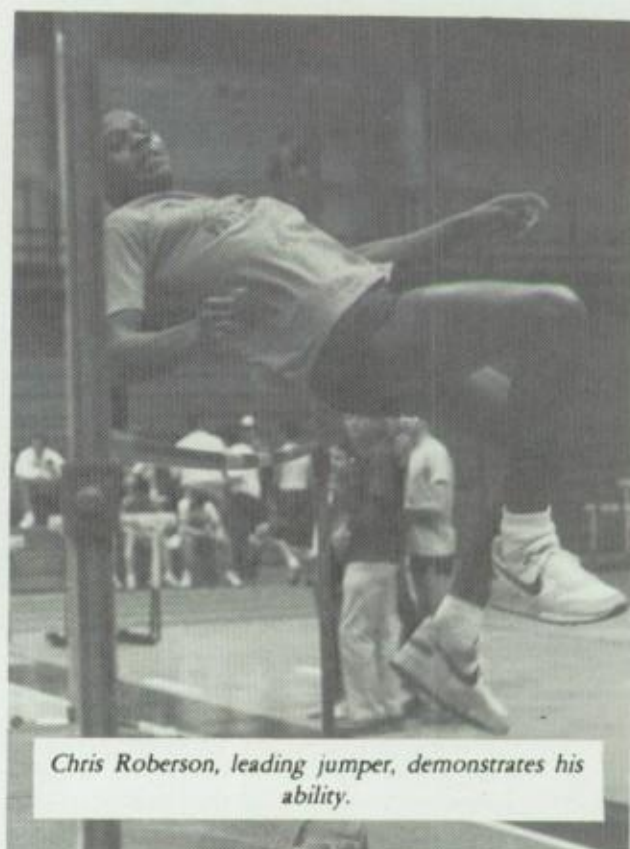

Next time that I go down to state I will be able to win."

Track is both a group and individual sport you run by yourself but it's the team score that wins the match. Brad McCorkle commented as track as a team sport, "Track is an individual sport as well as group. The team unity made us all closer as friends on the track as well as off."

"Last years track season had many high points and only one low point, sending only one person to the state meet instead of the whole team." -Brad McCorkle

Girls track had great expectations for the year! The team had much skill and potential.

Dorene Mohr rests after an event and prepares herself for her next race.

The 1987-88 United Township Girls track team was coached by Carlo Ferreri who entered his fourteenth year as coach. The team was assisted by Chris Craddick, Bob Feller-Larry Taylor, and Gary Phillips.

The team had many high expectations and they succeed well in fulfilling them. The team participated in many events. Some of these events were: 100 and 200 meter dash, 100 meter low hurdle, 400 meter relay, 800 meter medley relay, 800 meter run, long jump, high jump, shot put, discus, and others.

UT girl's track had forty talented girls and had few problems in handling competition. In fact, most of the girls track team would probably agree that competition was what track was all about and winning wasn't only a victory for United Township, but it was a personal victory for the member. Even with the teams most powerful competition, Rock Island, they kept high spirits and girls track members gave them a strong fight and finished quite well.

Sophomore Jenny Moffett explained why she enjoyed track. "In track you're not judged by your age, but by your ability. That's what was best about track. I liked being in track because with all the competition it pushed me to be the best."

The girls began training in late February. They were looking forward to a great season. They strived for excellence, and gained support quickly. The girls track team was anxious to start the year, as they were anxious to prove that they were the best. The team practiced long and hard every night from 3:15 to 5:00 at North Campus and Soule Bowl. On various nights they would work on strength by swimming in the pool at South Campus.

At the meets the girls expressed their desire to win and to be number one. But they showed one ability that went unmatched, their sportsmanship. It was a vital part in being a member of track.

Coach Ferreri said why he enjoyed coaching, "It was a challenge each year to develop young athletes and hopeful watch their progress for four years and maybe through college."

Coach Ferreri acknowledged Michele Williams, who was four year letterman. She won second in the long jump at state last year. Michele Williams commented, "I have participated the state track meet for the past three years. The first two years it was scary because all of the people were older and it seemed that they were so much better. My junior year was different. I set a goal for myself and I was determined not to be intimidated by the other jumpers. Before it was a thrill just getting there. Now the fun was on doing the best I could. At the meet everyone was so good and I could feel the pressure, most of which was self inflicted."

"I'm really glad and thankful that I was able to go to state. It's a great experience to compete against people from all over the state." - Michele Williams

The 1987-88 UT bowling team consisted of eight team members, in which five team members play in each meet. Amy Goodwin made the comment, "I went out for the bowling team because being on the team is fun. I really like bowling as a game." Jennifer Anderson said, "I enjoyed bowling. I was on the team last year and it was a lot of fun. So, I went out again this year." Mrs. Linda Wadsager, bowling coach, was pleased with her team this year.

Mrs. Wadsager said that the kind of training that was needed was a lot of practice. Mrs. Wadsager commented, "It helps to start at an early age to be able to throw the bowling ball where you want it to go." There were seven tournaments and sixteen matches altogether.

The bowling team practiced at Sammy G's Bowling Alley. Mrs. Wadsager has been coaching bowling for sixteen years. She said that the most interesting part about bowling was trying to better your own score. One skill that was mainly needed for bowling was coordination.

The bowling season started November 25 and ended February 12. Mrs. Wadsager replied that the UT bowling team had improved throughout the season.

According to the coach, the toughest competition was Sterling and Abington.

During the season, Janaelle Burkett was honored by the Daily Dispatch for her bowling achievements.

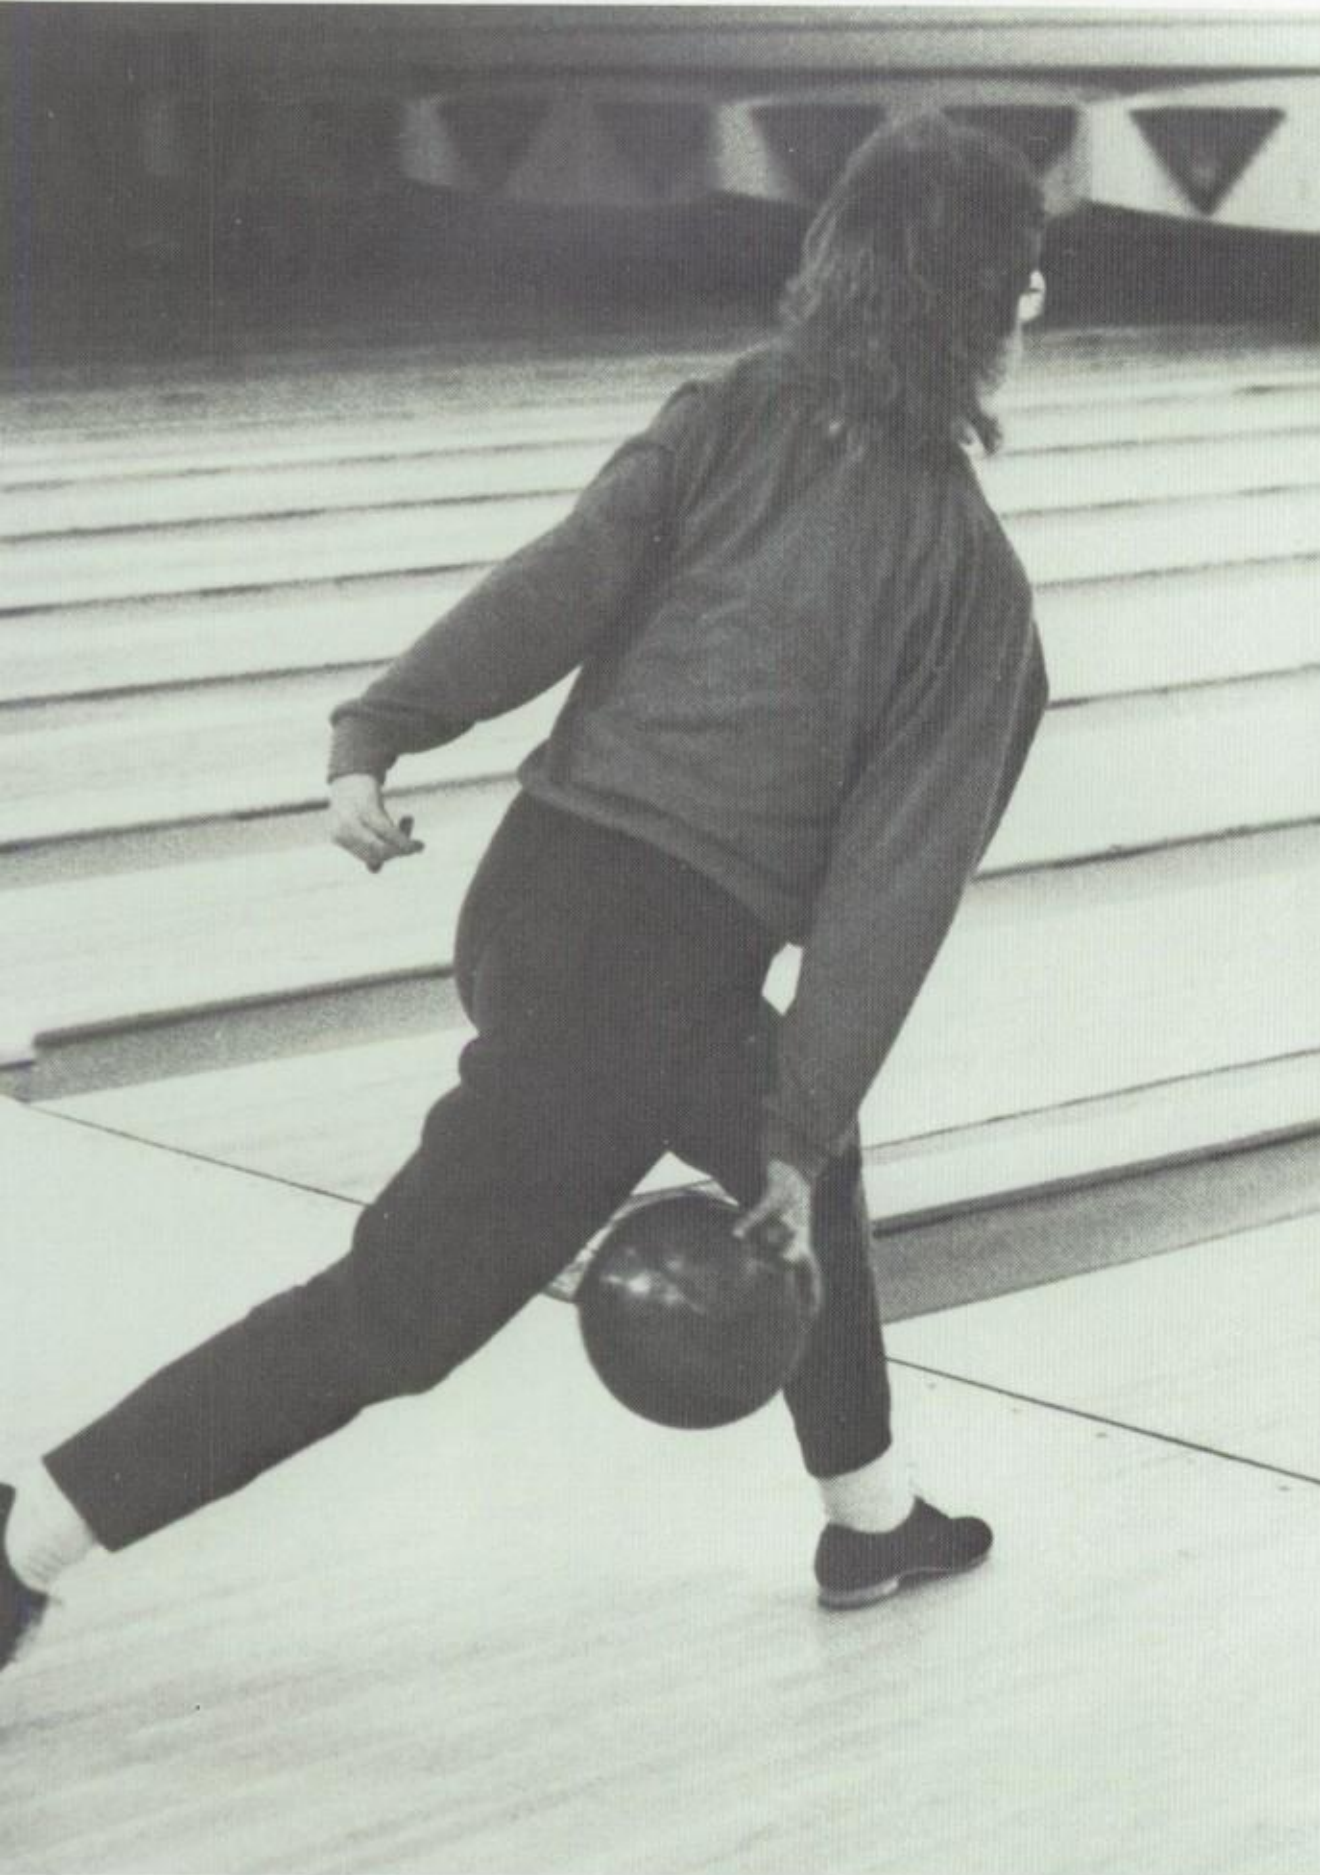

"This bowling season was tremendous. Ms. Wad was real proud of us when we took first place at Chillicothe. It was my best year and my most memorable one. Thanks Wad for everything. We love you." - Teresa Steinfield

BASEBALL

The 1987-88 United Township Boys Baseball carried on their practices at South Campus after school in the spring, under the coaching of Craig Manwaring.

"Coming off a very good season of 26-8 was tough, but they set goals just as high in '88 as in '87. The teams goals included being a top contender for the Western Big 6 Conference, which is one of the toughest in the state," stated Mr. Manwaring.

The team had six returning lettermen: Brian Schneider, Wayne Vittori, Corey Foltz, Jamie Prickett, Ehab Siam and, Rick McDanel. The team had a better defense and team speed this year but was not expected to hit as many homeruns, but will be able to get the runs by other means.

After loosing twelve to graduation, Corey Foltz said, "I played a lot more this year and I felt more involved with the team."

Starters for the team were Wayne Vittori-first base, Brian Schneider-second base, Justin Martel-third base, Erik Smith-short stop, Ehab Siam, Corey Foltz, Sean Mizlo-outfield, Edson Hoffman-pitcher, Mike Reddish, and Alan Michalek-catchers.

SOFTBALL

The 1987-88 Softball team under the coaching of Mr. McNinch practiced in at both campuses after school this spring. The team had a, "wealth of young talent to look forward to." McNinch.

This young talent involved Lori Harris, and Louanne Shletter. The team's toughest competition in this conference was Moline and Geneseo.

The team came off the best season in school history with a 18 and 8 record.

The team only lost three starters to graduation. This year they hoped to repeat what they accomplished the previous year.

McNinch stated that the goals of the season were to be one of the top four teams in the state and the Western Big 6 champions.

Team captains were Sheila Nahrgang (senior) and Cheryl McFarland (junior).

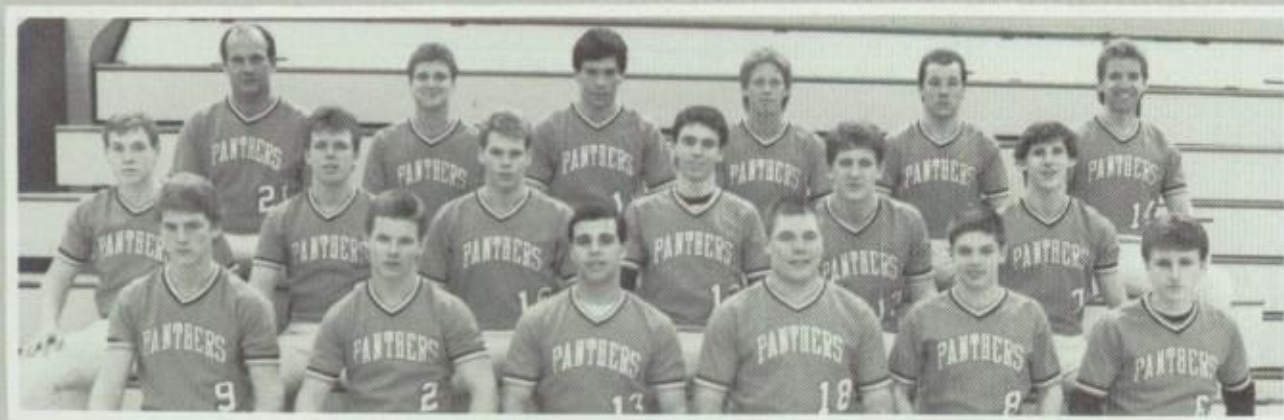

"Rock Island and Galesburg will have very good teams and we will have to play very well to beat them. With only six seniors returning from last year, we will need a great contribution from our juniors." - Hab Siam

Trainers help athletes

TRAINERS

UT's trainers liked to help Panther athletes after school, during practice, and at the games, matches, and meets.

During the first summer of their training, student trainers must go to an Athletic Training Clinic. Students learned the skills and techniques behind basic first aid. Attendance was important. Janet Holland, the head trainer, exclaimed she didn't like it when the trainers said, "it wasn't their job!"

During the football season, trainers put in approximately 200 hours. The winter season cut the hours down.

Miss Holland is a graduate of Iowa State University and also was employed by the Rock Valley Physical Therapist Group.

There were only two seniors who have been trainers all four years, Lisa Henson and Stacy Bartels. "They have helped out a lot when I'm not here," explained Miss Holland.

WRESTLERETTES

The 1987-88 wrestlerettes consisted of 4 seniors, 13 juniors, 15 sophomores, and 11 freshmen. Mrs. Nancy Polios entered her 4th year as adviser. She enjoyed heading the program because, "The girls are a lot of help at meets; they keep things running smoothly. Because they have all been so cooperative, it made my job a lot of fun!"

Wrestlerettes had many jobs, ranging from helping score at home meets, keeping coach's score at away meets, selling programs, and bopping referees.

The wrestlerettes also cared for the wrestlers. They baked cookies and cakes for them. Wrestlerettes also made banners to promote school spirit for wrestling.

This year the wrestlerettes sold "Pin 'em Panthers" pins and candy bars to help with future wrestlerette needs and to help fund the Booster Club.

"Being a wrestlerette gives you an opportunity to help the wrestling program. This year as wrestlerettes we contributed a lot to the program." - Tracy Vaughn

Cheerleaders excite the crowd

The 1987-1988 United Township High School Panther Football Cheerleaders met twice a week at the South Campus gym. The squad practiced for approximately three hours. They take time to help each other practice, especially on the routines they needed to perfect so that they could cheer the 1987-1988 Panther Football Players onto victory!

It took a lot of hard work to be a Panther Cheerleader. They had to be willing to stand out in the cold and rain, be supportive, be a very hard worker, be able to work long, dedicated hours, and be able to know the right thing to say and do!

The Cheerleaders worked together as a squad, not individually. To keep up the school spirit and continue team support were some of the biggest goals for the squad members.

"It was exciting; it gave me something to look forward to besides getting up in the morning, going to school and getting homework," commented Mary Kay Sheley.

No matter what the results of the game, the cheerleaders' smiles shone through and showed us there was a next time for a Panther victory!

"This year cheerleaders went to camp over the summer and learned a bunch of new cheers. We all got along real well and became close friends. We tried our hardest to get the Panther spirit fired up. We had a lot of fun with our coach, Ann-she was a great help!" Michelle Sunken exclaimed.

The United Township High School cheerleaders always had the crowd going with crazy cheers like "Panthers are number one and don't you forget it," and "Panther Power!"

"We've all had a lot of fun cheering together this year. We worked well together and loved to cheer the Panthers on to victory. At the games, the rowdy crowd and the band are a very important part of our school spirit. The success of our football team this year was been tremendous," commented Diane Faramelli.

"Cheerleaders were responsible for school spirit but the fans helped out a great deal. From the first game to the state play off game one could tell that UT had a lot of pride in our school." -Alycia Bentley

Practice does make perfect!

The 1987-1988 United Township boys' basketball cheerleaders practiced every Tuesday and Thursday from 3:30 to 4:30.

There were two separate squads of cheerleaders. There was a freshmen-sophomore squad that cheered at the sophomore basketball games. There was also a varsity cheerleading squad which consisted of juniors and seniors. They cheered at the varsity basketball games. The varsity cheerleading squad consisted of seven members and the sophomore-freshmen squad consisted of six members. The fresh-soph captain was Debbie Ryerson. Mrs. Marriott, stated that "this year's squads were basically the same as last year's squads."

Some of the requirements of being a cheerleader were to have some acrobatic skills, mainly to concentrate on a back flip. They also had to do one basketball cheer at the tryouts. It was necessary for them to make a cheer of their own as well as cheering with a group of others. Three different jumps such as a split jump or a stag jump were also a requirement. Having a good personality for getting along with others was always helpful for a cheerleader.

The basketball cheerleaders also did volunteer projects such as the Rock-a-thon they helped with last year. Sometimes they performed cheers on the radio before a basketball game. During the summer they attended a cheerleading camp to improve their cheering abilities and learn some new cheers.

The cheerleaders had to be aware of the chances of injury. It was necessary to be very careful when doing any kind of acrobatics and to be especially careful while doing a pyramid or any kind of formation of that type.

One thing that set the Panther cheerleaders apart from other schools was their different and unique type of cheering. In order for the basketball cheerleaders to achieve their varsity letter, they had to attend all of the games and weekly practices.

Mrs. Marriott stated, "The goal for the year was to get more students involved in the games." Student and crowd participation was a very important part of having a victorious basketball game.

Mrs. Marriott also stated that "the cheerleaders were easy and fun to coach." She also stated, "It was a pretty good year and the girls worked pretty well together."

"I enjoyed working with everyone on the squad. We put in a lot of time and effort and it's not as easy as everyone thinks it is." -Tory Jacobs

Cheerleading adds excitement

The 1987-88 wrestling cheerleaders gave their best to help support the wrestlers. They provided extra encouragement to both the wrestlers and spectators. They were coached by first year coach Darlene Calvert. Miss Calvert said, "This is my first year as cheerleading coach and it has been very enjoyable. The girls worked hard at practice and seem to really enjoy what they do." She also served as volleyball coach.

Practice has proved to be very tough for the cheerleaders. They were held on Tuesday and Thursday, after school, from 3:15 to 4:30. During that time the cheerleaders' determination and concentration were a must. Routines had to be perfect, so rhythm and timing required the most concentration. It was very difficult work and took a lot of time and effort to get the cheers perfected.

One of many advantages of being a wrestling cheerleader was to hug the victorious wrestler and "pin 'em" with a white baby pin. The baby pin represented a win and it was a very big honor to receive one. "Pin 'em to the mat" was the theme of this year's wrestling season. Posters were hung throughout the school, and each wrestler had one of his own on his locker. This was one of the ways the cheerleaders supported the wrestling team.

There were six members on the wrestling cheerleading squad. One senior, Mindy Hall, and five juniors, Rachael Chavez, Stephanie Imel, Sarah Hoff, Mary Kay Sheley, and Julie Johnson.

"I really loved wrestling cheerleading. You could be as loud and wild as you wanted. Junior varsity and varsity squads were closer than ever. Being a cheerleader was harder than people gave us credit for. It was not just jumping up and down when one of our guys pins their opponent, it was the ability to learn the cheers and your performance. Teachers and students expected a lot out of you. Each year was different, but this year especially because I moved up to varsity. The spotlight hits you this time. We also made the hoop for varsity to jump through and put up signs to show the guys we back them up!" Rachael Chavez stated.

The squad attended cheerleading camp during the summer at Illinois State University in Normal, Illinois. The camp lasted three days.

"It's been an exciting season and we've learned a lot through many hours of practices and meets. It's been really fun." -Mindy Hall

1987-1988 UTHS National Honor Society

Sophomores become part of NHS

The 1987-1988 United Township National Honor Society had approximately sixty members. The members are chosen according to their leadership qualities, scholarship, services to the school and numerous other outside activities. The members are usually made up of the top thirteen percent of their class.

Under the guidance of Mr. Jim Smith the National Honor Society met once a month to plan activities. A few of the activities that the National Honor Society have participated in have been caroling, organizing dances, planning car washes and many other fund raising activities.

This years' National Honor Society president was Beth Cornelius. Other National Honor Society officers were Michele Mulcahey, Julie Tyler and Bertha Gutierrez.

A change that might come as a surprise is the National Honor Society's decision to allow sophomores to be selected to join the National Honor Society. In previous years only juniors and seniors have been eligible.

Being a National Honor Society member is a memorable experience and a fun one. One National Honor Society member said that "It was fun to sing Christmas carols at many of the area's senior citizen homes."

Honor Students

experience a variety of clubs at UT

Junior Rotarians was open to both boys and girls with a very high grade point and who are academically involved. The committee tried to combine scholarships and involvement with the whole school when selecting its members for the club. But also, the students must exert a positive attitude.

The students, once invited, visited the Rotary for one month. The Rotary had a policy which was to honor all top students. The Rotary was an experience for those students that excelled academically and showed interest within their school.

The 87-88 Exchange Club students were honored by the Exchange Club as youth of the month.

The Exchange Club was a community service organization to serve youths in Hampton, Silvis, and East Moline communities. The Exchange Club was non-profit organization where the members met twice a month. They held fund-raisers to honor the youth of the month, and the young citizenship of grade school students. The money made from their fund-raisers was reinvested back into the Exchange Club's account.

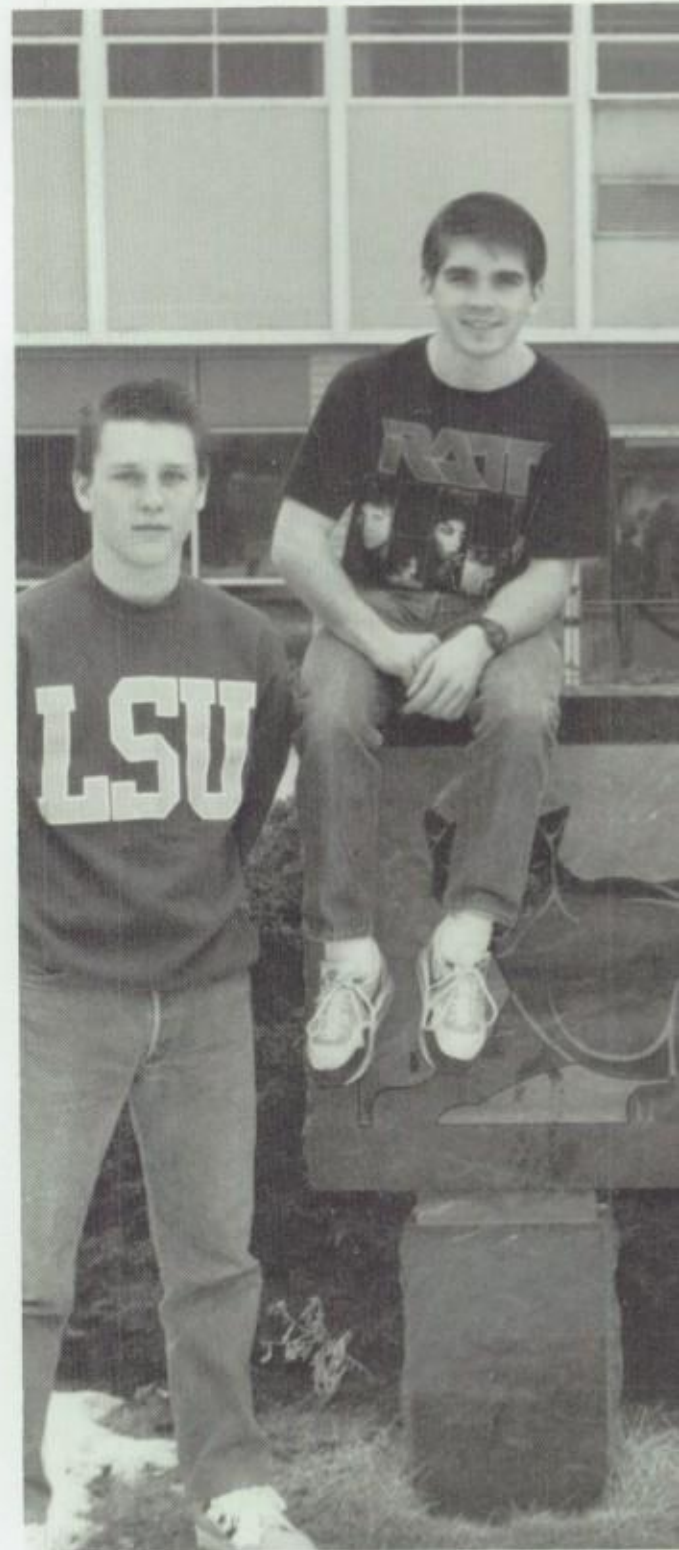

The 1987-1988 Spanish National Honor Society was a group of selected students who maintained a 3.8 grade-point average, or above. The students also were to be in their third or fourth year of Spanish.

The students met during second semester, twice a month. The Spanish National Honor Society was a chapter of the National Honor Society which was sponsored by the Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese.

In order to become a member of the Spanish Honor Society, the student must have an attitude to achieve more in the language of Spanish. Also they must be an inspiration to other students in the Spanish language. Finally the student must attend the initiation ceremony.

Meetings consisted of choosing activities. They chose trips to art-related events and participated in contests of music, poetry, and crossword puzzles. If members wanted to, they could submit articles to Albricias magazine.

Mrs. Keller would like to have more participation in third and fourth year Spanish. The students needed more encouragement in order for them to join the organization.

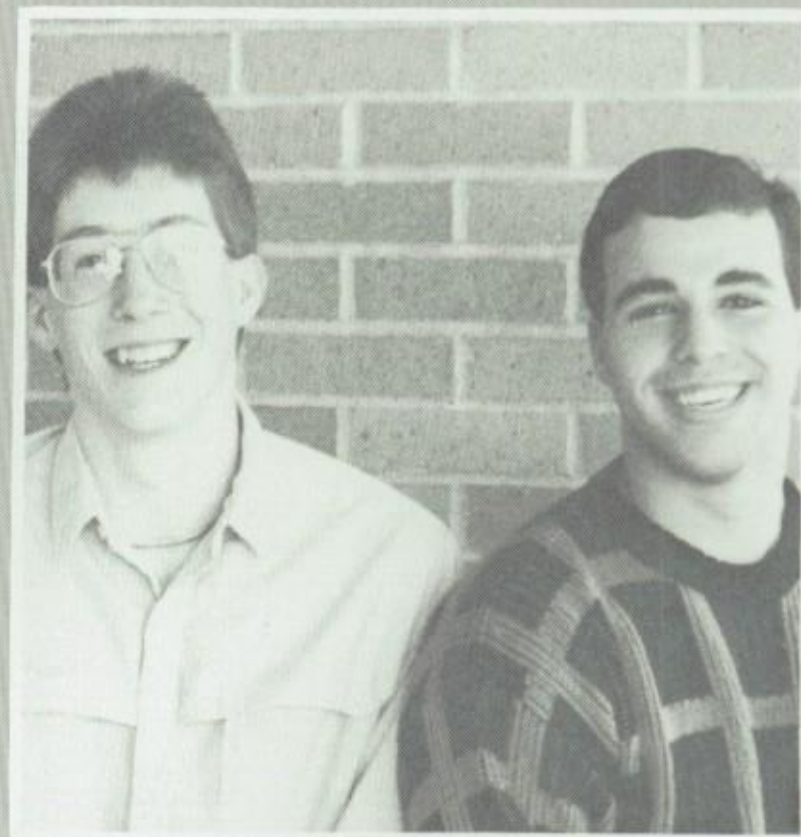

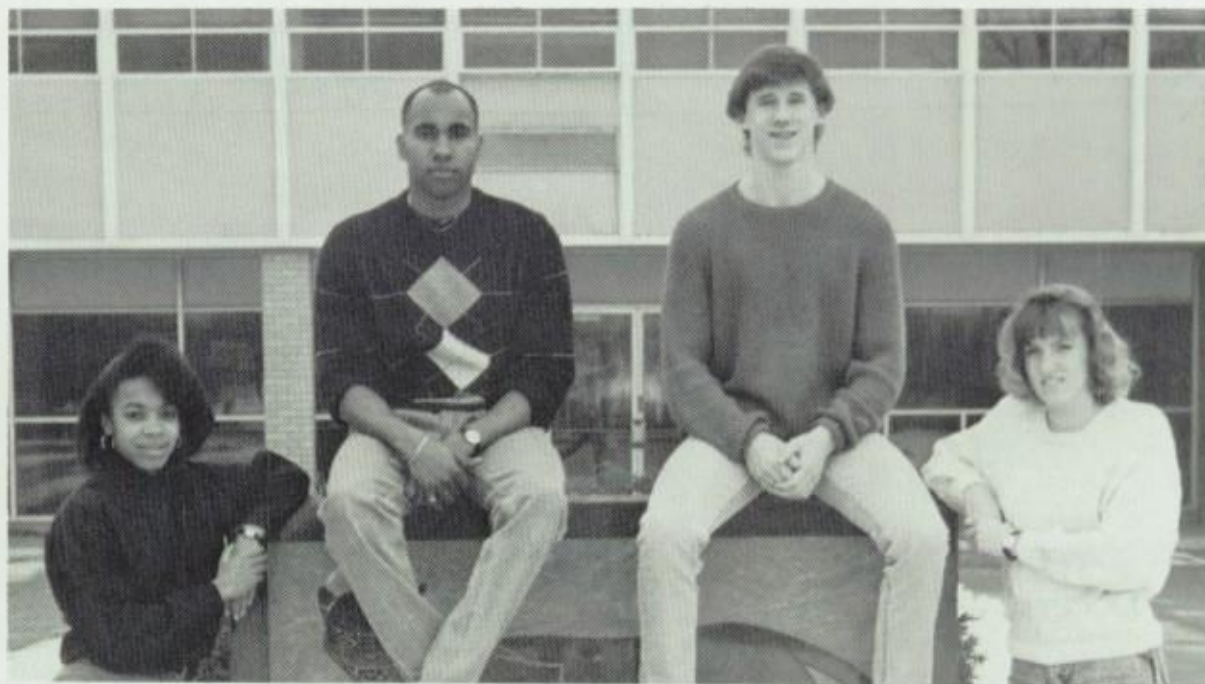

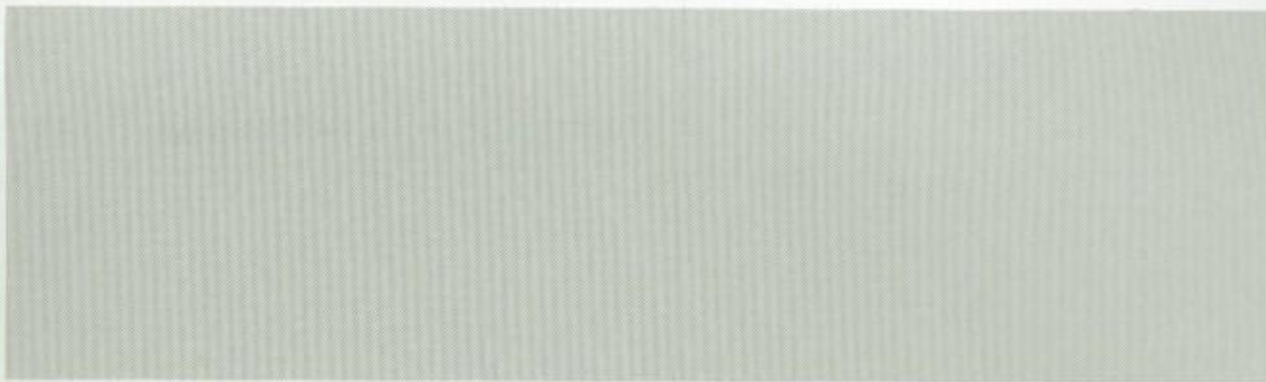

Junior Rotarians are Scott Wliks, Brian Williams, Doyle Stewart, and Pat Wendt.

Mike Gillespie becomes new advisor!

They build pride

This year the 1987-1988 Lettermen's Club was under the supervision of Mr. Mike Gillespie. This year was Mr. Gillespie's first year of heading the Lettermen's Club and comments on wanting to do this forever, or as long as possible. Mr. Gillespie currently was also one of the physical education teachers and he was also the boys basketball coach at South Campus.

The members of the Lettermen's Club attended a meeting once every two weeks at the South Campus in room 140. The members discussed many different issues, and they also assigned workers for the games, during their meetings. During the 1987-1988 school year, the lettermen members raised their needed money by sponsoring a few dances, having a coat check at the games, and by selling school year calendars.

To be a member of the lettermen's club, one had to have a lettermen's sweater and a varsity letter on it at which they earned from some sport they previously had participated in.

This year the lettermen's club consisted of four officers. These officers were president, Senior Pat Wendt, vice president, Senior Kent Bates, secretary, Senior David Toliver, and treasurer, Senior Mike Spencer.

Mr. Gillespie commented that lettermen members "Build pride within our varsity athletes!"

Paula Garrison commented that "Lettermen's Club gives a person the ability to be recognized as an athlete, and also shows the person's pride in their school!"

More organized

Workshops teach leadership abilities.

This year's Student Council proved itself to be very efficient. "Student Council was a lot of fun and a exciting club to be involved in. This year Student Council was more organized and we learned knew things to do in order to raise money for Council," commented Maria Panousis.

Members found themselves being advised by Mr. Diaz and under the leadership of Brent Pregracke-president, David Toliver-vice president, Denny Fisher-secretary, and Annette Lopez-treasurer. Students voted on these officers last spring in a general school election. Before one of these members could be elected to office, they had to have a petition signed by three teachers and fifty students. Then during election week posters were hung and buttons were handed out. Then each class voted for four officers and ten delegates; then the whole student body voted for four officers that ran the whole council.

The fundraisers that Student Council organized for the year were two Hawaiian dances, flower sales, Homecoming, Sadies, candy sales, balloon sales, raffle for bonfire, and also another dance.

The money they raised was put towards these things: message boards for Letterman's, hunger drive, Toys for Tots, camps for Student Council members and members of the student body, a movie assembly on stress, and memorial funds.

Student Council meetings were controlled by Brent Pregracke with a set agenda. Then Denny Fisher went through roll call, and Annette Lopez gave a treasurer's report. Then Council went over old business and went over the new. Lastly, there was a motion for adjournment; then Brent Pregracke stated the adjournment.

Council was involved in a variety of activities. There were many different schools in their district and each month one school had a hospitality night that everyone tried to get involved in. There were also district meetings that anyone was able to attend. Brent Pregracke was district president also. Once a year Augustana College had a salute to teens week and invited the Student Council members to attend a day of workshops. they did seminars to increase their leadership ability.

Taking on goals

Ski Club, S.A.D.D. both have exciting events

S.A.D.D., Students Against Driving Drunk, was a nation wide organization that tried to make the public aware of the dangers of drinking and driving. There were around 15 to 20 members in the United Township 1987-1988 S.A.D.D. chapter during the year. Anyone and everyone was encouraged to join the club.

The first S.A.D.D. meeting was first organized in the year 1981. The advisors said they would like to keep the S.A.D.D. organization as long as possible if not forever. The members of S.A.D.D. wanted to do more activities to make the public aware of the dangers of drinking and driving. The problem with having a lot of activities was that there was not enough funds. Without the funds the organization could not have the activities to raise the needed money.

This year the advisers were Mr. Zesiger and Mr. Ritter. There were no qualifications needed to join the club.

S.A.D.D. was made up of students against drunk driving. The S.A.D.D. club was against drinking and driving and not just drinking alone. Everyone in the club tried to enforce this with their close friends and loved ones.

The 87-88 Ski Club was very successful under Mr. Gary Pregracke, Mr. Reggie Burnough, and Mr. Doug Strand.

Club members held meetings every two weeks. Sometimes members were fortunate enough to hold meetings at Snow Star Ski Area in Andalusia. During these meetings, plans were made for future ski trips, and ski videos were viewed.

The club took many trips to such areas as Cascade Mountain in Wisconsin, Sundown Ski Resort in Iowa, and Chestnut Mountain Resort in Illinois. Ski Club was also involved in the Explorers Group. Through this group, club members were able to meet people from other ski clubs at other schools.

One of the most gratifying moments of this year's season was the Club's involvement in The Special Olympics, held at Snow Star.

Another highlight was the opportunity for the Ski Club members to film a video on skiing at Snow Star.

"The Ski Club was a super opportunity for students who like to ski. It's really neat for our members to meet other club members from other schools," stated Mr. Pregracke.

The Band Performed

During Games and at UT Concerts

The 1987-1988 United Township High School Band program began the year with excellence under the supervision of Mr. David Maccabee, director of the Band program as of two years.

The band program consisted of the freshmen band, the concert/marching band and the jazz band. The freshmen band was made up of all current freshmen students, the concert/marching band contained sophomores, juniors, and seniors, and the jazz band was open to any member who wished to join.

Both the freshmen band and the concert/marching band performed an annual Christmas concert, a mid-winter concert, and a Spring concert. Individual members attended the solo ensemble contest at the Geneseo High School with members from both the UT bands and the Geneseo band.

Also during the year individuals could attend the St. Ambros Honor band, a parade and field show contest, and a concert competition.

During October the concert/marching band attended the Maquoketa parade and field show competition. The band members performed in the parade show early in the morning and in the field show later in the afternoon. After a long day the band brought home a first place trophy in parade and the fifth place in the field show.

Three members of the band were also members of the All-State band. These members were Carl Kraemer, Lynn Stukart, and Stacy Kohn. These members practiced on one Thursday afternoon and they auditioned later in the same afternoon. A few days later they performed at the Peoria Civic Center.

During the 1988 mid-winter band concert, the concert/marching band performed Fantasia and Rondo with a guest soloist, Mr. Aris Chavez, Professor of the clarinet at Illinois State University. Mr. Chavez has played the clarinet for 36 years, and toured around playing with high school bands.

The U.T.H.S. Band was needed throughout the school; the football team needed the band to get the crowd going and the basketball team needed them for the same reason.

Dyer's last year

Choir students go to State Contest

The 1987-1988 United Township Choir attended the State Music Contest held in Sterling, Illinois. All of the students who wanted to attend the contest were able to go, and compete against other area high school choir students who also went for the competition.

This year's choir consisted of three major groupings. These three groups were the Concert Choir, the Sophomore Chorale and the Soprano/Alto Choir. The three choirs gave about 25 to 30 concerts combined, during the school year. This year the choirs performed the Spring Concert, and the Christmas Concert they gave every year before Christmas break. This the Christmas Concert was canceled from snow, but was later made up.

Everyday the Concert Choir practiced during third hour. They went over warm-up scales and music for their up-coming performances. Mr. Dyer taught the Sophomore Chorale, during fourth hour and the Soprano/Alto Choir during seventh period. All the choirs practiced daily to better themselves for up-coming concerts, but in-school practice was not all that was needed. The students had to do their own practice at home to learn their piece of music. In order for a student to be in choir, the student had to have the desire to learn how to sing better with the right tone. In choir this year, students learned how to sing various different types of music, to reach different pitches, and should enjoy doing these things.

The 1987-1988 school year was Mr. Donald Dyer's final year of teaching choir at U.T.H.S. He retired as Choir Director after twenty-one years of teaching at United Township High School. "This year and all the others have been a happy time, filled with many wonderful and talented students. I will miss them all," commented Mr. Dyer when asked to sum up his career at U.T. He has enjoyed all the students who have cared about the music they sang, wanted to learn how to sing better, and who wanted to grow musically. Mr. Dyer stated that he would miss all his students, and most of all, his friends on the faculty, that he has worked with for many years. This year Mr. Dyer commented that his students in the Concert Choir were a wonderful and talented group of students. This year the Concert Choir consisted of about 20 seniors and the remaining students were juniors.

Jazz Band/Orchesis

Set the beat for United Township

The 1987-1988 United Township High School Jazz Band, according to Mr. Maccabee, the director, "Outstanding . . . Better than I expected!"

This year the group consisted of 19 members. Each section of the Jazz Band had strong players. In fact, according to Mr. Maccabee, all members of the group are exceptional musicians. Each member was different in his own way. For instance, the trombone section had more depth. The saxophone and rhythm sections both had young musicians, but were very talented.

The U.T. Jazz Band performed in contests at the Illinois State University and Millikin University. They also performed at Farmington High School. They also performed a Jazz Night in April.

The group met throughout the year on Monday and Thursday evenings at 7. Many members of the Jazz Band also were in Jazz Lab, which met each morning as a class at 7.

Summing up the year, the Jazz Band proved to be a big success and had many accomplishments this year. All the members of the Jazz Band played entertaining music to keep the audience alive.

During 1987-88 the Orchesis dance class consisted of 18 girls who practiced each day during eighth hour under the direction of Miss Naidine D'Angelo.

As has been the case of the group for the last few years, their purpose was to prepare dance routines to perform at two of UT's boys basketball games and at one of UT's girls basketball games. In addition, they presented a Spring Show. However, performance was optional for the girls; some members of the class participated in the practices only.

The girls also sponsored two out-of-school workshops in Rock Island.

The first Orchesis class was formed in 1968 from a modern dance unit. At that time, 24 senior girls, under the direction of Miss Mary Ann Hall, were mostly interested in the art of self-expression. This group performed at assemblies, basketball games, and in a spring concert.

The 1987-88 version of the group operated from some of the same objectives of the original group and carries on some of the same traditions. One of the differences, though, is that now Orchesis is a class available for both girls and boys.

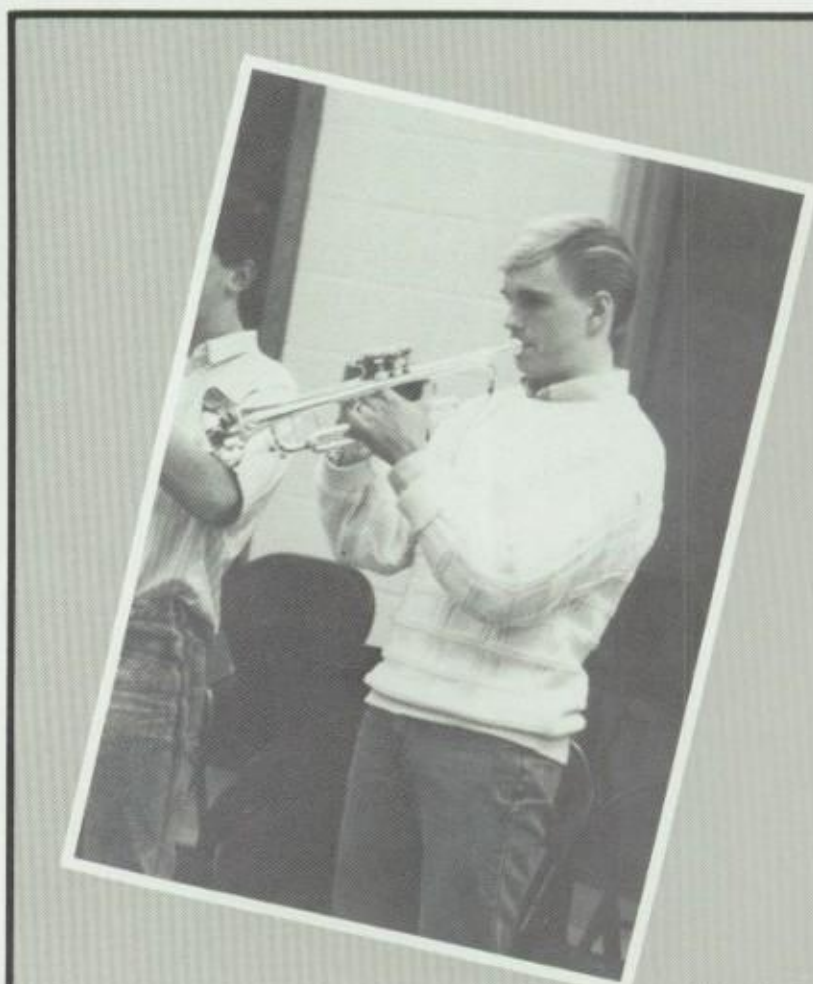

Ken Erwin and Dan Ryerson are members of the saxophone section of Jazz Band.

The world's a stage for Players

Playing the role

United Township's Panther Players were responsible for another year of play production during the course of the 1987-88 school year.

Early in the year, the group produced the musical, "Godspell," directed by Mrs. Kay O'Brien. The student director of "Godspell" was senior Julie Tyler. The musical was first presented at St. Anne's for St. Anne's students, as well as at United Township High School for UT students, and later at the high school for an audience composed mostly of adults. The production was a string of parables, which was preceded by a short pre-show designed to help the audience better understand the musical.

In late March, the Panther Players became involved in preparing two one-acts: "What Every Woman Knows" and "Skin of Our Teeth." The two were for the annual contest play and were also presented for the College Preparatory English classes at South Campus. Mr. Robert Hanske was the director, and, once again, senior Julie Tyler served, once again, filled the position of student director.

Cathy Lawry, a junior who portrayed "Maggie" in "What Every Woman Knows," stated, "We're doing two different plays this year, but they're very similar. We'll tie them together so they won't seem so separate. Of her character, she said, "My character is, in a way, a victim of circumstance. She really loves her husband, but he falls in love with someone else, and there's really nothing she can do about it. She handles it surprisingly well. The problem is resolved by the end of the play, though."

Jason Coram, also a junior, had this to say of the experience of participating in the contest play: "It's a competitive experience that is something more than any sport." Jason's character in "What Every Woman Knows" was John Shand, a man who was perceived as conceited and concerned mainly about himself.

Funding to cover the cost of production was obtained through ticket sales.

Any student may participate in Panther Players, an organization which emphasizes not only the acting onstage, but the work that is necessary backstage.

The Key returns!

School and student organized

Time: afterschool, 3 P.M. and weekends. Place: Graphic Arts room. Not the Twilight Zone, not Six Flags, but Key time, the time when Key staffers worked on the fourteen issues of the newspaper produced throughout the year. Through hard work and dedication, the Key staff put out a newspaper.

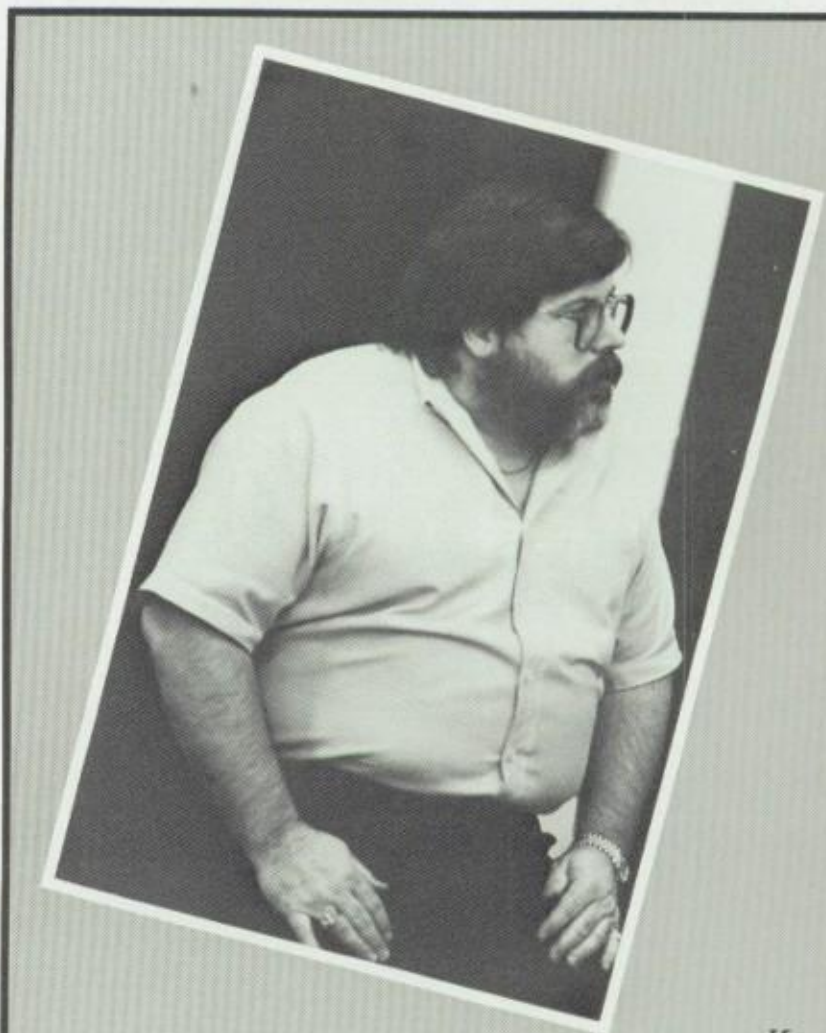

After a year without a newspaper, UT students experienced its return. The paper went to press in the Graphic Arts room and was student-organized; therefore the students did all or most of the work.

The newspaper was printed on a monthly basis, but it also varied due to the holidays experienced throughout the year. The Key was distributed through the office. The publication hoped to be self sufficient so that publication wouldn't cost the school anything. Approximately for each issue that was printed, it cost $108. In return, the staff met the costs by selling advertisements to local businesses.

Ideas for the articles were thought of by asking students what they thought was going on. There was a broad spectrum to cover, so the staff also sat down and brainstormed ideas. The staff met out of school on an as necessary basis, such as for putting stories into the computers. Mr. Knox and the staff members worked late into the weekends to publish an issue.

The advisors were Harold Knox and Mary Otto. Editor-in-chief was Sandy Cartwright, but the position changed throughout the year. The position was talked over by the advisors as who had the qualifications, aptitude, and came in the most often to work on the paper.

Mrs. Otto made the statement, "I enjoyed working with the Key staffers. They are good kids and they enjoyed what they do. I felt that they learned something."

1987-1988 Speech Club!!!

Speaking in terms of speaking

"What I really liked the most about being on the Speech Club team was meeting all of the new interesting and fascinating people that I met during the year at competitive meets. Being able to talk a lot helped me feel more comfortable around a crowded atmosphere," commented sophomore Heather Jensen, member of the 1987-1988 United Township Speech Club.

The members of the team learned that the club could be educational as well as an excellent chance to meet many new friends and other people. The members spent many hours of concentration to prepare them to speak to people they never met.

The speech club helped develop the members' ability to analyze their problems and other people's problems as well. They were able to think and listen to problems critically, express their own problems, and understand public affairs. They were also given an opportunity to travel and to compete for medals and trophies. The members of Speech Club could participate in such categories as original comedy, extemp speaking, humorous duet acting, special occasion speaking, declamation, original oratory, and radio speaking.

The club met with Mrs. Sederstrom, the director of the Speech Club for two years, on the first Tuesday of every month. Although they had group meetings, individuals met after school to practice their own events. The speech club prepared for meets that they would eventually attend around the entire state of Illinois.

The Speech Club officers for the 1987-1988 school year were president, senior Leslie Powell; vice president, senior Bertha Gutierrez; treasurer, sophomore Janel Sandoval; and sophomore Lane Powell acted as the north campus representative for the club.

When asked what it was about Speech Club that made her want to be a member, Leslie Powell said, "I think it's a good experience to meet people from other schools and it gives you courage to speak in front of large groups. It aids to your overall self-confidence and makes you less self-conscious. It is a good feeling to know you've achieved your goals and it's nice to earn medals and trophies for participation at meets."

DE, OO, Close-Up

U.T.H.S. students get involved

The D.E. program was made up of students who were interested in learning about how a business was run. The student learned the basics of how the business was operated inside and out. They were also taught how to start their own business once out of school.

The students received a solid background in the business field which could lead to promotion in a large company.

The money made by the club during the year was spent for a employer-employee banquet.

The 1987-1988 Office Occupations program enabled students to enroll in the organizational class and made it possible for each student to work in office-related jobs which the organization helped each student find.

The Office Occupations group held many fund raising events during the year, like dinner and luncheon banquets, state tests on learned business skills, fieldtrips, and to end the year they held an employer appreciation banquet for students and their new employers.

Close-Up was a program founded in 1972. The Close-Up program gave several hundred students the chance to get together and visit Washington D.C. to meet with government leaders. According to Mr. Schmidt, "By last year the program had expanded to accommodate almost 25,000 students."

United Township High School students participated throughout the week of March 13th through the 19th. Only juniors and seniors could participate in the Close-Up program. In order for the students to participate the students conducted bake sales and held dances to raise the $851.00 needed for their trip to Washington, D.C..

The students went to see the nation's capital in a way that ordinary tourists could not. They found out more about the capital of the United States than others did and saw what really what happened in the capitol. The term Close-up stood for: Analyzing the United States government first hand or close-up.

Mr. Schmidt commented that he has never had any problems and that, "Every student that I have taken on the Close-Up trip have been very interested in the program and responsible."

Students Learned

Important Skills in ECHO and HERO

The 1987-1988 Home Economics Related Occupations organizational program consisted of 47 hard working members. The members gained many hard and long hours of on-the-job training in food services, child care and many other areas. These other areas of study would be a big help for each of the students in the future when they finally entered the real world of jobs.

H.E.R.O. conducted several money raising activities throughout the school year in order for them to earn money for an educational fieldtrip the students took at the end of the school year. A portion of the money the students earned was used for an appreciation gift which they then gave to the staff of employees.

Mrs. Truelsen has been the advisor of the Home Economics Related Occupations group and has been responsible for all of the valuable information each of the students received. Mrs. Truelsen has taught H.E.R.O. for years and says she enjoys it.

Once again during the 1987-1988 school year, United Township High School held the Extended Campus Health Occupations organization, better known to everyone as the E.C.H.O. program, as part of the area vocational center. The purpose of the E.C.H.O. program was to help students get a head start in choosing their career for the future.

The students spent many hours of on-the-job training at Illini Hospital and at a local nursing home as well as in the classroom in order for them to gain the correct information and skill needed for their chosen career.

The students sponsored many dances and sold a various amount different things in order to raise money. The money raised was then used for an annual convention held in the early Spring. At the convention, each student showed off the skills they acquired throughout the school year.

Towards the end of every year, those students who passed the years E.C.H.O. course, then received their Nursing Aid Certificate enabling them to go on and further their already learned skills for a better job in the future.

The Skyline staff

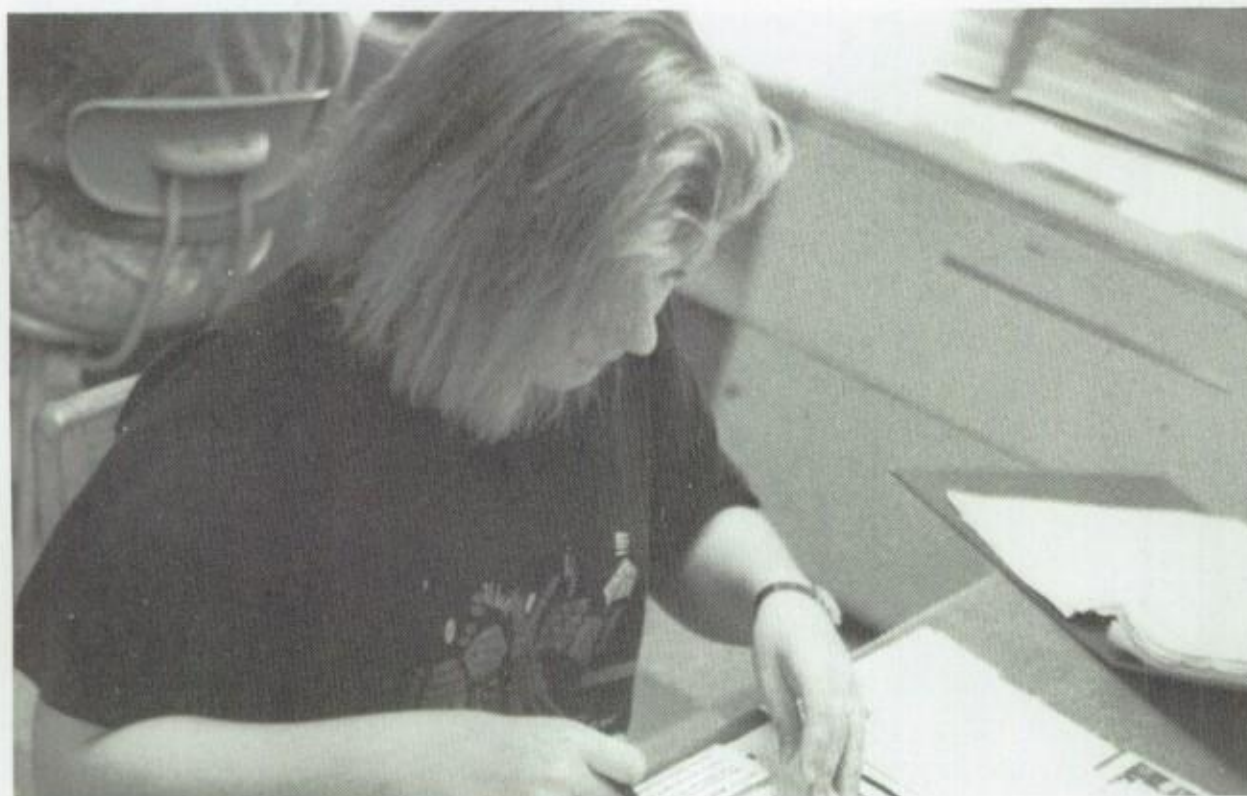

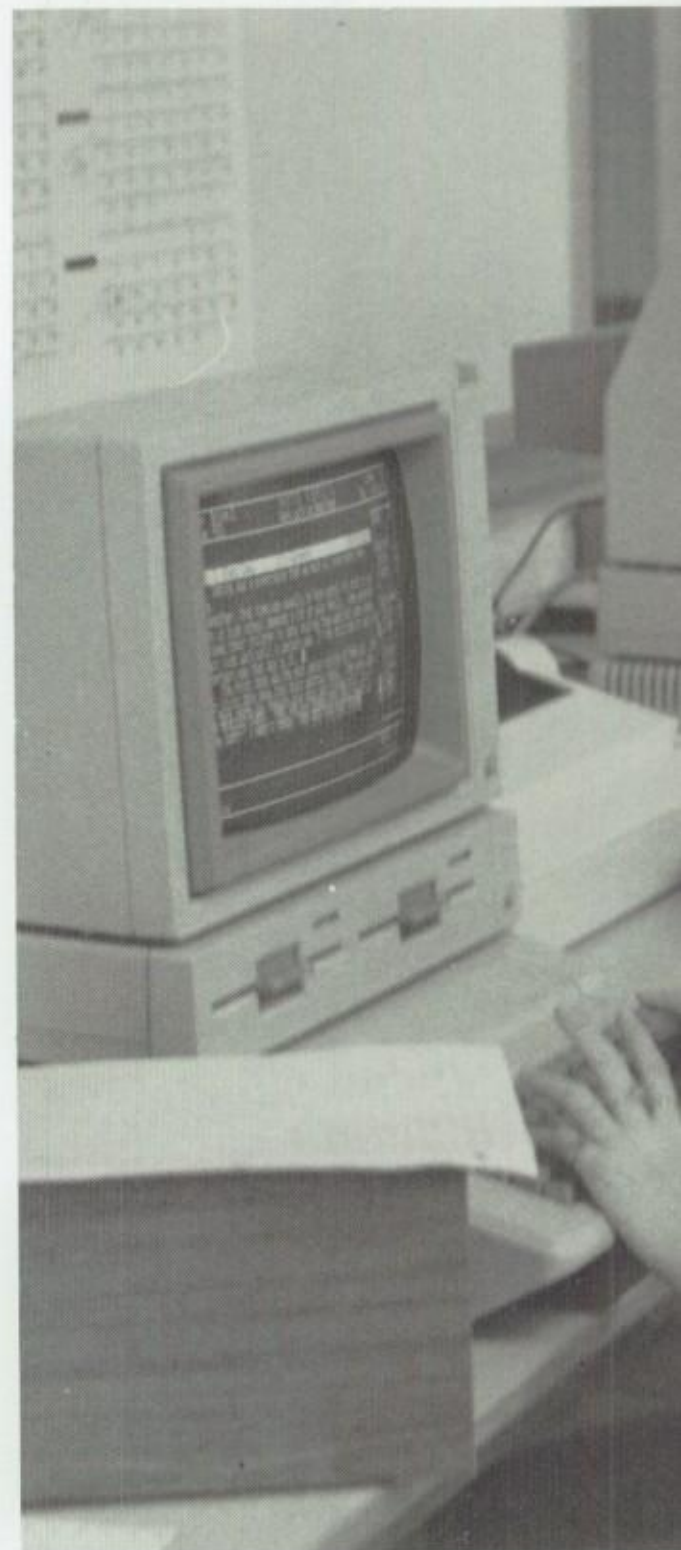

found out that it isn't easy!

When I decided to take the layout for Skyline, I thought, "Hey, this should be easy since I'm on Skyline." Well, that was about two months ago, and I'm sitting here at twelve minutes to eleven writing copy and experiencing the worst thing possible — writer's block.

My first attempt was a testimony to the fact that we did work hard, that Skyline simply wasn't a blow-off course. I wrote about how Dustin and I sacrificed sleep for our first deadline of the year. Trying to get our sections done- Dustin Smith's underclassmen and my fall sports. I wrote about how Jamie Gooch tried to get the staff to sell advertisements. I also told how there were only five returning staff members and the teaching of yearbook concepts and techniques to the new Skyline staff members. I thought my story was great — it told how we slaved to put 256 pages of memories together for the student body. However-it didn't have the pizzazz of what really went on "BEHIND THE SCENES."

So I sat down with my zaniest recollections about what really went on: waiting four days before deadline to finally decide that it's time to get to work, pictures being taken the day of deadline and Tracy Vaughn saying, "I can't draw layouts. I can't see those tiny squares (picas she meant). Jennifer will you draw this for me?!"

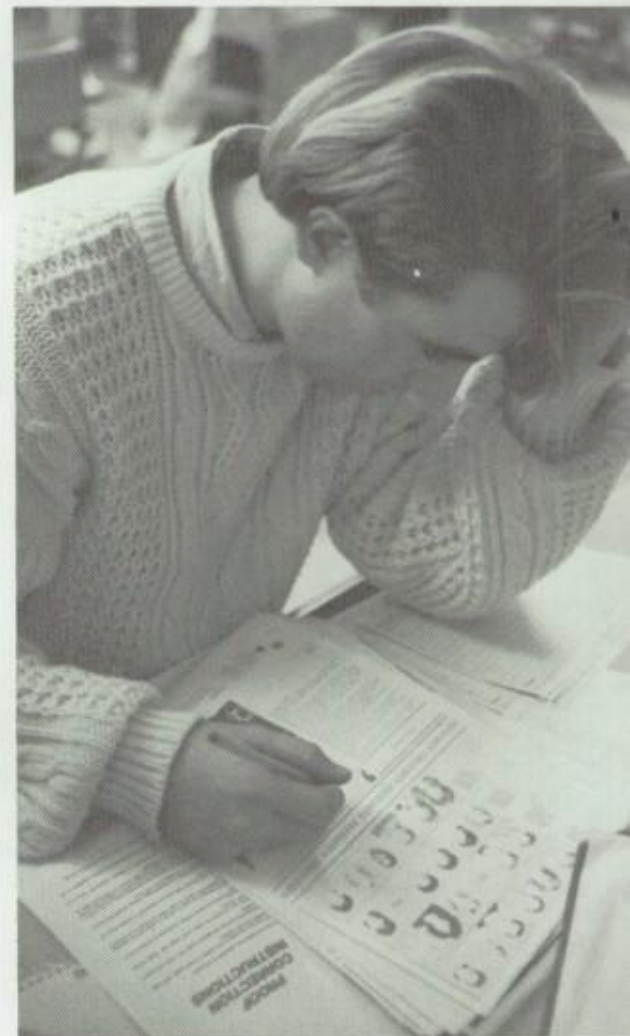

So here I am, two weeks after deadline and the minutes are ticking away. Everyone else seems to be able to complete what was needed. Dustin Smith working on mini mag, Kerrie Lewis getting her organizations together, David Webber working on seniors — but me? I should be working on spring sports. But why me? Why can't I put the words that are filling my head into something half-way readable? I think I'll just rest my brain for awhile and just maybe there will be Skyline copy this year.

Tracy Vaughn concentrates on completing her pages by working on the computers.

Natural Helpers:

A learning experience for members

This year a new program was introduced to United Township High School. The program was put into effect by Mr. Greer, Mr. Watters and Mr. Partridge.

The Natural Helpers program was based upon one simple idea, that idea was that students with problems would naturally seek out other students. Based upon this observation, the faculty members decided to take a cross section of students and adult staff members who were selected in an anonymous school-wide survey. The faculty members invited the students who were randomly selected to participate into the new Natural Helpers program and gave them at least thirty to thirty-five total hours of training in the fields of communication and listening skills. The Natural Helper members worked hard on projects to improve their school, meet with new students from other schools in similar programs, participate on different panels and they made themselves available to their counselors.

The Natural Helpers not only allowed others to benefit from their help but they themselves were benefitted from the program. The members of the Natural Helpers were helped in a way that they received a kind of self-help and a certain growth experience.

Mr. Jerry Greer commented that he "likes the program a lot but the one problem is the limited time factor." Most students had no time to become involved. He felt that "they had accomplished a lot for the Natural Helpers themselves and the next goal was to involve the students more in their helping relationship at school."

Mr. Larry Greer addresses the Natural Helpers as Mr. Rob Watters looks on.

UT Board Seeks Referendum Passage

Several changes occurred at the administrative level this year. One of those changes resulted in the naming of Mr. Gordon Cornelius as principal of both North and South Campuses. Previously, Mr. Cornelius had been principal at South Campus.

Another change occurred with the consolidation of department chairmanships. As a budget-tightening measure, UT's Board of Education decided last spring to name six division chairpersons to replace the previous 12 department chairmen.

United Township also was governed by a board of education which consisted of several new members: Nancy Woodhouse, George Wadsager, and Rod Gunderson. These new members, along with the returning members, Betty Plavak, Carol Miller, Don Sproul, and Diane Hosford, faced the difficult decisions involved in resolving UT's growing economic difficulties. The board and the school saw the defeat of a referendum vote in both the November and the March general elections. The board felt hopeful by the increase in positive votes in March.

UT serves students in variety of ways

The English department faced only a few changes for the school year. This year there were no additions in the staff for the English department. The department lost two teachers this year through lay-offs. These teachers were Mr. Morrissey and Mrs. Maehr.

One course, the radio and t.v. course, was added second semester and no courses were dropped. Mr. Jim Smith stated that the goals of the department were "to take students from where they were to where we need them to be. We want to help them grow as people." The English department offered a variety of courses for students of different abilities from basic to college prep. These courses instructed students from freshmen to their senior year in writing processes and literature.

The differences from last year were that there were fewer teachers and larger classes.

The Guidance Office had many changes for the 1987-88 school year. The counselors spent their days helping a variety of students with their problems. The most common problem was placement of the students by the department heads of each subject. Sometimes, the students were placed in lower classes than needed or in higher classes than they could handle. In solving these problems, the students went to their counselors and tried to get the classes changed.

Due to the financial problems, this year at each campus the counseling staff was reduced by one counselor. This year all of the remaining counselors had to work much harder to advise the counselees about their classes.

The UT library was a place for students to work on papers for school as well as a quiet place to spend time. The North and South Campus libraries together consist of 41,581 hardback books and 3,021 softback books.

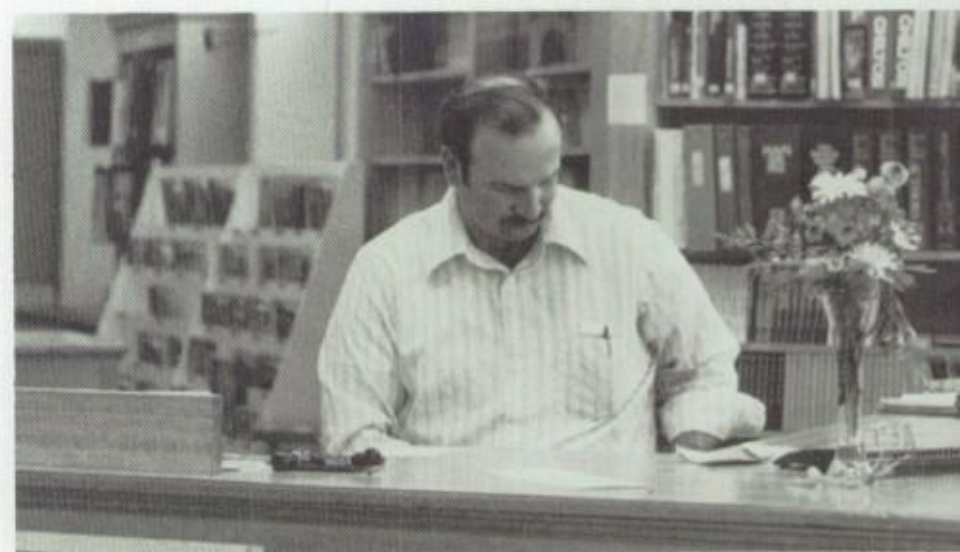

Many changes took place in the library for the school year, according to Mr. Ed Peterhoff, the head of the library. This year there was only one librarian, Mrs. Duffy. She spent half the day at South and the other half at North. "During the time Mrs. Duffy is at the other campus, teachers have been assigned to the library. At the North Campus library, the teachers were Mr. DeGrande, Mr. Dryer, Mr. Feller, Mrs. Newenham, and Mr. Steinmetz. The teachers at the South Campus library were Miss Frane, Mr. Manwaring, Mr. Phillips, Mrs. Truelsen, and Mr. Tyler," stated Mr. Peterhoff.

These students find lounging in the North Campus library relaxing.

Senior Shawn VanHollebeke intensely studies her notes and assignments.

Mr. Knott, a substitute teacher, spends part of the day working in the library.

Senior Jason Krantz relaxes in the North Campus library.

Mrs. VanDewiele shows that hard work and fun and games can be mixed.

Pam Abbitt uses her spare time in English wisely.

Senior Jim Clark visits the North Campus Attendance Office.

977 ENROLL IN SCIENCE CLASSES

The 1987-88 Mathematics Department, chaired by Miss Loriann Eis, served 1538 students during the year.

As department chairperson, Miss Eis taught Accelerated Algebra I, was responsible for the curriculum, the budget, the evaluation of staff, and the placement of students.

There were many changes in the staff this year. Mrs. Bushman, Mrs. Marriott, and Miss Strode were laid off, and Miss Hainstock resigned. Mr. Merlin Nelson and Mr. Steve Pyevich taught math courses.

Besides courses offered in past years, general geometry was added to the curriculum at South Campus.

Miss Eis stated that one of the department's strengths was in its staff. The teachers were highly qualified and dedicated workers. The only real goal for the year was "to have students placed in the correct courses for their ability."

The 1987-88 Social Studies Department underwent many minor changes along with three staff cutbacks during the school year. Mr. Edward Peterhoff, in serving his last year of teaching at United Township High School, was head of the department for the 1987-1988 school year.

All of the sophomore, junior, and senior students were required to take World History, U.S. History and U.S. Government. Placing students in their correct level of study required three things. These three things were: their English grades from years before, their SRA testing scores, and their I.Q. testing scores. Compared to last year there were very few changes during the year concerning the curriculum.

In the future, Mr. Peterhoff stated that he "would like to see a one semester course in the development of geography skills offered to the in-coming freshmen classes."

The 1987-88 Foreign Language Department had a higher enrollment of over 100 more students than the previous year.

This year the courses offered to students were Latin courses, including Latin I and Latin II, taught by Mr. DeGrande, Spanish courses, consisting of a full four years of study for those who really wanted to learn the language, German courses, covering three years, and French courses, covering four full years for the second year in a row.

Over the years of having the Foreign Language Department, the student enrollment has increased. Last year the number increased from 401 students to 672 students, and this year the number went up even more.

Many field trips were taken throughout the year by each of the different language courses. The students went to different places, attending plays given in the language they were studying.

During the 1987-88 school year, 977 students were enrolled in the Science program. The college preparatory chemistry course and advanced placement chemistry course were both cut from last year's schedule to this year because of the required number of twelve students per class was raised to eighteen students per class, and there were not enough students to fill up these more advanced classes.

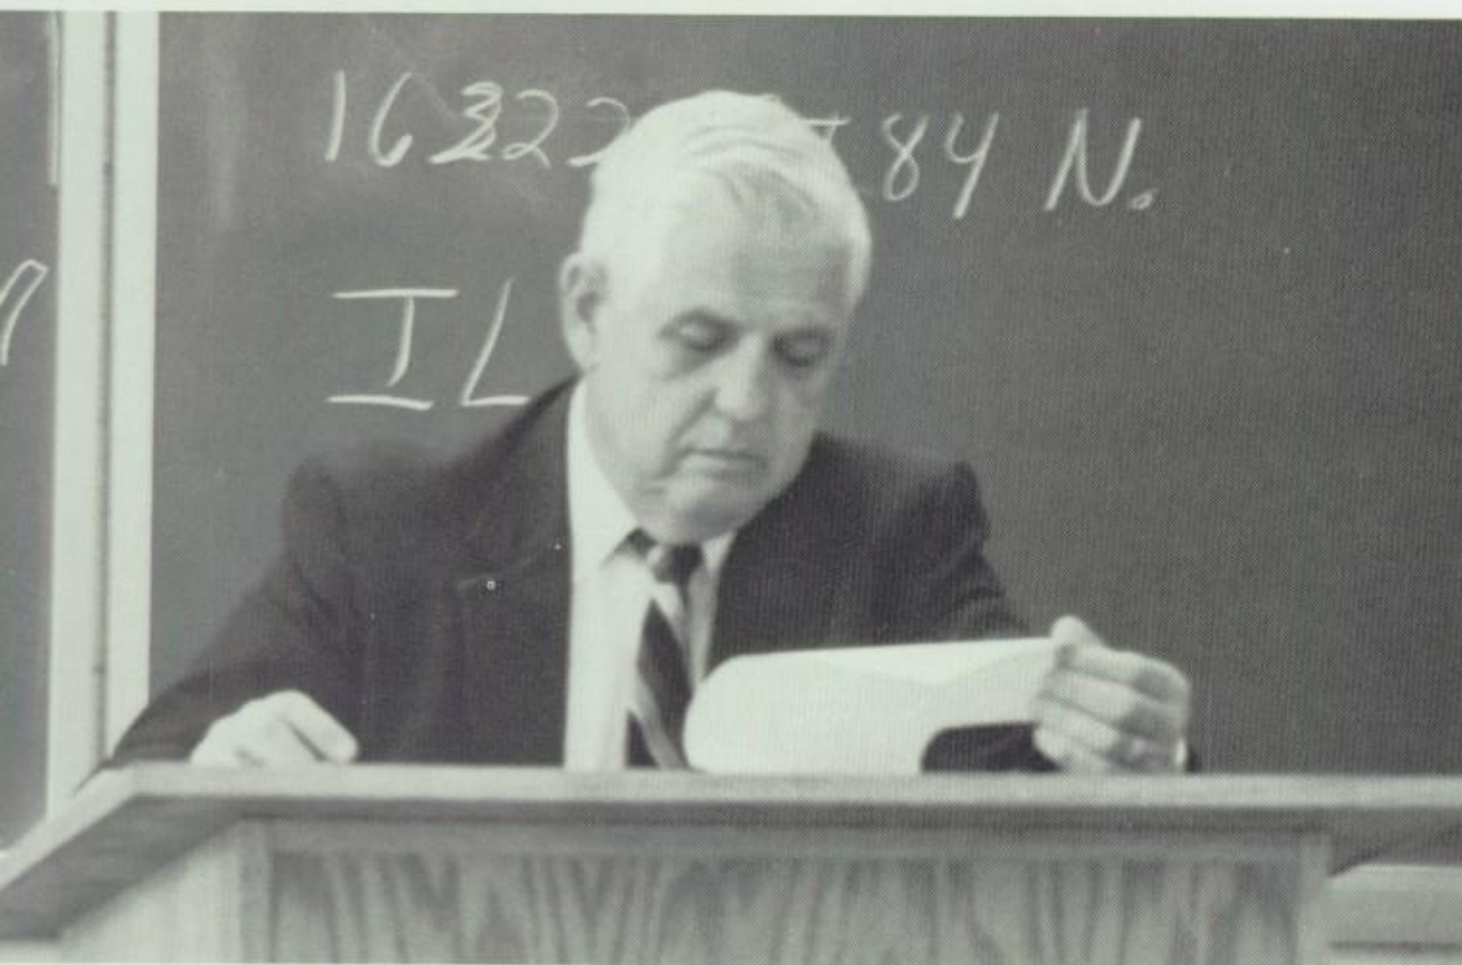

Most of the teachers in the Science Department had a minimum of six one hour classes in their daily schedule which proved to be a very long day.

Classes teach job skills

The biggest change in the 1987-88 Business department was the change of the department head. The new division chairman was Mr. Roger Sturm, head of the industrial arts department and now division chair.

Mr. Sturm was in the process of "quickly learning what's going on in the business department and home economics department." A definite concern for Mr. Sturm was the referendum. The referendum had a major impact on these departments. "I believe very firmly and very deeply that the content of these departments is important to a high school student's development," stated Mr. Sturm. The additions to the department were the computer lab and the changing of the name of the typing class to the new technical term of keyboarding, a change Mr. Sturm refers to as a "modernization of technology."

The business department was a division of the Vocational Career Division.

The Industrial Arts staff was headed by Mr. Roger Sturm serving as the director. Mr. Sturm was in charge of making out and writing up the curriculum guide for the new courses of Production Technology and Communication Technology for the school year. This year was the first for these new classes.

The classes offered during the year were Cabinet Making, Communication Technology, Drafting, Energy Utilization, Foundry, Graphic Arts, Home Maintenance, Metals, Production Technology, W.E.C.E.P., Welding, and Woods.

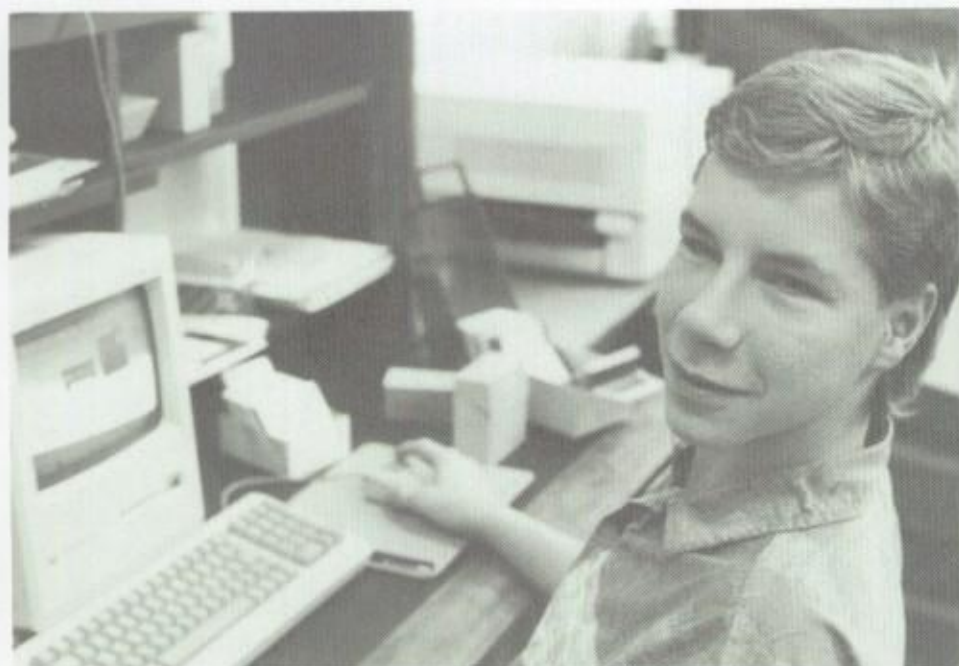

Industrial Arts was a good source for preparing for the job market, and provided excellent hands-on experience, preparing the students for a good job in the real world of employment.

The 1987-88 Area Vocational Center was important to students at U.T. and students from neighboring schools for the AVC program. The AVC gave students the proper training and skills they needed to go into the career they desired.

This year a new class was added to the center Information Processing. U.T. received a grant from the state enabling them to receive computers to use in their classes. All classes from previous years were still offered except Machine Tools.

This year two new teachers were added to the staff. These teachers were Mr. Holmes and Mr. Killam. The AVC staff consisted of 17 staff members and two cosmetology teachers on hand at the beauty schools.

The schools which used UT's AVC center were Rockridge, Rock Island, Cambridge, Orion, and Riverdale.

Classes offer something for all

A new chairman was appointed for the fine arts department this year. Mr. Peterhoff took over the chair to evaluate programs and teachers, approve field trips, and prepare the budget. This year he wished to have freshmen try out for concert/marching band so that they could learn more and be better marchers for future years.

There were several programs in the fine arts department. The first, for instance, was orchesis, a jazz dance class for learning basic and advanced techniques of jazz. Orchesis worked on routines to perform at basketball games and on routines for the spring concerts.

Band is another division of the fine arts department. Last year the band took on a new director, Mr. Maccabee.

The third section was choir, headed by Mr. Donald Dyer. Although not many students performed in choir, those that did enjoyed presenting their concerts.

This year's Home Economics Department offered more than just cooking. There was sewing, family living, child care, foods, and independent living.

No new courses were added this year and none from last year were cut, but budget cuts did affect the home economics staff and one teacher was dropped.

There was a total of three home economics teachers. Each teacher helps to provide a strong background in preparing students for the future.

The courses offered in physical education were basically still the same, but some of last year's teachers were gone and one was added. Joe Dhondt, who taught physical education, retired last year. John Rosenberry and Kathy Tate, who also taught physical education, were pink slipped. Mr. Lemmon returned to the Physical Education Department and taught two freshmen classes and two sophomore classes.

In the drivers education classes more emphasis was put on the seriousness of D.U.I. (driving under the influence) and drug related problems.

Mr. DeTaeve started the year with 100 juniors who needed behind the wheel. Very early in the school year these juniors and many sophomores had been able to complete their drivers education training.

Cafeteria food

United Township's school cafeteria attracts many students as well as discouraging others

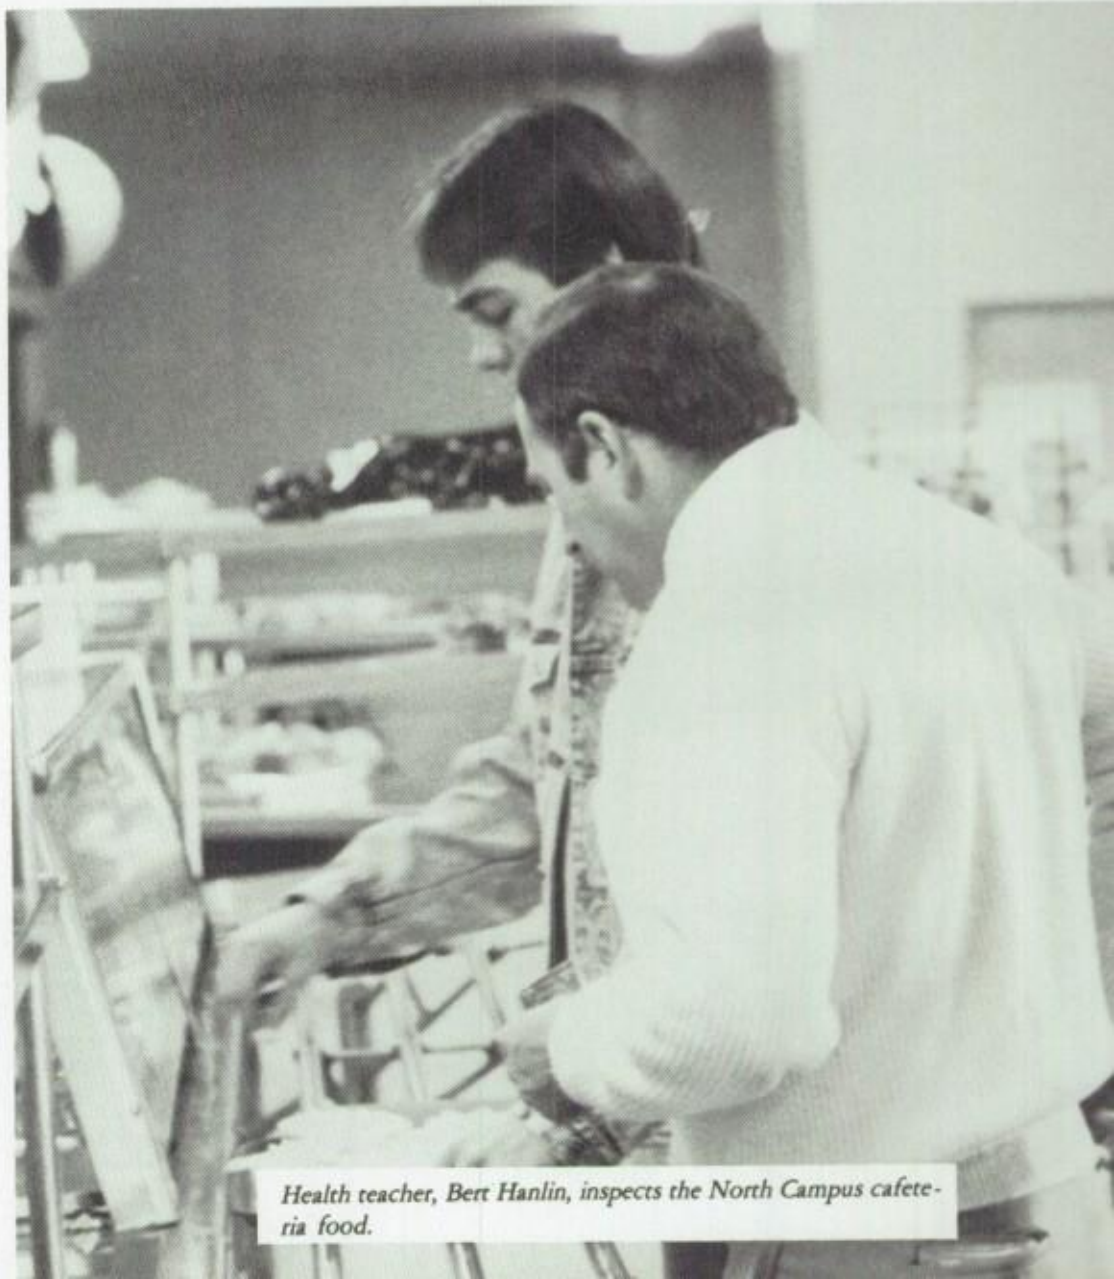

Many students, including sophomore Terry Harmon and senior Steve Webster say, "The thing I like best is the pizza." But when asked what food isn't liked best freshman Brooke Watson said, wrinkling her nose, "Hot dogs! How anyone can eat them is beyond me."

There were many different replies when asked the first thing they think of when they hear "School cafeteria." Sophomore Matt Karstens said, "Food, Food, Food, as well as boring lunch bunch." When asked why that came to mind, he said, "Simple, I'm crazy about food but not about lunch bunch. But somehow, I always seem to get it."

"Their food isn't homemade," was the first thing junior Mike McDanel said when asked what he didn't like about the school cafeteria . . .

The school cafeteria is a place we all know we are welcome to at all times.

Most students go to the cafeteria during cold weather because they want to stay in the warm building. In the rainy weather, they choose to stay in because of being splashed by upperclassmen with cars.

Health teacher, Bert Hanlin, inspects the North Campus cafeteria food.

Teen dating

Whether it is your first time or your one-hundredth time, everything seems to be the same with dating, because it never changes.

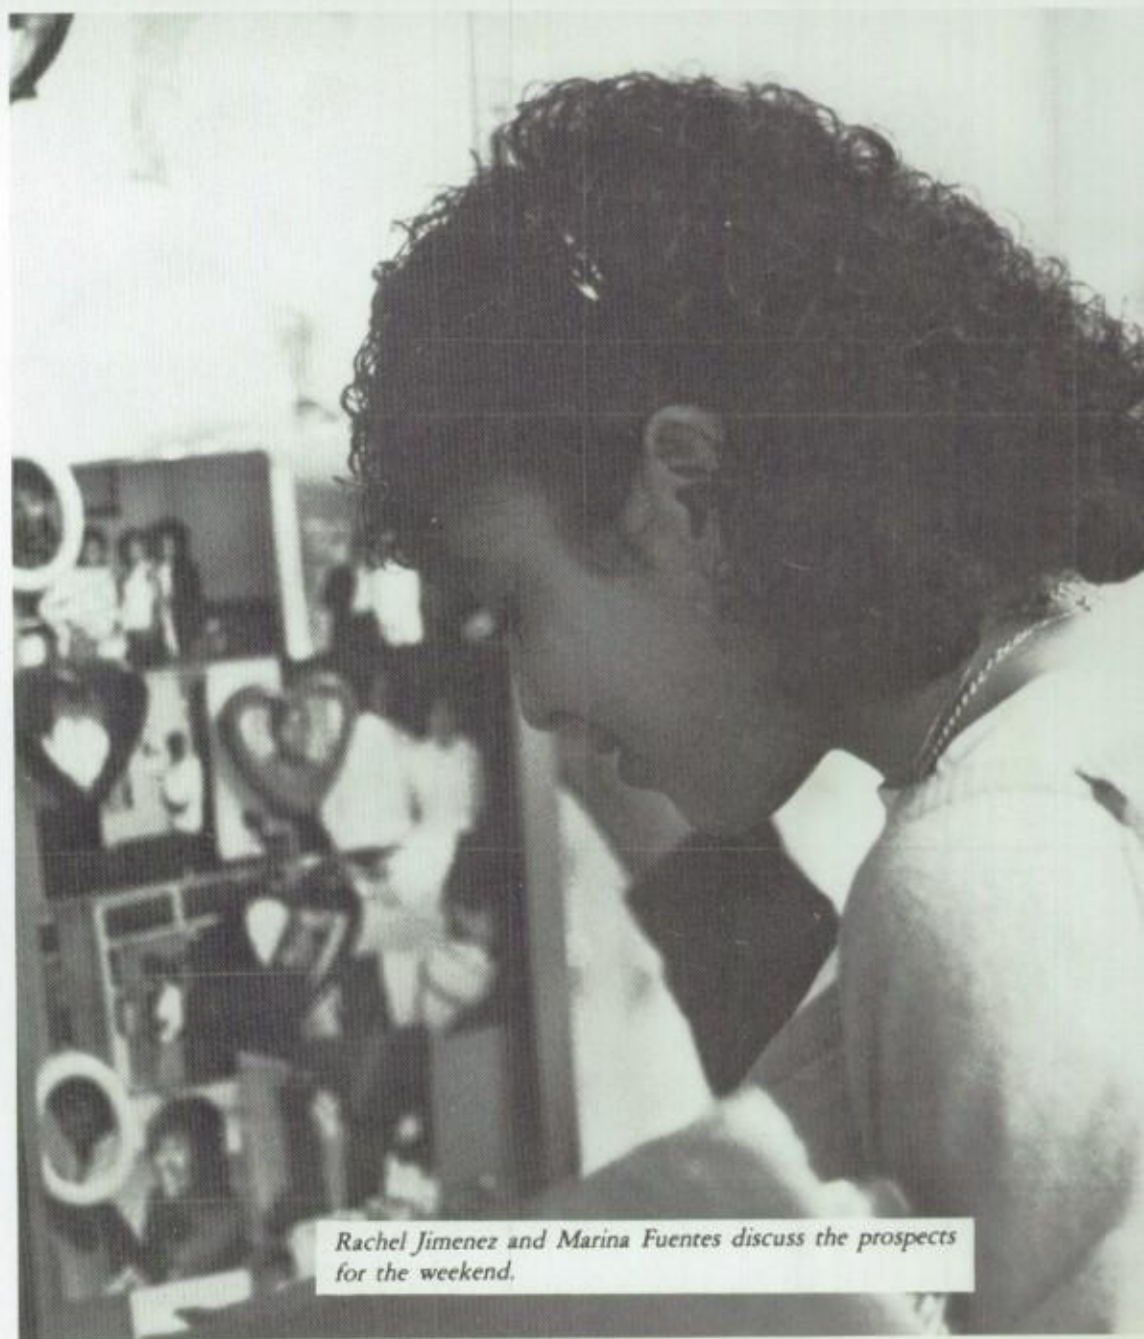

The first date occurs anywhere from the age of fifteen on. A person's first date is usually the most nervous one. Not knowing how to act and not wanting to say the wrong things are two hard factors to overcome.

"I was nervous on my first date because I didn't know what to expect or what to say," stated Lori Blackwood.

Deciding where to go is sometimes easy, but also quite difficult. Popular places to go are the movies, out to eat, parks, or just to one's house. Todd Francois went to a fireworks show on his first date.

Preparing for a date is hard. A guy finds it easier to get ready. A girl needs much more time in order to be just right. They have to shower, which is very easy, but the trouble comes in when deciding what to wear. Sometimes it may take as little as thirty minutes to get ready while other times it may take two hours.

Dating is nerve-racking, but it usually ends up being fun. If you are about to go on your first date or your one-hundredth, relax and have fun.

Hang-outs

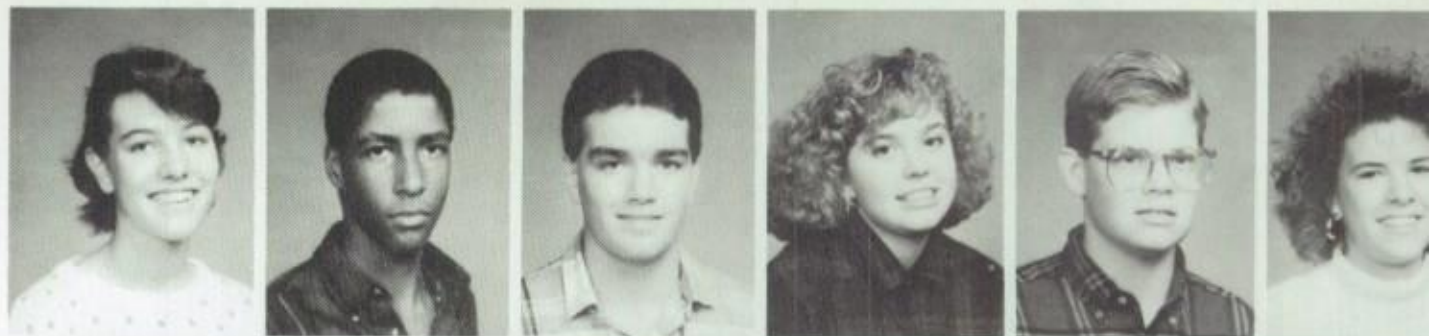

At all schools, students find their own special hang-outs. At North Campus a lot of free time was spent either at the steps leading down to the girls' locker room or near the wall outside. At South Campus there was the parking lot and the area by the doors where the shuttles let off the students.

"I sit and joke around with my friends," was the response of Shelly Green, Becky Sheldon, and Tina Baugher when asked what special things their hang-outs meant to them.

Hang-outs were great for getting together with friends and for telling jokes or stories, for having serious talks, and for couples to be together. It was also a time to have a little fun. Mostly, though, they added interest to the day and allowed the students to concentrate on school while there. Lunchtime was a favorite time away. In fact, when asked how they would react to having a closed lunch at school, Mike True and Brian Schneider said, "We would rebel!" They indicated that the reasons they went to Hardee's for lunch were to talk and "meet some good looking girls!"

So for many people, school hang-outs were the highlight of the day and without it, students would be too tense to concentrate on school.

Junk food

As he sits with the smell overwhelming him, the taste he's been craving all afternoon, his breath gets heavy, his taste buds are on fire, he absolutely can't stand it any longer, he has to have it! Finally, he takes a big scrumptious bite of his big whopper, throws in a fry, and washes it down with a Coke.

Is this what you go through when you get hungry? Well, you're not alone!

For teenagers, pizza, chips, hamburgers, candybars, tacos, ice cream, chocolate shakes - those are among the most popular foods for lunch.

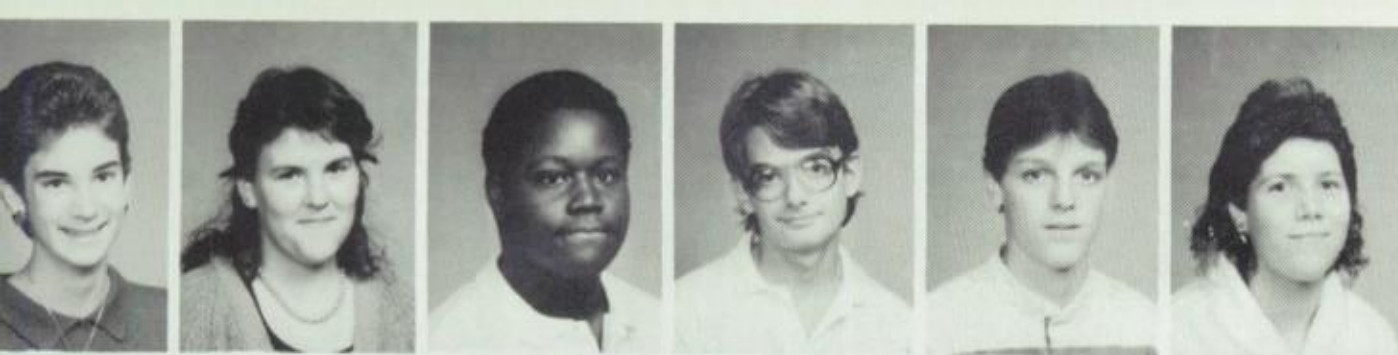

When asked what she liked to do for lunch, Alice Pena remarked that "I really like Choco-blisses because they are full of chocolate."

Cost is an important factor when buying junk food. A can of pop, bag of chips, and a candy bar to go wouldn't add up to more than two dollars and it would probably fill you up until dinner.

Fast food restaurants such as Hardee's, Mc Donald's, or Burger King, any of them are very important in the busy life of a student, especially one on the run!

These are a few examples of teen junk food.

Jason Braddy was embarrassed when he used the girl's restroom.

Caught in the act

People get embarrassed about many different things. When asked, "What were some of your embarrassing moments," students gave various replies. For instance, Lisa Hagerbaumer laughed and answered, "I was embarrassed when I fell up the stairs on the first day of school at North Campus. I'm a sophomore, so you would think I would how to walk up all the stairs."

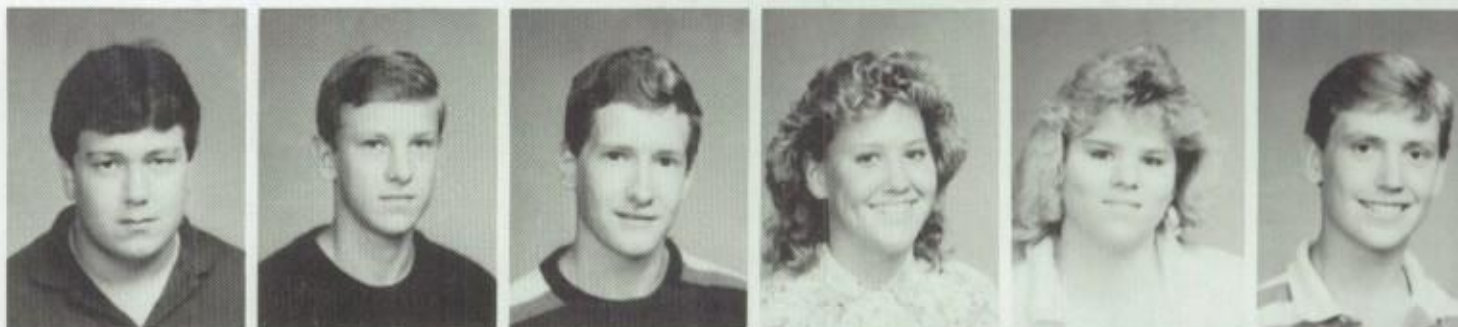

Another answer came from Diana Contreras, who said, "I slipped and fell at the bottom of the stairs at lunch. Everyone was behind me. I was so embarrassed." Some people get embarrassed about some very odd things. Other people get embarrassed when they are around a large number of people. United Township student Tasia Segura stated, "I was embarrassed when I was in Spanish and the room was quiet when my book fell off of my desk. Everyone looked at me!" Other students would not think that incident was too embarrassing, but many people do get embarrassed about very strange things. Some people get embarrassed about something that another student would not get embarrassed about at all.

Each student at United Township has a memorable moment that he or she can remember that was very embarrassing. Their embarrassing moment could be tripping up the crowded stairs, falling down the North Campus hill, or being splashed at lunch, but will be always remembered as a part of high school.

Mrs. VanDewiele keeps track of tardy and truant students.

Excuses, Excuses

Over the years, students have developed many different excuses for being late to class. These are some of the more often used excuses by students:

My locker got jammed, again.

I had to report to the office and they wouldn't give me a pass.

My English teacher just wouldn't stop lecturing.

I'm a Freshman and I couldn't find the class.

I had to walk my girlfriend to class.

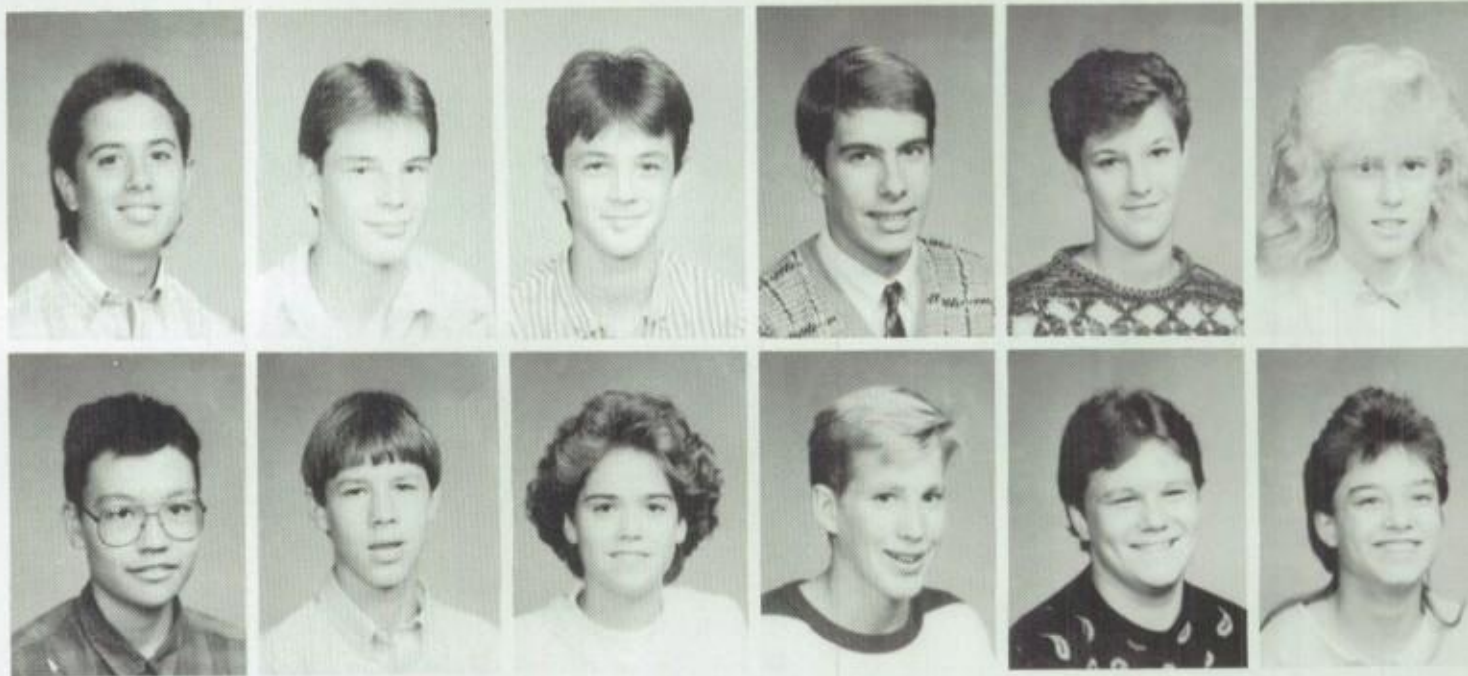

My last class is at one end of the building and my locker is at the other.

My car broke down on the way to school.

I couldn't make it back up the North Campus stairs after lunch.

Sometime in your high school career you may choose to use one of the excuses listed here. But always remember, most teachers won't change their minds for any excuse.

A Day In The Life of . . .

The alarm rings at five a.m. Shannon Heimburger, a sophomore, gets up and stumbles to the shower. Twenty minutes later she is out of the shower.

While grabbing something to eat Shannon turns on the television.

Around 5:30 she goes into the bathroom turns her curling iron on and starts to blow dry her hair. Later after drying her hair, she goes back to do her room and she finds something to wear.

Then Shannon goes back into the bathroom and puts her contacts in and her make-up on. By then her curling iron is hot and she does her hair.

Shannon does the good deed for the day by making coffee for her father while watching television.

She catches the bus at 6:25 a.m. and usually arrives at North Campus at 6:45. She goes to her locker and gathers her books for her first hour. Then she slowly walks to her class, stopping to talk to her friends. Considering it isn't 7 a.m. yet, she is as sociable as she can be.

After school, Shannon always finds time to watch T.V., after she does her homework.

Shannon Heimburger puts on her make-up to get ready for school.

Under Pressure

When you think of teen pressures, drugs, pregnancy, and alcohol usually come to mind. But there are other problems that trouble students at U.T.

For instance; homework is a major problem for most studnets. Why is it a problem for students to finish homework on time? Some students have jobs, sports, or other activities which take up homework time.

Students also have the problem of money. Students find maany different ways of earning money such as a job. Chris Nordholm likes to babysit for her money. Some students don't even work at all like Brooke Watson and Darran Standard, they get money from their parents. Money can be a big problem for students because it costs a large amount of money for dating, eating, car insurance, automobile payments, shopping, clothes, records, and that special something you see in the store window at the mall.

Parent/teen communication is another problem for students to face. Why don't most parents and teens get along? Jaci Oliver says, "Because we don't agree on anything."

These are just a few of the pressures on a students mind. But when you think about, there are a lot more pressures on a teen than you may think.

The SADD group is a way for students to keep out of trouble.

The Q-C Thunder received much credit from an appreciative Quad City crowd as the year progressed.

Thunder Strikes In QC

The newest basketball team formed in the Quad-Cities is the Quad-City Thunder. The head coach of the Thunder is Mauro Panaggio. The Quad-City Thunder is a member of the CBA (Central Basketball Association).

When the idea of a new CBA basketball team hit the Quad Cities the expectations of the team's success soared. The team was expected to do extremely well. Unfortunately, the team did not live up to the very high standards and expectations of all the Quad City fans when the season first started.

Through the season, though, the team made trades for other players which contributed to the improved performance of the team. The team started the season out slowly and therefore disappointed some Thunder fans who expected a more spectacular team.

Miss Frane shows that students can learn in school and have fun at the same time.

Jennifer Slutts and Shawn Van Hollebeke joke around on the South Campus steps as they wait for the shuttle busses.

A Word On Seniors

Well, the year has finally drawn to an end and shortly the unsuspecting world will have to endure the 1988 graduating Senior class.

Senior year begins at a snails pace with just a touch of excitement at finally achieving the coveted position of Senior class member. But soon the excitement ends and the thrill of being a Senior is gone until graduation.

Being a member of the Senior class has its advantages. The underclassmen tend to be in awe of Seniors and teachers tend to be a bit more lenient when Seniors become restless. This is better known as Senioritis, and it usually sets in about the beginning of second semester.

Senior year is a time of new beginnings and a time of endings. As a Senior, the student begins to appreciate what one has learned in their four years of high school. In addition, one begins to realize the friendships which have been made and the friendships which may have to be left behind.

Aaron Jahn may be remembered in many ways, such as for his participation in the high school plays.

Accident Touches UT

For the second year in a row, United Township felt the loss of some of their students. Aaron Jahn of Hampton and William Stotts of East Moline, both Juniors, were fatally injured on January 28, 1988, when the car driven by Aaron Jahn went out of control and struck a tree on 41st street in Moline.

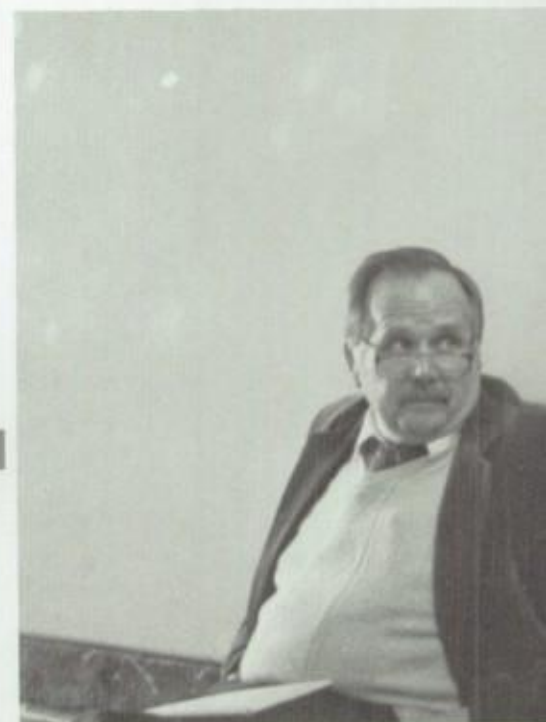

Curt Keplinger, also a Junior, was also involved in the accident, but fortunately sustained only minor injuries.

Aaron was a member of the United Township yearbook staff and also participated in the high school plays.

Aaron worked as one of the Skyline staff's four photographers. In addition, Aaron served as a member of the lighting crew for Panther Players.

Accident Touches UT

Also fatally injured in the accident of January 28, 1988, was William Stotts of East Moline. William Stotts passed away at 5:00 am on January 29, 1988, as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident on 41st street in Moline.

William Stotts was born on February 2, 1971, of parents William D. and Patricia Stotts.

He was active in the school Soccer team both his freshman and sophomore years, as well as involved in the school's Critical Thinking program. Out of school, William Stotts was employed at the Jewel grocery store in East Moline.

North Craze Sweeps US

In mid July on 1987, a trial was held for Lt. Col. Oliver North. The trial, held on national television on several channels, was accusing North of selling weapons to an Iranian political group. The scandal came to be known as the Iran-Contra affair.

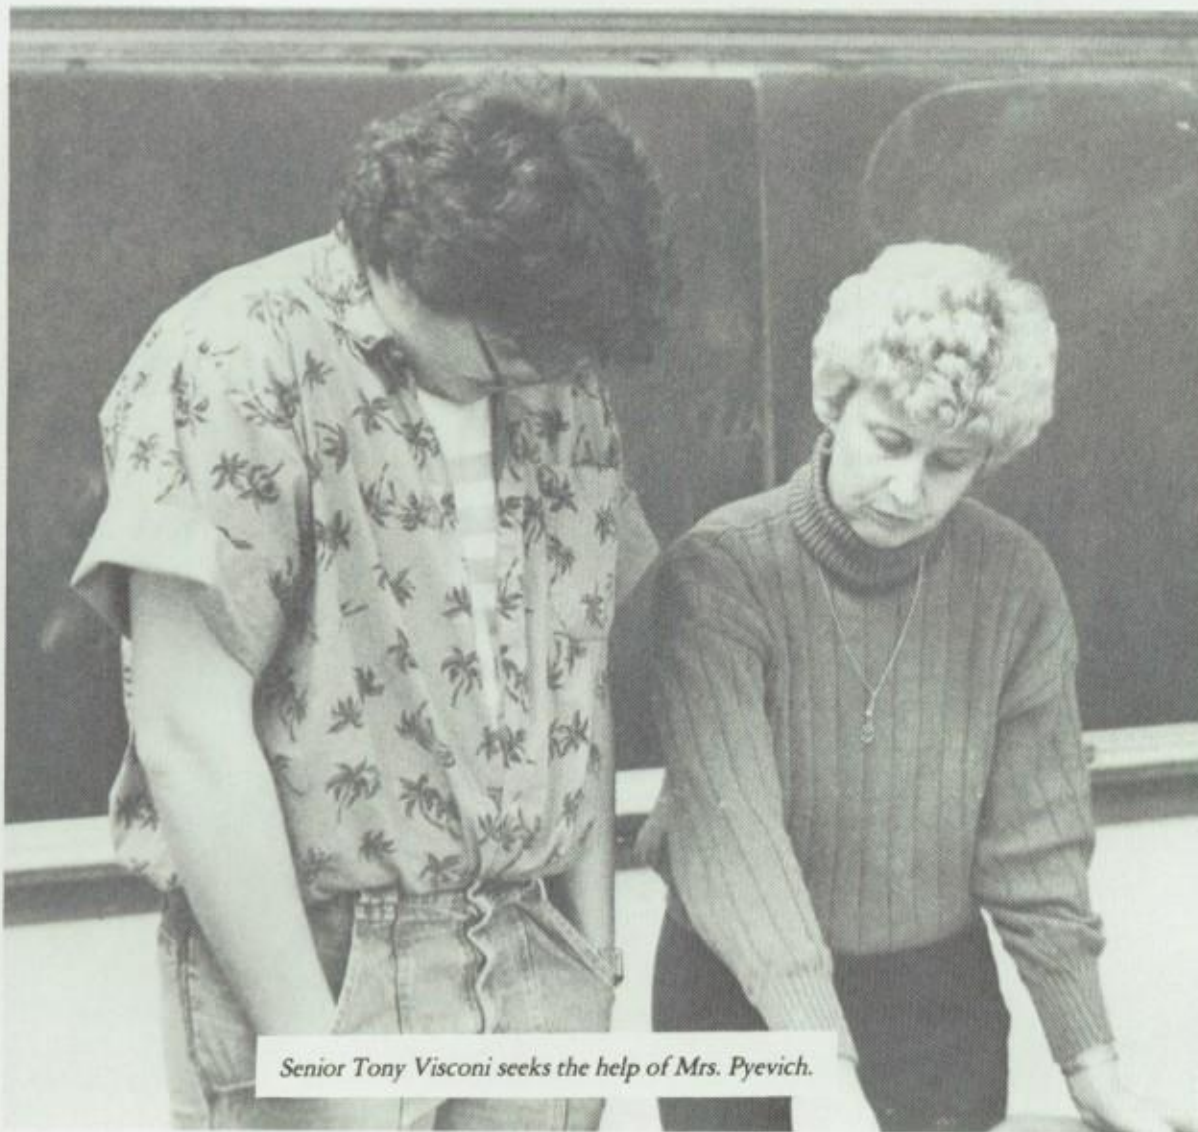

All across the United States, people looked on to see the outcome of the trial. After five days of testimony before the special Iran-Contra congressional committee, Oliver North left the courtroom a hero in the eyes of many Americans.

Bumper stickers, T-shirts, and buttons were mass produced saying "God bless America and Oliver North." Ninety-six percent of the 5,000 phone calls to the White House in regard to the Iran-Contra affair were in favor of Oliver North.

Military Careers For Students

Senior year can get pretty hectic as well as exciting. Along with the excitement of completing school and escaping the clutches of parents comes the responsibility of becoming an adult. An adult has to make logical decisions, be independent, and decide upon a career.

With the right type and amount of education any career is obtainable. Many Seniors opt for a more challenging future. They choose a career in one of the branches of the military.

Senior David Webber chose the Army because he felt, "They offered more money for college than other branches." Deb Rickey felt that the Air Force is "the best service to get an education in."

Senior year can be exciting, and there is the prospect of a promising military career and discovering hidden potentials. Anyone who has taken up the challenge knows it to be true.

Future Plans

What will it be like for many students at their ten year high school reunion? The future astronauts, teachers, lawyers, doctors, and engineers may often wonder about this question. Future plans are something that most students do not seriously think about until their Senior year. These students planned on going to college, enlisting in the military, getting married, or joining the full-time work force.

Students who planned on going to college usually started applying for college in their Senior year. There were many different types of schooling available. Universities, state, private, and technical, were among the options for prospective college students.

Whatever the future plans were for many students, they all hoped to achieve their own goals, aspirations, and dreams.

Referendum Issue Hits UT

The failure of a tax increase referendum in November of 1987 caused some students to fear for their educational opportunities at United Township and others to rejoice that the school day might be abbreviated.

According to the results of an informal survey, Freshman and Sophomore students were most concerned that the district's continuing financial situation will seriously affect their academic life.

Also expressing concern were students who participate in sports, an area already hit hard and facing more cutbacks. Athletes are troubled by continuing increases in participation fees and the possibility that some sports may be cut and that others may lose coaches.

The school also proposed going to a split-shift schedule. The split-shift would involve some students attending school from 7:00 a.m. to noon, and a second shift attending school from noon to 5:00 p.m. The school utilized the schedule several years ago to save money. Several faculty members said the split-shift schedule was most devastating to the school's extra-curricular activities.

D.J.'S • RADIO AND MANY OTHERS

YOU request the DJ of your choice!

DJ's of all types, lighting, fog, entertainment for all ages is what we at MUSIC UNLIMITED do best. We pride ourselves on taking REQUESTS, making your party, reception, or class reunion complete, utilizing pro-line equipment for example: TECHNICS MACH II turntables, amps, EV speakers, NUMARK mixers, the highest QUALITY STEREO that can be achieved. Our latest addition, the RADIO PERSONALITY from the Q.C.'s favorite new station; ERICK "WOLF" will wind up and keep your party "Howling" for more! What station? Give us a call! • MIKE H. is hot! Graduated from Dav. West H.S., he's worked at Balboa's and heated things up at Velle's Back Door, and now you can have him in action at your event. What a crazy guy is this Mike! • Oldies, yes, PAT went from Dance America to Fenders and now this "Wild Man" will keep any "King Tut" doing the "Egyptian" right into that "Old Time Rock & Roll". • When RICK and KY team up, watch out! These young rascals can get you rockin' with your favorite pop and give you your "Mony Mony's" worth! Dare them to play anything. • Spanish & Puerto Rican music is all ARMANDO GONZALEZ prefers. As a Q.C. Hispanic resident, he's presently a D.J. at St. Ambrose's station KALA. Careful, he'll keep you on your toes. • As another graduate of broadcasting, MIKE B. went from HAMILTON TECH to various clubs, Ludwigs, Castle Grove and stations WZZC, KALA, KT-16; he's been there! He does like blues, jazz, some soul and of course rock & roll! • 10-20 CLASS REUNIONS. Look here, GEORGE tells us, "Now that's music!" From the Davenport area, he's played at Balboa's and Sebastians, and is now playing for live parties. • COUNTRY is what RAY V. prefers. The more the better. Let Ray V. turn your dance into a foot stomping hoedown. • RANDY walks quietly but carries alot of popular and college music. He won't talk your ear off, just dance your legs off at those proms! • If anyone can, CRAIG can! This likable guy with that special touch. He has an ear for music and does get into it from start to finish! • LORENZO leans toward that younger crowd, but stays flexible, whatever the occasion. • T.V. is where JACK works, but tunes is where he plays. From channel 24 WQPT-TV, Jack uses his background in broadcasting from AIG to keep him on the right track with what you want to hear. • RAY T. prefers radio favorites and rock & roll. • Last but definately not least, JOHN is there to cover questions, party arrangements, consultations, and of course, he can "spin" up a storm if you're not sure what you want to do! A former D.J. from Sebastians, you know music is his profession. We do accept VISA & MASTERCARD. Feel free to call for your sample computer list and information packet. Price lists also available. Make reservations in advance. D.J. equipment available for sale or rental. Looking for D.J.'s, please call.
